FULTON ANSWERS HENEY.

Governor Chamberlain is Accused of Being One of the Conspirators.

In a long letter given out by Senator Fulton and published in the Portland newspapers the Senator answers the accusations made by Francis J. Heney in his political address, which in substance is as follows :

That he was not sackholder for John H. Mitchell in the Senatorial campaign of 1897, or at any other time, and that the affidavit of J. S. Smith making that charge, read by Mr. Heney in his Congregational Church speech is false in every particular.

That J. S. Smith is the political tool of Governor Chamberlain, Democratic Governor of Oregon and candidate for the United States Senate, and that the affidavit of Smith was procured by Heney and Chamberlain in pursuit of a conspiracy to ruin his (Fulton's) political career.

That Heney, inspired by personal enmity, ambition and desire for notoriety, has conducted a campaign of deliberate falsehood and vilification against him for more than two years.

That the Congregational Church meeting was the climax of that campaign, resorted to when all efforts to secure a basis for a criminal prosecution had failed.

That he was never at any time attorney for the Hammond Lumber Company, or any of the Hammond corporations, with the exception of the Astoria & Columbia Railroad, and was never at any time attorney for any corporation, firm or individual engaged in securing timber lands, and was never engaged in shady timber land deals.

That he was never engaged in any conspiracy to protect George C. Brownell from indictment of John H. Hall as District Attorney, and was never a supporter of Hall for that office.

That he has worked faithfully and constantly for the people of Oregon at the National capital and has not engaged in private law practice since going to the Senate.

That he represents no railroad interest, or interests, and refused railroad passes for himself, his family and his subordinates, even before the passage of the rate bill.

Senator Fulton concludes his letter in this characteristic style:

This communication is, I know, too long, but I have found it difficult to say less and I should prefer saying more, for I realize that this is the last desperate effort of a desperate gang of conspirators to injure my name and reputation. The people of Oregon have little, if any, conception of the embarrasments and difficulties by which I have been surrounded, and impeded during the greater portion of my official term. In February, 1903, I was elected to the United States Senate. The first session of Congress thereafter began November 9 of that year. During that session I became slightly acquainted with the members and methods of procedure. The next session began in December, 1904, and during that month both Senator Mitchell and Congressman Hermann were indicted; later, but early in the same session, Mr. Williamson was indicted and, thereupon I was left, a new member without experience, the sole representative of my state in Congress I will frankly admit that the contemplation of the tremendous responsibilities and perplexities of the situation almost prostrated me. But I went to work determined to do all in my power to meet its requirements. I am, I confess, proud of the record I made, and later, on some proper occasion, I contemplate giving out a more or less detailed statement showing what, unaided and alone, I accomplished for my state and the record, I trust I may say without being amenable to the charge of egotism, will compare favorably with any made when the entire delegation was present. But I have not only been handicapped by difficulties inherent to a situation so delicate, and the multitude of duties imposed by reason of being the sole representative here, I have during all the while been constantly assailed in the most malicious and wanton manner. My every movement criticised, my every motive impugned. Constantly and systematically it was announced and published far and wide that I would be indicted for timber land frauds and then the rumor would assume definite form so that I could refute it, but only to see another spring up to take its place. All this time I was at work, harder, I believe, than I have ever labored before, and my life has been one of work. I literally worked day and night. But I succeeded and made good. I secured a strong position and good committees in the Senate. Finally my enemies, having abandoned all hopes of involving me in any violations of law have resorted to slander, scandal and villification. Every expedient that malice could prompt or malevolence suggest has been resorted to. The gutters have been sounded and the sewers drained in order that some vile charge, however stale, gross and improbable, might be brought forth to serve the cravings of insatiable malice. But I have confidence in the people, in their sense of justice and fairness. I shall appeal to them and I shall go before them and ask that they place the stamp of their disapproval on the infamous methods of this band of conscienceless conspirators

To Be Voted On.

The voters of Oregon will be asked to vote upon 19 measures at the June election. Briefly stated, the measures are as follows :

Submitted by the Legislature—

Amendment increasing compensation of members of the legislature to $400 for a regular session and $10 a day for special sessions.

Amendment permitting the location of institutions away from the state capital.

Amendment increasing the number of Supreme judges to five and extending the jurisdiction of the circuit courts to probate work ; also requiring provisions by law for district attorneys, county courts, etc.

Amendment changing the time of holding general elections from June to November.

Legislative acts submitted under the referendum—

Act giving Sheriff custody of prisoners.

Act requiring granting of free railroad passes to certain officials.

Act appropriating $100,000 for armories.

Act increasing the University of Oregon's appropriation to $125,000 per annum.

Submitted by initiative petition—

Equal sufferage amendment.

Act for protection of Salmon on the Lower Columbia.

Amendment giving cities exclusive control of liquor selling, gambling, etc.

Amendment exempting dwelling houses, factories, tools, furniture, etc., from taxation.

Amendment giving voters the power to recall public officers.

Act instructing members of legislature to vote for peoples' choice for senator.

Amendment providing for proportional representation.

Act limiting expenditures for political campaign purposes.

Act to protect salmon on the Upper Columbia.

Amendment limiting the power of district attorney to file indictments.

