

YOUNG MEN PAROLED.

They Must Go to Work, keep out of Pool Rooms, Abstain from Intoxicating Drinks.

The special term of the circuit court was brought to a close Saturday, after being in session for a week. On Friday Judge Burnett decided that he would parole Louis Loll, Walter Oliver, George Coppersmith, Harry Foster, Harry Long and Arthur Eberman, who had been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for burglary. In doing so the judge gave the young men some good advice pointing out to them that he was willing to give them a chance, but they would have to keep out of saloons and pool rooms, abstain from intoxicating drink and would have to go to work. The conditions of the paroles are:

Now on the 7th day of February, 1908, the above entitled action comes on to be heard on the application of defendants to be permitted to go at large on parole instead of being imprisoned in the Oregon State penitentiary under and by virtue of a sentence and judgment of imprisonment made, rendered and entered of record against them by this Court in this action on the 3rd day of February, 1908. The State of Oregon appears by John H. McNary, district attorney, and said defendants each appears in his own proper person.

The Court being satisfied that said defendants if permitted to go at large will not again violate the law, it is ordered that they and each of them be and are hereby permitted to go and remain at large under the supervision of the Court subject to and upon the following express conditions, to wit:

1.—Each of said defendants shall at all times conduct himself in a law abiding manner.

2.—Each of said defendants shall report in writing signed by himself to this Court on the first day of each regular term thereof during the continuance of this parole where he has been since the date of the last of such reports and what kind of employment he has been engaged in and the length of time he has been so employed together with a statement of whether or not he has drunk any beer, whiskey or other intoxicating liquor or has been in or about any saloon or billiard room or gambling or pool room, which report in addition to being signed by the defendant making it, must be certified by some respectable householder residing in the State of Oregon to the effect that in his judgment the report is a true one that such defendant is conducting himself in a law abiding manner.

Nearly all of the young men thanked the judge when he was through, and in shaking hands with him they promised to comply with the Court's instructions. The judge has also given Sheriff Crenshaw certain instructions.

The other cases disposed of on Friday and Saturday were:

Hadley Lumber Company, a corporation, vs. Emmett Jenkins. Action for money. Jury trial and a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $96.77 was given.

Western Oregon Trust Company, vs. William West et al. For deed and to quiet title. A. L. Veazie was appointed referee to take and report testimony of witnesses in Multnomah county and to report at the next regular term.

Ida Anderson vs. Andrew Anderson. Divorce. Findings and decree for plain tiff without costs.

Oak Nolan vs. Frank Ekroth et al. To quiet title. By consent defendants Ekroth has leave to serve and file amended answer on or before March 7, and plaintiff to reply on or before first day of next regular term.

Erick Bergstrom vs. Helen L. Bergstrom. Divorce. Motion of defendant for an allowance for counsel fees allowed and plaintiff required to pay $100 to enable defendant to defend suit.

In the matter of the appeal of Samuel Blomere from order of Board of Equalization. Motion of Tillamook County to dismiss appeal sustained.

In the matter of the appeal of the Elmore Packing Co. from order of Board of Equalization. Motion of Tillamook County to dismiss appeal sustained.

In the matter of the appeal of Nehalem Packing Co. from order of Board of Equalization. Motion of Tillamook County to dismiss appeal sustained.

Eli Steinson vs. H. B. Johnson et al. Damages and action for money. Jury trial, with a verdict for defendants.

In the matter of the Estate of Eli Goodspeed, Probate. Administrator ordered and authorized to sell note of R. and S. J. Sturgeon to Eli Goodspeed for $500.

Jottings from the County.

We called on Miss Anna Tohl, who teaches the Balm school. She builds her own fires and teaches a nice lot of boys and girls, some twenty in number, and there are many evidences of good work.

Miss Mabel Kimball, in district No. 5, has ten pupils enrolled, but owing to the prevalence of la grippe in that neighborhood there were only five in attendance. This district is in the sand hills, but has a very fine outlook for a play ground.

There is certainly no reason why people should not eat the best they grow in Tillamook. It cannot be said that the standard of economy in this county is: "What we can't sell we feed to the hogs, and what the hogs won't eat we eat ourselves."

We called on Wm. Snyder, way up in the Sandhills, on the Seaside road. He wants to know if that railroad is doing anything, and said "I've lived here 37 years and there hasn't a thing turned up yet."

We called on Fred Lange and found five or six women visiting at his home, and we just as well own up to what we thought about them. They were all nice looking. Mr. Lange has lived on his place for 22 years. He raises good fruit and vegetables, and lots of them, having 100 bushels of potatoes in his cellar now.

Cone and Reed lost 19 or 20 sheep in one night, and it is claimed that the dogs are doing the killing.

J. A. Fabrique and family are living in a cosy little cottage not far from the coast. Everything in this little cottage was the handiwork of a home-loving spirit. Miss Fabrique is the daughter, and a musician. Mr. Fabrique is a man of small stature, who has followed the barber trade for 40 years, and bears the frost of many winters upon his head. He is also a violin maker, and he showed us some beautiful work in that line.

