

Editorial Snap Shots.

Of course, ladies forming the Shakespear Club will want to know what Prof. Mulkey has to say about Hamlet.

We begin to feel that we are somewhat of a veteran editor by the way our brothers have got cold feet and left us one after another. Staying qualities of the bull dog type isn't a bad thing after all.

We do not know, but it seems to us that the doctor's wife must have been a good looking fascinating wench to have procured so much credit at most of the stores. Boys, she must have thought you were easy.

We have heard Rollie's last wail, who is driving hard, until his friends (?) get through with him, when there will be a wail from him big enough to wake the dead. We think we are far sighted enough to see what is going to happen.

Exit Rollie W. Watson, the saloon advocate! But how will our long and respected brother manage to live without a newspaper to tout his own horn? We wonder who will be the next editor to bit off too much and fall by the wayside?

We didn't know that the fishermen on Tillamook Bay were such a good looking lot of fellows until we saw them strung out before the justice of the peace, all caught in the deputy fish warden's drag net. But there wasn't a "sucker" in the whole string of fish.

The "new doctor" was simply another "outside attraction." Well, he's gone. It is a queer thing, though, in most of the Tillamookers, they take up with the trade with strangers whom they know nothing about too soon for their own good. There's no josh about this either.

No wonder that country editors do not get very wealthy. Lord & Thomas sends us an advt. to publish for 13 weeks. It is a one inch double column, to be placed at top of column next to reading matter, and a paper to be sent for $1.55 gross, less 25 per cent commission. Wonder what they take editors for, anyway, for it is honestly worth $6.50. But some cheap guys of newspaper men will be hard up and fools enough to run the advt. at the price offered.

The democratic tail to Rollie's kite is evidently greatly disturbed because the snap shot man has shown the difference in the price of butter fat under the democratic and republican administrations. But a personal attack on the snap shot man won't alter the price, no matter how much the democratic wire pullers foam and rail and dialize to see the dairy men get 37 1/2 cents per pound for their butter fat. We do like to hear the democrats beef, but they have a queer way of beefing while hiding behind a personal attack on somebody.

Whatever the fair committee may be short we think it would be a good plan for everybody to put their shoulders to the wheel and help straighten it out, forgive and forget what mistakes were made, and all pull together for a genuine county fair another year and for the improvement and development of the city and county. So quit chewing the rag and get busy instead, for probably most of all of us made some mistakes. Why even some of the young saintly printers made mistakes by undoing to pack more of the "outside attraction" than they could carry, and wabbling under the load, had to take one step forward, one and a half steps backward, two steps in a diagonal direction to the left, and three steps in a diagonal direction to the right, and repeating this movement several times, they added to it with a par with the other "outside attractions." But let it all pass.

It looks to us that the prosecution of the fishermen who fish in Tillamook Bay for fishing without a license was uncalculated and altogether out of place, putting men to unnecessary inconvenience and the county to some little expense, not without adding the fact that we believe all the fishermen were technically guilty as charged and should have taken out licenses before they commenced fishing. Although the law is plain on this point and they should have complied with it, there was not the least disposition on their part to avoid paying their license. The whole trouble lies here. For a number of years, deputy fish wardens have come in and collected the license or a list has been made up at the cannery. It is only natural to suppose that the fishermen would expect the same procedure to be followed this year, not dreaming that they would be pounced down upon and brought into court. With that condition of affairs and a precedent set by the Master Fish Warden's office, it looks to us that Mr. Van Dusen's office was poor discretion in sending a deputy over here and having the men arrested, when all that was necessary was to have told the fishermen that their license money should be paid immediately. Now that the Master Fish Warden's office is going to comply with the strict letter of the law against the poor fishermen, we would like to know what right Mr. Van Dusen had to allow the rich cannery men on the Columbia river to can fish for ten days after the closed season? Some of the deputy fish wardens would have been doing the proper thing had they gone and sworn out a complaint against the master fish warden for drawing his pay and not doing his duty. There appears to be an impression amongst the fishermen that Mr. Van Dusen is after the scalps of the fishermen who petitioned Governor Chamberlain to appoint Mr. Webster master fish warden, and there is good ground for their believing that way, for none of the fishermen who were friendly to Mr. Van Dusen, and who are equally as guilty as the other fishermen, were not caught in the net and dragged into court. As we said at the beginning, the prosecution was uncalculated for and unnecessary, and it is to be hoped that the master fish warden's office will use a little more brains, justice and discretion in the future, for the Tillamook fishermen had no desire what ever of getting out of paying their license money, and Mr. Van Dusen ought to have known this. We have always strongly advocated the enforcement of the law, and had Mr. Van Dusen done his duty in previous years and insisted upon fishermen taking out licenses before they commenced fishing, it would have saved all this useless persecution. Anyway, the law ought to be amended so that fishermen can pay their license to the county clerk in the county in which they fish.

