

BASEBALL SERIES.

Providence and the Grays in the League in 1884.

One of the greatest series of baseball games played by National League clubs was that between the Providence Grays in 1884.

The first game of the series in 1884 was on September 1st and resulted in a tie, the score standing 1 to 1.

The pitchers were Charley Radbourne and the Whitney, and 10,000 persons saw the battle.

The next day Providence won by a score of 2 to 1 in nine innings, and Charley Sweeney struck out nineteen Boston batsmen.

Of the first eight games Boston won five and Providence three. When it came time to meet for the fourth final struggle the Providence team had won every series from the other league club and wanted to win the series from the Boston too.

The one offered before the battle of Edgell by Sir Jacob Astley was, "Thou knowest, O Lord, that I shall be very busy this day, and if I forget thee forget thou not me."

The prayer of a Hungarian officer before one of the battles fought for the independence of Hungary in 1849 was as follows: "I will not ask thee, Lord, to help us, and I know thou wilt not help the Austrians, but if thou wilt sit on yonder hill thou shalt not be ashamed of thy children."

The prayer of a Hungarian officer before one of the battles fought in Ireland: "O God, for our unworthiness we are not fit to claim thy help, but if we are bad our enemies are worse, and if thou seest not meet to help us we pray thee help them not, but stand thou neuter on this day and leave it to the arm of the flesh."

PRAYERS BEFORE BATTLE.

Curious Invocations by Famous Historical Personages.

One of the earliest records in history of a prayer before battle is that of Childeric, king of Gaul, a pagan, who before going into battle at Zuelpich, some 400 years after Christ, prayed to the God of the Christians to help him to victory.

The prayer of a Hungarian officer before one of the battles fought for the independence of Hungary in 1849 was as follows: "I will not ask thee, Lord, to help us, and I know thou wilt not help the Austrians, but if thou wilt sit on yonder hill thou shalt not be ashamed of thy children."

Quinsy, Sprains and Swellings Cured.

"In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinsy. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief in a short time. In two days I was all right," says Mrs. L. Cousins, Otterburn, Mich. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale by Clough's Drug Store.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by Chas. I. Clough, Druggist, 25c.

Snuff Taking in London.

Snuff taking is a common habit among certain classes of the London poor. It shows its effects in rambling speech, pallid aspect and dejected demeanor, resembling the symptoms of the porphria taker. The practice is especially common among women, and an observer says that women in the prisoner's dock in the police court will have their hair decorated with curl papers which contain each the pinch of snuff needed for consolation.

Its Advantage.

Knicker—Why do you prefer serial stories? Flatter—Because it's the only thing on the installment plan they can't take away.

Not Very Flattering.

She—Emma is the prettiest, but Lena is the smartest. Now, which would you rather marry, beauty or brains? He (very far gone)—Neither. I'd rather marry you.

Conceit may puff a man up, but it can never prop him up.—Ruskin.

Men's Hats in Great Britain.

There is a difference of two sizes between the average hats worn in Birmingham and Glasgow, and it is generally conceded that the average size in Birmingham is smaller than in any other town in the kingdom. Taking the whole of England, the average size of hat required by men is a 7, or nearly twenty-two inches in circumference; in Wales 6 1/2 is the average, the Irishman averages a 7 full, while the Canadian's average is 7 1/2.—Tallor and Cutler.

Why Ignorance Was Not Bliss.

A story is told of a man who, crossing a disused coal field late at night, fell into an apparently bottomless pit and saved himself only by grasping a protruding beam. There he clung with great difficulty all night, only to find the next day dawned that his feet were four inches from the bottom.

Today the Best.

One of the illusions is that the present hour is not the critical decade. Write it on your heart that every day is the best day in the year. Man has learned anything rightly he knows that every day is today.—Emerson.

It is difficult to say who does you most mischief, enemies with the intentions or friends with the bulwer.
