The first instance was so early in my life that I do not recall it, but my father relates the circumstances. One summer was in Brooklyn, and we were going for the summer to Greenfield, Conn. I was so young that I would describe so accurately the appearance and manner of my uncles, who were instantly recognized by my uncles' birth in many instances.

A WARSHIP TEST.

The Unexpected Beat to General Quarters at Midnight.

The ship is lying at anchor in a distant port. It is night, and nothing is heard but the tramp of the sentry on the forecabin and the ripple of water at the gangway.

Only the officer of the deck, the quartermaster and the guard are awake. The entire crew are below decks and dreaming in their hammocks.

The cabin door opens and the captain steps forth softly, fully dressed and wearing his sword and revolver. He speaks in a low tone to the officer of the deck, who sends an orderly forward with a message. In a moment the orderly returns, bringing with him the drummer, who stands silently at the mast, drumsticks in hand, watching the commander.

"Eight bells"—midnight—is struck. At a silent signal from the commanding officer the drummer poises his sticks an instant, then sounds the long roll, or "alarm," which is at once followed by the quick beat to "general quarters."

Instantly the scene changes to one of apparently the utmost confusion. Four hundred men leap from their hammocks. Passing a few turns of the lashings around them, they throw them into their "settees," then spring to their stations at the batteries and cast loose the guns.

A moment more and a bright flash and roar from the forecabin pivot gun bursts upon the stillness and gloom of the night, followed quickly by the broadside battery.

Each gun is fired once, a blank charge, but enough to show that the gun is in good order and ready for service. As suddenly the pandemonium subsides. Confusion gives place to silence and order and not a sound is heard but the battle lanterns flashing along the crowded deck reveal the well drilled plined crew standing at their quarters, every man equipped with cutlars and pistol, silent and alert. Sponges, rammers, supply boxes and battle axes litter the deck; everything is provided and ready as for action, while the captain, accompanied by the executive officer (the first lieutenant), with an orderly bearing a lantern, makes a thorough inspection fore and aft and below, including the powder division magazines and shell rooms, to see that nothing is lacking which would be required in real action.

At the touch of the drum the ship has been changed from deathlike stillness to readiness for battle, every officer and man at his station, armed, silent, expectant and all in less than three minutes!—Chicago News.

Cause of Giantism.

A learned Italian doctor says that giantism is a morbid process, a disease due to an enlargement of a part of the brain which is endowed with growth-regulating functions. When that part of the brain enlarged, the limbs grew to an abnormal extent and other physical changes occurred, the excess of growth being chiefly in the lower jaw, the arms and legs. No giant ever attains length of days. The average life is only a fraction over twenty years. Ireland has produced at least four giants—McGrath, born in Tipperary in 1736 he was seven feet five inches in height; Malone, seven feet six inches; Murphy, seven feet three inches, and Charles Byrne, seven feet six inches. None of them ever reached great mental development.

Old Dances in Old Times.

In Edward Scott's "Dancing in All Ages" are some curious details about the dances of old England. "Jolly Dance" in Mr. Scott's definition, for before it was ended each lady had kissed all the gentlemen twice, and each man had been equally enterprising. Mary Stuart danced the "Volta," though "not so high and so disposedly" as Elizabeth. In King Charles' time people danced "Trenchmore," the "Cushion Dance," "Omnium Gatherum" and "Hoite cum Toite."

The Meaning of "Muff."

The record of the fact that muffs were once worn by more men than women in Paris suggests the old ingenious definition of a muff as "a soft thing that holds a lady's hand without squeezing it." "Muff" appears to have come to us from German, in which language, curiously, "muff" means not only a hand warmer, but also a sulky person or a growling dog. These seem, however, to be two different words. Was our own metaphorical "muff" an allusion to the inefficiency of muff wearers or simply an intimation that the person was distinctly "soft?"—London Chronicle.

True to the Adage.

