Henry Crenshaw, as probation officer of the juvenile court, left here on Wednesday for the south part of the county to gather up the Davis children, or as many of them which have not obtained permanent homes, and will take them to the Boys' and Girls' Home in Portland, the county judge having made an order to that effect.

The Evie and the Gerald C. came in with freight for Bay City on Monday, and the Sue H. The entertainment and basket social, given at the Long Prairie school house on Friday evening, was well attended, regardless of unfavorable weather. Vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc., constituted the program, which was well rendered, and reflected credit upon every participant. The receipts from the sale of baskets, over $30, were due alike to the generosity of the gentlemen present and to the pleasing auctioneering of Mr. Henry Rogers.

Jottings from the County.

Robert Jones has returned from Portland, where he spent the holidays with his brother, Clarence.

E. T. Coulsen has a family of seven bright children, who attend school at East Beaver, their teacher being Miss White. When we asked Mr. Coulson how many children he had in his family he asked Mary, and she told us.

Seth Moon has sold his place to James Woods for $4,700, and the former will go to California.

Wm. Thun has returned from his trip to Ballston and Portland.

Francis Welch returned from a trip to Salem and Portland.

C. J. Crook spent one night with Welch Bros., north of Blaine, where he was right royally entertained by hunting and good wholesome bachelor's fare.

Called on Mr. Oberhumer, who lives on his homestead on East Beaver Creek. He is an Austrian by birth, a bachelor, and apparently in good health, with the exception of what he calls a cancer on the right eye. Cutting off the superfluous growth on the eye lid with scissors, and applying sheep sarrel poultice, is his system of treatment.

Miss McAllister, of the Hemlock Times, a paper written for the Literary Society, desires the co-operation of all those interested in the social and moral life of Hemlock and vicinity.

A. W. Phelps, engineer at the oil well, was at his post with 95lbs. of steam and a pleasant smile when we called. He gave us the depth of the well as 1,600ft., and the depth per day varies from six inches to 50ft.

One of our county roads come to an end at the gate of Welch Bro.'s barnyard. Here you will find this inscription: "The end of civilization."

Mr. Smith is the kind parent of two babes which he adopted from the infants' home.

Casper Schlappi informs me that the school house in district No. 33 was built with the view in mind to give the pupils all the light from the left side of the room, as a cross light was partly to blame for much of the defective eyesight in this county. That this school room is a success for light and appointment is a fact. That Miss Oliver is a credit to it is also a fact.

LEE WILLARD COMING.

Will Play at Opera House Jan. 20th, 21st and 22nd, With Splendid Cast.

Mr. Willard belongs to the new school of actors. The new school is really the newest of all, but it is the fashion to say that the actor makes a departure whose methods are natural, where eyes are always turned on truth and where greatest triumphs are the expressing of the greatest emotions without the resort of vocal or gestacular exaggeration. Such an actor is Dee Willard. Young as he is, he has learned the technique of his art in the best academy the actor can command—the theatre. He comes to Tillamook Opera House on Monday night, January 20th, for an engagement of 3 nights and Wednesday Matinee, with an excellent company of artists, presenting for his opening bill "The Country Squire," a sweet and beautiful comedy written by James A. Kent, and collaborated in by Mr. Willard. On Tuesday night "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and Wednesday Matinee and Wednesday night's bills announced later.

GARIBALDI.

Nurse Wilkes is down from the Miami attending Mrs. Shearer, who is very ill

Leonard and Arthur Paquet were up to Tillamook Saturday visiting their sister, Mrs. Grace Jacobs. They returned home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Derby's infant daughter is ill with a bad cold this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Temperley and daughter, Miss Stella, took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Bozartb, at Bay City.

Mr. V. A. Schlappi made a flying trip to Tillamook Saturday.

Claming is a popular pass time now days. If the boat fail to bring flour the faithful old mud flats never fail us.

Fred Young left for Tillamook last week.

Invitations are out for a party to be given at Mr. and Mrs. Shearers Saturday night

Several Tillamook people were on the beach Sunday, among them were Dr. Morris.

Church will be held in the schoolhouse Thurday night.

Dr. Smith was called to attend Mrs. Derby's infant daughter Tuesday night.

The Gerald C. and the Evie came in over the bar nicely Sunday evening.
