What a Public Library Does For The Community.

1. It doubles the value of the education the child receives in school, and, best of all, imparts a desire for knowledge which serves as an incentive to continue his education after leaving school; and, having furnished the incentive, it further supplies the means for a life-long continuance of education.

2. It provides for the education of adults who have lacked, or failed to make use of, early opportunities.

3. It furnishes information to teachers, ministers, journalists, authors, physicians, legislators, all persons upon whose work depend the intellectual, moral, sanity, and political welfare and advancement of the people.

4. It furnishes books and periodicals for the technical instruction and information of mechanics, artisans, manufacturers, engineers, and all others whose work requires technical knowledge—of all persons upon whom depends the industrial progress of the city.

5. It is of incalculable benefit to the city by affording to thousands the highest and purest entertainment, and thus lessening crime and disorder.

6. It makes the city a more desirable place of residence, and thus retains the best citizens and attracts others of the same character.

7. More than any other agency, it elevates the general standard of intelligence throughout the great body of the community, upon which its material prosperity, as well as its moral and political wellbeing, must depend.

Finally, the public library includes potentially all other means of social amelioration. . . A library is a living organism, having within itself the capacity of infinite growth and reproduction. It may found a dozen museums and hospitals, kindle the train of thought that produces beneficent inventions, and inspire to noble deeds of every kind, all the while imparting intelligence and inculcating industry, thrift, morality, public spirit, and all those qualities that constitute the wealth and well-being of a community.—F. M. Crunden in the "Exponent."

Wirless Service Across the Atlantic.

Although signals and messages were successfully transmitted across the Atlantic Ocean by the Marconi wireless system as long as two years ago, the establishment of a regular commercial trans Atlantic service for news and business purposes by that method will date in history from Thursday, October 17, when the first regular message was sent by Premier Laurier of Canada to congratulate the English people on this new achievment. Numerous dispatches were then transmitted by prominent persons on both sides of the Atlantic. Before the day was done between 6000 and 10,000 words had been transmitted across the sea from the station at Glace Bay to Clifton, on the west coast of Ireland. The Marconi Company will charge 10 cents a word, and promises soon to cut this rate in half, whereas regular cable rates are 20 cents a word for ordinary dispatches and 10 cents for press cablegrams.

The telegraph operator sat in a high tower, with a telephone to his ear and a Morse transmitter under his hand. With each pressure of the key a flash of blue flame shot upward as the electric impulse from the powerful dynamos was released and transmitted through the steel tower, and at the same time a loud detonation sounded on the ears of those present. Although no attempt at speed was made, the operator averaged twenty words a minute, which would make a maximum of 24,800 words a day, but Marconi announced that within a month the speed would be increased to thirty-five words a minute, and, in addition to this, two other stations between the continents were to be established.

A Quick and Safe Remedy for Bowel Complaints.

Twenty years ago Mr. Geo. W. Brock discovered that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was a quick and safe cure for bowel complaints. "During all of these years," he says, "I have used it and recommended it many times and the results have never yet disappointed me." Mr. Brock is publisher of the Aberdeen, Md., Enterprise. ## People Still Pouring Into Oregon.

Business men returning from the East are unanimous in predicting an enormous immigration to Oregon during the year. People residing in the great cities of New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and other population centers never expressed so much anxiety to hear about this country as at present and the same idea is reflected through the correspondence of the Portland Commercial Club, much of which is originating in the cities named above.

Judge John H. Scott, of Salem, President of the State Good Roads Association, is conducting an active campaign in behalf of the good roads meeting to be held in the rooms of the Portland Commercial Club, November 14th and 15th. Judge Scott desires that every commercial, industrial, agricultural, horticultural, and irrigation organization in the state to send delegates.

President Ed. T. Judd, of the Oregon State Dairy Association, reports constantly increasing interest in the big state meeting to be held in Portland, December 12th and 13th. Constant additions are being made to the prizes, and an active committee is at work. It is desired above everything else that the farmers be present on this occasion.

Oregon never received a stronger endorsement than the following from the pen of Professor Charles Curtis, of the Ames, Iowa, Agricultural College:

> "There is nowhere on the face of the globe a land or people so dominant of the highest types of domestic animals as the British Islands. There is nowhere on the American continent a region affording conditions so closely allied to those of Great Britain as on the North Pacific Coast of the United States. The similarity is noticeable, not only in climate conditions and natural environment, but also in the genuine enthusiasm and deep seated faith in the industry possessed by the tillers of the soil."

The Eugene Commercial Club has employed Mr. John H. Hartog, of California, to take charge of their publicity campaign at a salary of $5000 a year. Mr. Hartog will be an important factor in the development of Oregon. for California has never developed a brighter man in the advertising line.

The exhibit of samples of the iron ore from Columbia county is promised at the Portland Commercial Club this week. The development of oil in Western Idaho and Eastern Oregon is bringing absolutely new capital and new people that no other industry would have attracted.

Steel Direct From Ore.

