

THE PROBLEM.

Secret of Blowing the Big Glass Globes. Nicholas wished to illuminate Alexander column in a grand size of the round lamps to the purpose were indicated glasses ordered at the manufactory where the workmen exerted in vain and almost blew out of their bodies in the attempt to obtain the desired size. The commission must be executed—self evident—but how? A premium was offered to the one who could solve the problem. Human bellows toiled and their object seemed unattainable at last a long bearded Russian forward and declared that he would do it; he had strong lungs; only raise his mouth first into water to refresh them. He filled his mouth to the pipe and to such purpose that the globe swelled and puffed nearly round dimensions, up to them.

ANIMALS IN WILLS.

"My Red Horse"—Parrot bequeathed to Queen Victoria. The Salford brewer, left his greyhound, Wildfire, of £25, is one of many who have remembered their animals in their wills. Near Toulouse who died a year ago left his entire estate to a horse. One John Spooner bequeathed £400 to his dog and in recognition of his sympathy and affection, leaving when I was seriously ill, and the will of a Mr. Garland contained this clause: "I bequeath to my monkey, Jacko, the sum of £100 per annum and to my faithful dog, Black and my well beloved cat, Tib, a pension of £5." De Christians of Venice left £0,000 for the maintenance of his dog, a Mr. Harper settled £100 on a young black cat, and a man named Souchat left his estate to his tortoise. A man many years ago an old lady gave her pet parrot to Queen Victoria with 100 guineas a year for the amusement of the monarch. The monarch's majesty publicly exhibits it twice a year to prove that the person entrusted with it does not wring its neck.—West Coast Gazette.

All Three Kinds.

In a village in New England the people are fondly to the customs of the past and has small regard for innovation. Not long ago an old resident who was a lawyer who went up to settle family affairs stayed overnight in the inn. He was a dyspeptic and looked searchingly at the food he stood at the breakfast table next morning to greet him. He was obliged to be very careful in what he said solemnly. "My breakfast food have you? That sort of food in the morning except dry apple, squash and mince."

regarding him in kindly fashion. "You can choose or have all three if you wish."

bourne and the Garter. Melbourne seems to have held a legitimate contempt. A Chronicle reminds us that that statesman was invited to grant an interview to a reporter for a title and he said wearily: "What the mischief want you? Does he want the other leg?" Melbourne pressed by Queen Victoria the blue ribbon, but he dejectedly explained, "may be somebody of consequence else can reach, but what the use of my taking it? I take it myself."

Places of Diamonds.

A diamond as shown in the picture is only a model in paste stone is hidden away. It is history repeating itself, for the Regent diamond was a house furniture to Vanderkemp of Amsterdam, and he was struck with upon the dabbbling it to the public he Regent that is in the shams. Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless safeguard against the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system. Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, back-ache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary spots or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable pelvic catarrh, prolapsus, ante-version or retro-version or other displacement of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments. If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.