"My son, my son!" exclaimed the dismayed mother as she saw all her boy's belongings stacked in a corner of the closet. "Haven't I tried over and over to teach you that you should have a place for everything?"

"Yes," said the son cheerfully, "and this is the place."—Chicago News.

Fame.

"Who was James Boswell?" asked the teacher of the class in English literature. "He was Dr. Samuel Johnson's press agent," answered the young man with the bad eye.—Chicago Tribune.

How Much do you Owe?

After six months the support which the West Side Enterprise has been given by the merchants of Independence may reasonably be presumed to have been well tested. The publisher does not make this statement with any feeling of harshness, but rather as a matter upon which all may ponder. There are a few merchants of this city who have kept their skirts clean of the Enterprise and some who have done less than a dollar's worth of advertising. There are fourteen business men and professions of Independence that have not given five cents in advertising to the West Side Enterprise. It is true, this paper is not going to complain, but it does take credit for misplaced confidence in the community.

Meier & Frank do a $1,500,000 business annually. They devote 2 per cent of this to advertising. $30,000 is spent with the newspapers alone. They invest in no wildcat schemes. This fortune of $30,000 is divided up with the Oregonian, Telegram and Journal.

How about your advertising? Have you figured how much you owe to newspaper advertising? You do $50,000 a year, you owe $83 a month; you do $5000 a year, you owe $83.35 a month. How many of you do less than $5000 a year?—West Side Enterprise.

If You Read This

It will be learned that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their results, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied by indigestion. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above named ailments, and by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley of the Univ. of Mich.; Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D. of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D. of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Fisher, M. D., of Haskemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of other equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any professional endorsement worth more than any humbug or ordinary test. Open publicity of its merits is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable. A booklet of extracts from eminent, medical authorities, endorsing "Golden Medical Discovery" is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NOTICE OF SCHOOL INDEMNITY SELECTION.

United States Land Office, Portland, Oregon, June 23rd, 1908. Notice is hereby given that the State of Oregon, on June 23rd, 1908, applied for the N 1/4 of Sec 14 and S 1/4 of Sec 14 of section 15, T. 1 S., R. 1 W., and filed in this office a list of School Indemnity Selections in which it selected said land; and that said list is open to the public for inspection.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described land, or any legal subdivision thereof, or claiming the same under the mining laws, or desiring to show said land to be more valuable for mineral than for agricultural purposes, or to object to said selection for any legal reason, should file their claims or their affidavits of protest or contest in this office.

I hereby designate the Tillamook Headlight, printed at Tillamook, Ore., as the paper in which the above notice is to be published.

CONTEST NOTICE. Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office, Portland, Ore., July 15th, 1908.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by GEORGE VANDERBEEK, contestant, against the homestead entry, No. 4142, made June 19, 1908, for SW 1/4 NE 1/4, N 1/2 Sec 14 and SW 1/4 Sec 14, section 15, township 3 S., range 1 W., by THOMAS C. KING, contestee, in which it is alleged that he is well acquainted with the tract of land embraced in the homestead entry and knows the present condition of the same; also that the said Thomas C. King filed near Salem, Oregon, on or about March, 1904; that said Thomas C. King, according to the best knowledge and belief of contestant, was at the time of his death, a single man, and that he has no knowledge of such heirs, except that he has been informed that at the time of the death of said King two or three brothers survived him, and that said brothers resided in some of the southern states, but said fact has not been able to learn by either of the names of said brothers, nor of their residence or post office address, that between the time of making said entry and the time of the death of said King, and said King did not cultivate or improve said lands according to the law and that since his said death up to the present time, the heirs of said King have not in anywise resided upon, cultivated or improved the said lands, or any part thereof to any extent whatever; and that to the best knowledge and belief of contestant said alleged absence from the said land was not due to his or their being employed in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States as a private soldier, officer, seaman or marine, during the war with Spain, or any other war in which the United States may be engaged.