GROOM IS 73, BRIDE IS 72.

L. M. Gosney and Mrs. Gibson Get Married. Because he couldn't cook for himself any longer, and need some one to make his bed, F. M. Gosney this afternoon secured a marriage license and will marry Mrs. Katherine Gibson, aged 72. Mr. Gosney is an Oregon pioneer himself, and numbers three years more than three score and ten.

After securing his marriage license from Clerk Combs, Mr. Gosney proceeded to properly launch his bark on the matrimonial sea.

"I just couldn't cook for myself any longer," declared the old gentleman in announcing his impending bliss. "I work all day in the fields, and then have to get my own meals. I didn't have time to make my bed. So I decided to marry."

Mrs. Gibson is a fine woman. She is strong and can do housework. I am going to give her a home and she will cook me warm meals. That will be her part, and I will furnish the living.

"I have a forty acre ranch out on the Baisley Elkhorn road. You wouldn't know the place now if you had seen it when I went there last year. I have two acres of potatoes, and lots of strawberries. That ought to keep us both."

"I am going in for fruit and chickens. We can make a good living off that for the rest of our lives."

Mr. Gosney came to Oregon across the plains in 1853. He settled at Portland, and afterwards lived in Tillamook county. For six years he has lived in Baker. He has been a widower for three years and just couldn't stand it longer.

Baker City Ex. Mrs. Gibson was once a resident of Tillamook County and lived here for 21 years, leaving for Baker City in the fall of 1902.

BOMB EXPLODED UNDER HIS GATE.

Baker City ex-Sheriff Blown to Pieces.

BAKER CITY, Or., Sept. 30.—At 10.45 to night ex-Sheriff Harvey K. Brown was blown almost to pieces by a heavy charge of dynamite as he entered the gate to his home in this city. His left leg was blown off close to his body and his left arm mangled. At this hour it is impossible to tell the extent of his injuries. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where his wounds were dressed and everything done to relieve his suffering.

Brown had just returned this afternoon from Sticks Gulch, where he has mining property, and was returning home from downtown when the explosion occurred. As he entered the gate there was a loud report, and when he arrived he was found lying on the sidewalk in a mangled condition.

Explos on Shatters Windows. The gate, the large gate posts and part of the fence were blown into splinters by the heavy discharge of dynamite. Every window in his home was broken and some windows across the street. The report was heard all over town and attracted a large crowd to the scene of the tragedy.

The perpetrators of the dastardly deed are not known and have left no trace except a wire which extended from the gate about 25 feet north along the fence and then west about 30 feet in the middle of the road. It is supposed that the men at the end of the wire watched for Brown and as he entered the gate set off the dynamite; immediately after the explosion a neighbor heard some men running north from Brown's house. A porch light was burning at his home, but the street to the north was pitch dark.

"They Got Me," He Mutters. It is thought that Brown has some idea of the identity of the men who exploded the bomb, for he was heard to say before he relapsed into unconsciousness: "They have laid for me and they got me."

Brown became unconscious a few minutes after the explosion and did not say anything that would give a clue to the identity of the assassins. Mrs. Brown is prostrated, and the doctors fear that she will not recover from the awful shock.

