He had returned from a trip to Garibaldi beach, and when near the Hunt bridge one of his horses went through a culvert and fell down breaking the neck yoke. Attention is asked to the display advertisement of the Portland Business College which appears in another column of this issue. It is well written, and is attractive in appearance. A characteristic of the Portland Business College is to do everything undertaken in a first class manner. This will probably account for its being called "The School of Quality," a title of which the institution should feel extremely proud.

H. K. Shirk, who recently was graduated from the University of Oregon, has received a flattering offer as an instructor in the Weston normal, and will move with his family to that place soon. His sister, Miss Anna Shirk, has been elected to a good position in the high school at Tillamook and will go there to teach, and it is altogether probable their parents will go with her. They all started on a two weeks' camping trip up the Middle Fork yesterday, and may go as far as the lakes before returning.—Eugene Register.

Robert Welch and Robert Christensen skipped from Happy Camp last week without paying Earl Ford their board bill. They came in on horseback and went out the same way, and it is reported that they annoyed people at Netarts by killing chicken. Ford came to town and informed Sheriff Crenshaw, who phoned to Hillsboro, where they were arrested and locked up, much to their surprise. They wanted to put up their horses for security, but this would not go. They paid the money and cost on Saturday.

An injunction suit was filed in the circuit court, in which H. W. Spaulding, F. E. Spaulding and E. H. Spaulding, partners, doing business as the Spaulding Manufacturing Co., of Grinnell, Iowa, are plaintiffs, and W. H. Cooper, E. E. Tyler, M. R. Haenkratt and John Doe are made defendants. This suit grew out of the cases wherein John Martin and Ira O. Smith were arrested and charged with peddling buggies without having obtained a county license. Martin was bound over to the grand jury and there is a case pending against Smith. This is only a temporary injunction, which will be argued at the November term of the circuit court before Judge Burnett.

On Sunday C. A. Dolan, of the Herald, drove to Nehalem in a buggy procured from the stables of W. H. Easter. Miss Edna Garfield and Miss Ellen Bibby accompanied him. In making a start for home in the afternoon Dolan took the wrong road, driving up by Klimes. In doing so, the buggy was nearly turned over and the two females jumped out. After making the turn Dolan fell out and the team ran away, coming down the grade at a break neck speed, and after reaching the trundle walk they plunged over, one horse being buried in the soft earth and the other horse on top of it. The buggy stood straight up in the air upon its pole until it toppled over. As a result of the accident Dolan had several ribs cracked, one horse is dead, the other injured, and the buggy slightly damaged.

IRA LATIMER IS SHOT.

While Hunting with William Martin at Netarts.
 Ira Latimer, who was camped with his wife and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Young, of Hillsboro, at Happy Camp, Netarts, met with a bad accident on Wednesday, which might have proved fatal. He was hunting in the hill not far from camp with William Martin, of Hillsboro, who is well known in Tillamook and a crack shot, having resided in this city some years ago. They were in the brush not far apart, and had been shooting quail. Latimer stooped to find a bird in the brush, and while doing so another bird flew up, which Martin shot at with his 20-gauge shot gun, not noticing that Latimer was in the back ground, having straightened up and was in direct line of fire only thirty yards away. The volley of small shot, No. 7, entered Latimer's chest and a few scattered to his face, but in all about 60 shots punctured the flesh. Latimer was greatly scared after being shot, and as the accident took place on the side hill not far from Happy Camp he ran to the camp as quickly as possible. Although he is badly peppered with shot about the chest, the wounds from which bled profusely, it is thought that he will pull through without any serious results. Dr. Boals went over to Netarts with John Latimer as soon as word of the accident reached this city and the doctor removed some of the shot. Latimer will be kept at Netarts for a day or so and will then be brought to his home in this city.

On Monday, in the United States court at Portland, a number of alleged land fraud cases were dismissed, including the celebrated Tillamook case, and notwithstanding that F. J. Heney knew that the law of limitation applied to this case when the grand jury investigated it, he had a number of Tillamook people indicted, which goes to prove that Heney was somewhat of a bluffer as a public prosecutor.

After reading a letter from Heney, in which the graft prosecutor confessed that he believed the alleged conspiracy was barred under the statute of limitations at the time the indictment was returned, Mr. Becker caused the dismissal of the indictment in which Claude Thayer and others were charged with a conspiracy to acquire several thousand acres of Tillamook County timber lands fraudulently. Mr. Heney directed this disposition of the indictment. Aside from Thayer, the other defendants included in the indictment were: Clark E. Hadley, Maurice Leach, Walter J. Smith (now deceased), Thomas Coates, John Tuttle and G. O. Nolan.