John Hickey has a good ranch at the head of Foley Creek, which produces some fine fruit and good pasture. John filled our pockets with apples of the right flavor, and we were sorry that our pockets were not larger.

C. L. Thorall and several other boys at Hobsonville are gaining strength quite rapidly after their severe attack of typhoid fever.

Grading has begun on the Nehalem school grounds. This is a step in the right direction. Give the boys and girls room for good, healthy exercise and expect good work.

The Gerald C. took on a load of canned salmon at the Nehalem cannery on Saturday last.

We called on Charles Robitsch, an old settler of Nehalem, who is 85 years of age and a veteran of the civil war. He has some good, healthy ideas.

We found an exceptionally good house keeper on the North fork of the Nehalem, and his name is Edward Brunner and he has a neat little library and many other nice features about his home.

Carpenters are doing some finishing on the Beals' cheese factory at Nehalem.

The roads on either side of the North fork of the Nehalem are being pushed forward as rapidly as weather and means will permit. It is to be hoped that the day is not far distant when the county will be aided by a good rock crusher in the construction of roads.

We understand that Commissioner H. V. Alley went to Portland on Friday to inspect a rock crushing plant for the county.

The school grounds at Nehalem are being graded, a much needed improvement at this school.

After visiting several of the schools in Tillamook county and hearing some very good lessons, and seeing the nice behavior of the boys and girls, I believe if I were asked the question, "Are those boys and girls good?" I could reply, "All boys and girls look good to me."

Mrs. H. L. Rittenhouse is quite ill with la grippe, also many others in and about Nehalem.

Stephen Scovell is in Tillamook City for a few days.

In stopping at John Johnson's, we received some pleasant information in regard to early days in the West. Mr. Johnson related several exciting escapades with the Redmen. With the feeling that an honest purpose in a man's heart will gain respect from any people Mr. Johnson has not only enjoyed a fair proportion of this world's goods, but he has given others an equal opportunity.

Many Sleepless Nights. Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Found at Last.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hayner, editor of the Burley, Colo., Bulletin. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results. In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was indeed marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since. This remedy is for sale by all Druggists.

Valuable Remedy for Colds and Croup.

W. W. Gray, an attorney at Wenatchee, Wash., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for colds and croup with good results. I aim to always keep this remedy in the house." Sold by all Druggists.

In the Electrical Industry.

There is no apparent limit to the various things the electric current is asked to do. From shearing sheep and dog-plucking ducks, to the other extreme of making music and the production of diamonds lies a multitude of uses for the mysterious force. Electricity is, or can be, used in every plane of life, in every profession, all trades and in all amusements.

Five thousand electric flatirons are being produced every week at the Lyde, Mass., factory of the General Electric Company.

A 50,000 volt, 40-mile transmission line supplies electric power to Minneapolis from the St. Croix River. At a substation at the city limits the voltage is reduced to 13,800 at which pressure the various stations and sub-stations of the Minneapolis Electric Company are supplied.

Sometimes it is desirable to plate large castings with copper or other metal, but it is impractical because of the large sized vat which would be necessary. The new method of applying the electrolyte is to use a paint brush attached to one pole of the source of current. A smooth, adherent and strong coating of metal may thus be built up to any desired thickness. This process has been found successful in plating with silver, gold, copper and nickel.

In the Cincinnati city hospital typhoid patients are no longer subjected to the old ice-water baths when their temperature reaches a dangerous point. Under the new method the patient is first sponged off with ice water; then a wet sheet is wrapped about the body and the blast from an electric fan is turned on. Recent experiments have proven this method far superior to the old Baptist treatment.

The drinking water of Philadelphia is taken from the Schuylkill River. It has been found that a certain point this water contains two and a half millions of bacteria to a cubic centimeter. After a thorough straining it contains from 355,000 to 708,000 bacteria; after ozonization, by electricity, it contains only 5 to 55.

Seven brass horns are being installed in the Grand Central station at New York for the announcing of trains. The operator in his booth will announce the trains in a telephone receiver; the tones, greatly magnified, are reproduced from the horns in the waiting rooms.

Up to the middle of September the General Electric Company has sold a total of 1023 steam turbines. The company entered upon the construction as steam turbine factories in the fall of 1902 and the first turbine was shipped from the works in February, 1903. That was four and a half years ago. The 1023 turbines sold in the interval average approximately 1000 kw. capacity each, making a grand total of about 1,000,000 kw. capacity. Prices have averaged close to $30 per kw., so that the cash value of sales aggregated over $30,000,000. At the present time the company's turbine business is running about $8,000,000 a year, or say 12 per cent. of total sale.

The saddest hour in the life of a newspaper joker is when he sees one of his jokes come true. From time untold it has been the custom of the paragrapher to write semi-occasionally about the man who stayed in bed while his clothes were being washed. In this electrical age this can now be easily done. In St. Louis there is a laundry which specializes in hurry work. The clothing is washed and wrung by motor power, dried with electric fans and electric heaters and ironed by electricity. The whole operation takes less than a half hour.