Made War on Gamblers. While Sheriff of Baker County, Harvey Brown was diligent in enforcing the law against the saloon men and gamblers and was also a detective of no mean ability. He has been employed on several important cases and it is thought that he knew too much to make it safe for some men in this part of the county, and they took this method of trying to have him put out of the way.

Brown Passes Away. BAKER CITY, Or., Oct. 1st.—Harvey K. Brown passed quietly away at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, in this city at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, from wounds caused by the explosion of a bomb as he entered the gate to his home last night. Death came after several hours of intense agony. When the grim reaper called him to his long home, there were present with him his mother, his two sisters, Mrs. Milt Osborn and Mrs. B. W. Landreth, his 13-year-old daughter Ethel; his pastor, Rev. Jacob Finger, and many of his intimate friends.

Mr. Brown regained consciousness this morning and was in full possession of all his faculties until within a few minutes of his death. He suffered intense pain all the time, but bore it bravely, and did not once complain that his life had been cut short while he was in the prime of his manhood. He was cheerful and talked quite freely with his friends, telling them not to worry about him, for he was all right and was ready to meet his God. He did and said all he could to cheer those around him and told his daughter to be a brave, a true and upright woman.

Holds Federation to Blame. After regaining consciousness this morning Mr. Brown rallied quite well and seemed to be regaining strength. He did not bleed very much last night and it was hoped that he would recover from his wounds. The shock, however, was more than his strong constitution could endure and finally he succumbed to the inevitable. Shortly before noon he expressed a desire to make a statement before he should die and District Attorney Lonax was summoned to take the statement to use in the prosecution of his slayers, should they ever be run to earth.

Mr. Brown said that he had been connected with the Orchard case and had done considerable work for the State of Idaho in ferreting out the slayers of ex-Governor Steunenberg. He was in Southern Idaho at the time Orchard was arrested and was one of the men who identified the man who has confessed to sending so many men to the chair world. It was Brown who arrested St. ve Adams on his uncle's ranch near Baker City and took him to Idaho, where he is now awaiting trial for the murder of Fred Tyler and his companion. He has done considerable detective work on the Adams case and it was his opinion that the Western Federation of Miners was backing the cowards who took his life in this sneaking and inhuman way.

How the Bomb Was Exploded.

The bomb which caused the death of the ex-Sheriff was placed just inside the gate on the south side of the walk. A wire was attached to the top of the picket fence run about 25 feet to the corner and then west in the street along the gutter for about 40 feet to a point near a telephone pole. The construction of Mr. Brown's house is such that a horse on the north side in the road would be hid from view of any one passing along the front of the house, because of the complete darkness and lack of street lights.

There is a porch light which throws its rays entirely toward the front and south of the house. It is apparent that the person at the end of the wire was out in the street and touched off the bomb as Mr. Brown entered the gate. A brass knuckle was attached to the end of the wire and was used by the assassin in pulling the wire to set off the explosion.

A gate post, six by eight inches, was blown to splinters, the fence was torn away and shreds of Mr. Brown's clothing and pieces of his flesh were scattered for many feet in every direction. Every window pane in the house was broken and the force of the explosion broke windows in a home 200 feet away. The report could be heard all over town, and soon summoned an immense crowd to the scene of the tragedy.

Flesh Torn From Bones. Brown's body was horribly mangled. Five inches of the thigh bone on the left leg was blown away and only a little of the flesh of the fore part of the thigh held the lower limb to the body. The back part of the right thigh was blown away, leaving the bone bare. The left hip was badly punctured and part of the flesh torn away. The force of the explosion seemed to have caught him between the knees and his head.

Chief of Police Jackson last night telephoned to Walla Walla to secure the bloodhounds from the penitentiary, but could not get them and this morning telegraphed to Harry Draper at Spokane, instructing him to bring his hounds, and this evening received word that the dogs will be here tomorrow.

The road along the North side of the house, where the inhumanly brutal deed took off the bomb, has been roped off to give the dogs a chance to pick up the scent.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agreed with me. For sale by Clough's Drug Store."

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now fifty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brynson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affects the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them.