The dismissal of this particular indictment, which, confessedly admitted by Heney was reported in face of the fact that the statute of limitations had run against the offense, recalls that when prosecuting the John H. Hall case, Heney dragged this alleged conspiracy into the evidence offered against Hall as showing other unlawful transactions with which Hall was said to have been associated. Heney also referred to the Tillamook case when he tried to besmirch Senator Fulton's character in one of the Portland churches.

A RETORT.

Will Ride the Jack Ass, as Well, if He'll Show Up.

[TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.]
 N. J. Myers has had an interesting time trying to break Oak Nolan's little rabbit of a horse. Tuesday last his theatre was the street and vacant lots opposite the Stephens and Haenkratt houses. The windows were occupied both morning and afternoon watching N. J. trying to conquer a pony that he could almost put in his pocket. Tuesday's honors were with the pony, two fair throws, one owing to a broken stirrup leather, in favor of the bronco.—Herald.

DEAR SIR,—I broke Oak Nolan's "rat" to ride. I was paid $5 for the job. I can ride the jack ass that wrote the above piece for less money, if he will only show up.

Word of Advice to Property Owners and Farmers.

To avoid destruction of property and the loss of life, or a repetition of the forest fires of a few years ago, it is imperative that more precautions should be taken in setting out fire. Everybody who have property should be on the alert during the dry season, for it would be the settlers, not the campers and hunters, who would suffer if a fire had to sweep through the county. The Editor,

FOR ASTORIA ELECTRIC RAILROAD.

Mayor Johnson's Reply and Answer to the Same.

Mayor S. S. Johnson, in reply to the communication he received last week in regard to obtaining rights of way for the proposed electric line from Astoria to Tillamook, sent the following letter to Mr. John H. Whyte, manager Chamber of Commerce, Astoria, Ore.:

DEAR SIR,—I have just received your communication of the 25th inst. and have referred the same to prominent citizens here. The newspapers will also give the proposition wide advertisement.

I have grave fears that just now is a very unfavorable time to obtain subscriptions to your project, for the reason that our people are already tied up with the P. R. & N. Co. on a $20,000 subscription, which, however, is conditional upon the company's doing certain things apparently impossible of accomplishment.

We (Astoria and Tillamook) have made grievous error in failing to take up the matter of an electric road long before this date. The scheme has been feasible for many years and could have been consummated with local capital.

One of the conditions of the subscriptions to the P. R. & N. Co. is that the company construct ten miles of road out of Tillamook to be completed by Feb. 1st next. If this is not done, the subscribers are released, and upon that contingency you would find that our citizens would take extraordinary interest in the building of your proposed road. But until this company has forfeited its subscription contract, you naturally will find our people careful about additional subscriptions.

Yours very truly,
 SIDNEY S. JOHNSON.

Astoria, Ore., Aug. 3, 1908.
 Mr. Sidney S. Johnson, Mayor, Tillamook, Ore.

DEAR SIR,—Replying to yours of July 27th, we carefully note the contents of your letter and would say that our surveying here will soon be completed to Seaside, and we have the promise of the promoters that they will begin construction almost immediately after the surveying and right of way are finished.

It they are able to make good their plans it would seem they ought to be carrying forward construction work within sixty days at the furthest.

I trust that you will carefully watch us and if we begin construction this fall as outlined, that you will then do all you can to hasten forward the survey from Tillamook to Seaside.

We are holding our right-of-way in our possession for three years and if your people will make the survey and hold your right-of-way for three years along with ours, I feel very confident that we will put the road all the way through. If you were ready to begin the survey now the same organized force that is doing the work here could continue on from Elk Creek. I feel personally very confident that we will be able to construct our electric railroad as planned without any delay.

Yours very truly,
 J. H. WHYTE.

Ashton-Branscombe-Coy.

On Monday, August 10th, this clever company will open an engagement of one week, changing the bill nightly, playing only up to date bills such as "Hearts of Gold," "Sapho," "The Sheriff," "David Garrick," "Turn of the Dice," etc. The company is headed by Miss Lily Branscombe, one of the most versatile leading ladies now touring America. She will be ably supported by Mr. Herbert Ashton, an actor of great ability, and other well known players.

They have just closed a special five weeks season in Astoria, thirty weeks in Vancouver, and Miss Branscombe and Mr. Ashton hold the record for ninety six weeks stock in Portland at the Lyric theatre. Every play will be dressed magnificently and correctly, and the theatre going public of Tillamook will be sure of a dramatic treat which they doubtless will appreciate.
