Interesting Scraps.

A contemporary says Bryan follows Taft and answers him. Not at all; Bryan just follows Taft and talks.

A writer on art declares that airships are lacking in lines of beauty. Be patient; at present, handsome is as handsome does.

Col. Bryan is the father of all of the issues of the day, but he has for saken each of them at the first convenient opportunity.

A Virginia Democrat says: "We expect to give Bryan a majority and hope to get rid of him this time." A landslide against Bryan would cause no distress in the Southern States.

In mailing a package to a domestic post office it takes a third more cash to pay postage than if the package is mailed to England or Ecuador. This is one of the matters in which Congress is asleep and snoring.

A writer asserts that Europe could land an army on our coast more quickly than we could assemble a like force at the same point. But what would happen to the invaders? The statement is valuable in suggesting the speed with which foreign goods could be poured into this country if Bryan and his free trader let down the bars.

Two cents postage now carries an ounce letter to England. But an American becomes thoughtful when he finds he can send a parcel to many foreign countries for 12 cents a pound when the charge is 16 cents a pound between any two domestic offices. Congress ought to let the people of the United States know the reason for this singular arrangement.

Secretary Wilson says that hereafter eggs sold as "fresh" or "strictly fresh" must be exactly what they are represented to be. Storage eggs must be sold as such, or under the pure food law the dealer is liable to a fine of $500 or six months' imprisonment, or both. Thousands of people do not know how a "strictly fresh" egg tastes. This will give them a chance to find out.

In 1852 two rabbits were imported into Australia. Their descendants in that continent now number billions and are a great pest. Five rabbits eat as much grass as one sheep. From 1878 to 1888 the Australian Government paid $5,888,014 as bounty for the noxious animals, at the rate of 25 cents each, and from 1883 to 1886 $2,200,000 for the same purpose. For some years the rabbits died by millions, owing to the drought, but since 1904, with the rainy season increasing, they have again come into notice and bid fair to become as great pests as in the past.

History has presented few examples of greater heroism than that of Mrs. S. J. Kooke, the telephone operator of Folsom, N.M., who when warned by a resident of the hills to flee for her life from the flood speeding to engulf the valley, rejected the opportunity to save herself and employed the hour that intervened between the warning received and her own death by drowning in calling up subscribers by telephone and acquainting them of their danger. More than forty families have already acknowledged their lives saved through the magnificent courage of one frail woman, whose lifeless body, with the telephone headpiece still adjusted to her ears, was found twelve miles down the canyon.

An irrepressible conflict was the subject of an address delivered by Governor I. Frank Hanly, of Indiana, before a large and enthusiastic audience at Pueblo, Colo. Numerous times during the address the audience broke out in enthusiastic applause. The speaker attacked the existence of the saloon and its evils and told of the passage and enforcement of prohibition laws in his state. "Today the saloon knows no law, human or divine," he said. "It is desperately preparing for anything in many states. Today it is preparing for the conflict of righteousness against unrighteousness, the impact of which will shake the nation. But liquor interests is but naming its Waterloo when it seeks to administer government."

A large part of the West has now seen Messrs. Taft and Bryan face to face, has heard each of them expound the principal things set forth in their respective platforms, has had an opportunity to study the qualifications of each for the office to which he aspires, and ought to be in a position to make an intelligent choice between them. It must be conceded by the Democrats that the regard for Mr. Taft increases on close acquaintance, while we have Mr. Bryan's own word for it in 1896 and 1900 that acquaintance has been rather injurious in this case. The Republican candidate has made new friends in every town in which he has appeared. His sincerity, his training for the duties of the post to which he aspires, and his balance are evident to everybody who has studied his career, and who has taken advantage of the opportunity to meet him. He is materially stronger to-day than he was two weeks ago.

Eggs is Eggs.

Let us sing the praise of the Great American Hen, who, during the past year, may well have cackled with pride over the production of nearly one billion three hundred million dozens of eggs! Do you realize what that means? Well, listen:

If, instead of remaining quietly at home in Iowa, she had chosen to demonstrate her powers to the universe at large, the hen might have laid those eggs, each two inches long, end to end, in a continuous chain reaching 238,518 miles up to the moon, back again, and then more than half way around the world for good measure—a total of 492,424 miles of eggs! Furthermore, if those eggs had been made into one omelet half an inch thick, that omelet would easily have covered Manhattan Island, an area of twenty-two square miles!

