Prof. W. R. Rutherford has decided to take a course of study at the State University at Eugene the coming school year, consequently he declined to take the principalship of the public school in this city. The school board did its best to keep Mr. Rutherford, because he has made an excellent principal, giving the best of satisfaction in his school work, and in giving Tillamook credit carried with him the respect of the people of this community, as well as that of the pupils of the public school.

Cheese, says the Tillamook Herald, is an important factor in the making of free lunch sandwiches; no saloons no free lunches; no free lunches, a diminution of the demand for cheese; so give us the saloons that we may sell our cheese. That's surely a bright thought and logical reasoning and the Herald man should have awakened sooner to the importance of his theme and got it well groomed for the running in the campaign just closed. Please pass the cheese.—Sheridan Sun.

Last Friday being the tenth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. L. A. Le Miller to the priesthood, a large number of his parishioners gathered at the parish house that evening to show their respect for the rev. gentleman, which was turned into a social gathering, and during the evening Father Le Miller was presented with a well filled purse. This he gratefully accepted, who thanked his parishioners for their kindness. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner, the ladies of the church serving refreshments. The pupils of St. Alphonsus Academy, also to commemorate the event, rendered a program Friday morning.

The Headlight would call Mayor Johnson's attention to matters which need investigation. This (Thursday) evening a bottle crashed through one of the windows from the upstairs rooms of the old Headlight building, which had it struck any pedestrian in the head, would have been instant death to them. That night, between ten and eleven o'clock, rocks and missiles were thrown at a number of buildings, some of which crashed through windows and destroyed citizen's property. The other night a bag of coal, belonging to Eugene Jenkins was taken and dumped into the excavation.

Mrs. M. J. Buttz died in Portland on Thursday night, where she was taken a few days previous to undergo an operation for cancer of the stomach. The remains were brought back on Sunday, and next day they were buried in the Oddfellows' cemetery, Rev. I. V. Parker pastor of the M. E. church, conducting the religious services. Mrs. Buttz was born at Corvallis, Ore., in 1862, and was the daughter of Solomon Mulkey, one of the early pioneers of Oregon. She was married to Elam Buttz on May 19th, 1881, and moved to Tillamook county, where she had since resided. She was 45 years of age and leaves a husband and six children.

The bride, who has a most happy, smiling disposition, was a great favorite with most everybody, especially with her young friends, who wish her every happiness. The groom belongs to Forest Grove, where his family is greatly respected. The happy couple left on Monday morning for that place, where they will make their home, and they carried with them the congratulations and best wishes of their Tillamook friends.

Roessler Reports Commerce Does Not Justify Expense.

Washington, June 9.—It will probably be many years before Congress authorizes any material improvement of the channel across the bar at the entrance of Tillamook Bay, and quite as many years before any extensive improvement is made in the channel from the bar to Tillamook City. It is the universal opinion of engineer officers that the commerce of Tillamook Bay, present and prospective, does not justify the expenditure of any great sum of money, and the fact that a railroad is soon to be extended to Tillamook is a further and perhaps more potent reason why Congress will not authorize large expenditures on this harbor. The railroad, now building, will be able to handle practically all of the freight originating in the Tillamook country, and will tend further to decrease shipping by water. The water shipments to and from Tillamook are today only half what they were ten years ago, the decline having been steady and gradual. The decrease is expected to be even more marked after the railroad begins operating.

The Tillamook situation is fully discussed in a report of Colonel Roessler, recently sent to Congress. His report recommends the appropriation of $5000 to repair existing works in the harbor, and recommends the annual expenditure of $5000 for maintaining a channel at the present depth, as far as Tillamook City. The Engineer Board and chief of engineers concur in this recommendation, and that report will limit the appropriation to be made in the next river and harbor bill.