Act for creation of Hood River county.

The idea that she was also welcoming the Panama Canal added fervor to Chili's salutes. All the countries on the west coast of SouthAmerica will be commercially on velvet when the isthmian waterway is opened. Uncle Sam, a great and good friend, will pay the freight.

British Columbia has turned into government forest reservations 150,000,000 acres of timber land, or all that it owns outside of leased tracts. From such leases, which run 21 years, with possible renewal, the government receives $1,275,000 a year. Our Northern neighbors are ahead in forestry, as in ship canals.

A Russian prince who has traveled in the United States is unable to understand how this country, with its great wealth and generally favorable conditions, should be troubled with a financial flurry. The natives also are puzzled on this point, but are looking into the matter and expect to apply the remedy without delay.

Many Sleepless Nights, Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Fund at Last.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J Hayner, editor of the Burley, Colo., Bulletin. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results. In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was indeed marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since. This remedy is for sale by all Druggists.

Suffering and Dollars Saved.

Meda Co-Operative Creamery Co.'s Annual Report.

To the Directors and Stockholders of Meda Co-operative Creamery Co., Ltd.

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith present this report as Secretary of your Association for the year 1907.

Amount of milk received for the year: March, 22,076 lbs.; April, 87,626 lbs.; May, 130,199 lbs.; June, 131,369 lbs.; July, 122,264 lbs.; August, 95,042 lbs.; September, 64,128 lbs.; October, 43,733 lbs.; November, 21,967 lbs. Total, 718,404 lbs.

Amount of butter fat in milk, 29,034 16 lbs. Average test, .04041 per cent.

Amount of cheese manufactured, 79,046 lbs. Amount sold and returned for, 75,498 lbs.; amount on hand, 3,548 lbs., but about half of the latter is under contract to be sold, or will be sold by annual meeting. This leaves on hand about forty boxes of twins. Average price f.o.b. boat, Cloverdale, 13.83 cents. On basis of Tillamook City price, estimating at Tillamook freight rates, the price would have been 13 93 cents per lb. As the factory produced no triplets nor Young Americans, these figures are very good.

Amount received for cheese, estimating amount not sold, $10,931.15. The factory received six thousand lbs. less milk for 1907 than during 1906, but cheese sold for $2323.00 more during 1907.

Average yield, 11 lbs. of cheese per 100 lbs. of milk.

Number of boxes of cheese, 1,264.

Amount received by factory for making cheese, at two cents per lb., $1,580.92. I do not keep account of expenses for factory, as you have another secretary for that purpose.

Amount paid patrons for cheese, amount not paid being estimated. $9344.44, or an average of $1.30 per 100 lbs. of milk.

There is considerable cheese being held in storage in Portland, and some in other coast cities. Amounts in factories now aggregate probably 3,000 boxes. Prospects for this year are fair, if market cleans up fairly well before new cheese comes.

I have no record of assets and liabilities of your company.

Respectfully submitted,
CARL HABERLACH, Secretary.

Dated at Tillamook, Oregon, January 29th, 1908.

A Brooten Bath.

TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.

Perhaps your readers would like to know something of what a "Brooten Bath" consists.

Having experienced this healthful pleasure to my personal satisfaction, I will endeavor to give a synopsis of it, as it appealed to me.

The ore which forms the basis of these baths is taken from a depth of perhaps 18 feet and put through a curing process. The mineral qualities contained in this ore are so strong that metal tubs are impractical, hence wooden ones are used exclusively.

A medium sized upright boiler is used to prepare the water and steam. At the time of which I speak the boiling process begun with 50 lbs. of steam in the boiler, and the "gage" showing a rapid upward tendency. The steam by a system of piping is forced through an airtight tank which is filled with mineral ore and thus converted into mineral steam, which is used to boil the water in the bath tub or steam the patient, as the stage of the treatment may require. Next, the water is heated to the temperature of one hundred and four degrees, when we take our first plunge of about fifteen minutes duration, after which we were laid comfortably upon the "rack" to be steamed both internally and externally for an equal period of time. When the steam has become so dense that one fancies it could be cut with a knife, and the temperature goes up to one hundred and twenty-six degrees, the "inner man" begins to crave something to relieve the tropical conditions which seem to be wholly concentrated upon the human entity. He reaches the cup of sour mineral water at the head of his "rack" and gently slakes his thirst—"Exquisit! as the Neetre that Jupiter sipped" is putting it mild in this moment. But, a few seconds later when the prespiration has begun to trickle down over the body in small rivulets, and he realizes his mistake in considering the draught force concerning—he is apt to fancy the atoms of his body whispering to one another something "Oh! The inconsistancy of man."

The action and re-action from soaking and steaming may be continued for a longer or shorter period of time as the patient may desire, as I believe without bad effect.

When the alternatives have been repeated a sufficient number of times, and one is wrapped in woolen blankets and lies down to rest and sleep, then is the time when that indefinable something "that all is well" steals away the baser senses, and the human intellect and physique are born again.

After these healthful expiences one takes a rubdown with a coarse bath towel, dons his apparel and steps forth into the outer world prepared to swallow most any kind of a microbe and pronounce it good.