An old Mohammedan legend tells that King Solomon used to travel through the air with all his armies on a wonderful flying carpet, protected from the rays of the sun by the wings of a host of birds. Now, according to the poultry census, there are in the United States about two hundred and eighty millions of chickens, guinea fowls, turkeys, geese and ducks of the poultry voting age, which is three months or over. If required to furnish a moving canopy like that of King Solomon, the barn-yard fowls of this country, allowing only a foot of spread to each could easily shadow a space of ten square miles—Arthur Guiterman in October Woman's Home Companion.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday, October 19, 1908, the County Board of Equalization will meet at the Court House in Tillamook County, Oregon, and publicly examine the assessment roll for said year, and correct all errors in valuations, descriptions of land and other property. Said board will continue in session from day to day, until the examination, correction and equalization of the assessment roll shall be completed. All persons interested in the assessment of their property are requested to appear at said time and place.

Dated at Tillamook, Ore., Sept. 21st, 1908.
A. M. HARE,
County Assessor.

ANDREW SCHENCK.

President of the Germania Fire Insurance Co., Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for over a year, and can say that it has never failed to cure the most stubborn cough or cold. I can recommend it to any family as a sure and safe children's cough remedy.—ANDREW SCHENCK, Ayton, Ont. This remedy is for sale by all Druggists.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N.Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me more than five hundred dollars worth. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c. at Chas. I. Clough's drug store.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all Druggists.

Fifty Years a Blacksmith.

Samuel R. Worley, of Hixburgh, Va., has been shoeing horses for more than fifty years. He says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm has given me great relief from lame back and rheumatism. It is the best liniment I ever used." For sale by all Druggists.

'Socialist' Huff Has the Floor.

[TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.]
DEAR SIR,—Again you have missed the Socialist view point and by attacking the man tried to draw attention from the principle.

Yes, I am "Populist" Huff, who "used" to run for office in Tillamook. Perhaps I may have changed some of my opinions since I left there. I have always said, and say now, that I have not a single opinion that I would not gladly exchange for a better and truer one.

But I do not wish to discuss Huff nor any one else. What I wish to do is to reply to your assumption that because some of the beliefs of some Populists are dead issues that Socialism will soon die also.

Now, forget, if you can that Populist Huff ever existed. Or if you can't forget him just remember that he is dead (politically) and spread the mantle of silence over his remains and attend strictly to the subject.

Socialism is an international movement with a voting strength of between eighteen and twenty millions. All these millions base their beliefs on what to them seems to be universal truths.

I will now briefly illustrate and state these premises and would respectfully request that the editor point out any error in the premises or in the deductions we draw from them.

It is not necessary to assume that the Editor of the Headlight has a high ideal of civic virtue, for we who have followed his fight for morality and decency have his record in the files of his paper. His only fault (a very common one) lies in being a hero worshipper, which sometimes causes him lose sight of principles and see only men.

In analyzing any effect we first look for a cause. Having found a uniform cause we can predict uniform effects. Then can we find a uniform cause, or motive for crime and corruption? Let me repeat. Can all crime and corruption be traced to a single original source? Is this fundamental source of corruption and crime universal or merely local? If we find it to be without exceptions, then knowing the cause of crime and corruption we know that we have but to remove the cause to destroy the effect.

Let us compare the publicly owned postal system with the privately owned express systems. Did anyone ever hear of the postal system bribing Congress to obtain favorable laws? Or is anyone so ignorant that he does not know that the privately owned express companies keep a well paid lobby at Washington with an immense corruption fund to buy favorable laws?

Do our public highways ever corrupt our legislatures or our courts? Will any intelligent man deny that the privately owned railways spend millions for the corruption of both our legislatures and our courts?

Does anyone know of an instance where a fund has been set aside from our public school fund to purchase favorable legislation? On the other hand, had the oil industry been publicly owned could such scandals as those in which Foraker and Haskell are implicated have occurred?

The Socialist contention is this. All crimes are committed for private gain. Public utilities are always just. They may be grafted for private gain, but they never graft.

And since crimes are invariably for private gain and since public utilities, while they are often grafted upon never graft. Privately owned corporations should be abolished and public utilities instituted in their stead.

This is the Socialist slogan, "Whatever is used collectively ought to be owned collectively, whatever is used individually must be owned individually."

In conclusion, for the benefit of any who wish to test the truth of the above, let me say that crimes may be divided into two general classes, those against property and those against persons. These may be further subdivided to suit the convenience of the investigator. It is the second group that will give most trouble to the student. Let me caution the investigator against laying the blame on the "cussedness" of man but to look for the cause of that "cussedness."

Had a Close Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life-saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world wide. Sold at Chas. I. Clough's drug store, 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
