This has been a perverse season in vegetables and fruit, but the just average of prices can not be ascertained from a few exceptional articles. Improved Working Conditions.

"One far reaching result for good," writes Anna Steese Richardson in the October Woman's Home Companion, education, refluement and strong moral character is the betterment of the physical conditions under which their less fortunate sisters once worked.

"In hundreds of stores, factories and office buildings girls to-day are reaping the harvest sown five or ten years ago by intelligent woman.

ings then considered quite good enough for any woman who had to work for her living. These women have de-manded and secured for the new gene ration of business girls sanitary toilet rooms, clean, properly ventilated rest and lunch rooms, sick rooms, trained nurses and matrons in department stores. These women, as inspectors of factories, have fought for and secured proper lighting of halls and stairways leading to the recent primaries. "And almost invariably the women, either as factory inspector or heads of soci-ties whose object it is to relieve and improve the condition of wage earning women, started as wage earners with but one object—making money. They were literally driven into the broader sociological field by the sad realization of the degrading conditions under which their less fortunate sisters worked. Their work has been far-reaching and beneficial in many cases. And almost invariably the women,

Raising Fruit by Electricity.

A series of important experiments destined to revolutionize the production of crops of fruit and flowers under glass, and to enable the gardener to obtain both in a much shorter period of time, as well as at a considerably less cost than heretofore, has just been begun in the Royal Botanic Gardens, Regent's Park, London, says the New York Times.

More that 21,000,000 cows are milked in the United States every day. That means much work for many men, many women and many children
It also means hundreds of millions of dollars of capital invested, many millions in profits to the dairymen and oceans of expense to the consumer. But we must have milk and butter or life would not be worth the living, and we can not have these without the cow. The statisticians at Washington furnish us some startling figures on the subject. The annual output of the country is 70,000,000,000 pounds, allowing an average of 3,560 pounds of milk to each cow. Over half of this product is required in making butter, a billion pounds goes into condensed milk, three billion into cheese, while the rest goes to the calves, is sold as cream or drank by the people. There is enough to give each person nearly a pound, or a good-sized tumbler full, though many of course get much more than their share. In addition to his milk, each individual According to a report just issued by the United States Department of Labor it is shown that while the cost of many items of living has increased, wages have advanced at a greater ratio, while hours of labor have been reduced. A great mass of facts and wages have advanced at a greater ratio, while hours of labor have been reduced. A great mass of facts and figures accompany the report and the deductions can be tested by any who may be skeptical. On the average labor, for fewer hours, is earning more, with a larger margin of wages over the advanced cost of living. Employment was never more abundant and idlers are few. The comparison is for the year 1906 with the average of the ten years covered by the last census. An advance in wages is shown State this year.

Mr. Carnegie and other rich men number of employes of 449 per cent, with a reduction in hours of labor of 4.6 per cent. By the same comparison the retail price of the chief articles of food have advanced 15.7 per cent. For an hour's labor a workingman gets 7.3 per cent more food supplies than in the previous decade.

Practical analysis like this disposer of the assertion frequently heard that for the masses the cost of living has outstripped income. Often the many articles that cost either the same or food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as lood or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, troadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies in under said. This he feels he can will afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, ofttimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which 'Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V.