How John Potter, the Los Angeles, inventor, has found a way to produce a 380 pound ingot of pure steel without the use of coke or coal in either the Bessemer or open-hearth process, is described by Harry W. Dunn in the Technical World Magazine. Potter's idea was that of an oil blast furnace. In the center of his furnace he piles the crude iron ore and a mixture of lime and asphaltum in a certain proportion, which is the secret of the process. Then a jet of crude oil is turned on and lighted. With a heat of 3200 the whole mass is fluxed and the resultant steel flows down into a lake in the bottom, later to be drawn off into puddles and cooled. Or the molton steel can be run directly into molds, thus saving one costly process under the old methods. The loss in Potter's process is only about 6 per cent. This means a saving of millions. Potter invented also the blast burner he uses, and that, too, is a secret. This inventor began as a greaser boy in a steel plant at Johnstown, Pa., and worked up until he became manager of the Carnegie plant at Homestead. At Chicago he assisted in perfecting the first rail table in the United States.

Capt. Roald Amundsen, who some years ago successfully navigated the Northwest Passage in the little sloop Gjoa, and who is now visiting the United States, is preparing for an expedition to the north pole, in which he expects to use polar bears as beasts of burden. He has two polar cubs now in training for this purpose. The captain believes that bears are peculiarly fitted for this service, by reason of their great strength and their absolute immunity to the inclemency of the Arctic weather. He expects to go into the polar region provisioned and equipped for a stay of five or six years, if necessary.

A public demonstration of the new "fulguration" treatment for cancer has been made at Paris by Dr. Hart, in the presence of thirty prominent surgeons of all nations. Dr. Hart, whose home is at Marseilles, has used the treatment for eighteen months, and in 65 per cent of these cases the patients remain cured. By means of Gaiffe's electric transformer he sends through an insulated probe an electric spark 5 inches long. This is applied with a fulgurating or flashing effect on the cancerous growth, thus destroying all the diseased tissue. Then the spark is used in lieu of a knife to volatilize the affected part. The wound is washed in water and antiseptic.

If the bears could express their feelings they would ask why the peace sentiments of Taft in China and Root in Mexico are not echoed in the wilds of Louisiana.

The Independent or American Church.

[TO EDITOR OF TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.]

Victoria, the Queen of England, was asked what she regarded as he foundation of success of the British government, she replied, the Bible.

There is an account in the Prevention of Cruelty of Animals, of what is known as the "Christ of the Andes," that was erected in commemoration of the good influences of the Church in establishing peace between Argentine Republic and Chile and preventing a bloody war. The Bible and the Church are, and have been mighty influences in the affairs of men and nations. They never were exceeded except by the one thing which makes the American government the grandest institution that that was ever upon the face of the earth, and that is the recognition of the light and liberty of conscience.

Our forefathers did not declare that we might worship God according to the dictates of the Bible, nor by the dictates of the Church, but by the dictates of conscience. The man who holds up the Bible must confine himself to what he believes the Bible teaches. So with the man who represents the Church, it is not what he thinks, but what the Church teaches. He has no right of opinion.

The Independent Church is for men who hold to the American religion, who subscribe to the worship of God by the light of conscience, instead of either the Bible or Church. It does not matter to me what the Bible or Church teaches, I don't recogniae their jurisdiction. They may be good enough for a great many people, but they fall short of my anticipation.

The man that is judged by the Bible or Church stands either justified or condemned by them, so it is with the man who is judged by the light of conscience. There is no sorrow like the remorse of conscience for a misspent life, and the only thing a Catholic or Protestant Church can do for a man in that condition is either to drown his conscience or send him to an asylum for the insane, and although to the person unacquainted, the man suffering the remorse of conscience and a maniac might appear the same, they are as unlike as east from the west.

It is not the object of the Independent church to antagonise the Bible or the Church, but to stand exclusively for the American idea of worshiping God according to the dictates of conscience, believing that the conscience is of divine origin and ever prompted by the inspiration of God the Spirit. I cannot feel that the Bible or Church has any right to question or dictate my course of life. There may be men who are not susceptable to the impressions of conscience. We have those who are born deef, blind, &c. Why should we not expect unnatural men in the spiritual world? The blind need a guide, but to have a guide for one who can see is a confounded imposition.

I never have to regret for having been sent to an asylum, for I suppose I would have been paying some preacher to this day for trying to expound the scriptures to me for the peace that he never found himself. Again, it is hard for a man who is suffering the remorse of conscience to be thrown into a bedlum of maniacs and it takes him some time to conclude whether he is really a hopeless maniac or trying to make peace with the Great Creator. J. C. GOVE.

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of to day; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shomburg has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed Chas. I. Clough's Drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years Without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, of Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequaled for croup and whooping cough. For sale by Clough's Drug Store.

A Criminal Attack

on an inoffensive citizen is frequently made in that apparently useless little tube called the "appendix." It's generally the result of protracted constipation, following liver torpor. Dr. King's New Life Pills, regulates the liver, prevent appendicitis, and establish regular habits of the bowels. 25c. at Chas. I. Clough, drug store.

The Chinese were no less delighted than the Japanese to see Mr. Taft. America never sent a better advertisement around the world than its great war secretary.
