C.L.S. E.L.S. Editors: Mabel Edmunds, Era Wheeler, Assistants: Albert Bramwell, Mary Goldsworthy, Lynn Eberman, Mabel Gojne, Goodspeed.

schools enjoyed three days vacation last week because of the teachers' meeting.

Some of the books which were sent to be rebound have been returned, looking fresh and nice again.

Reichen thinks that Mr. Cole had no idea that the albatross was a sea bird as himself.

Allen—My mission is saving girls. H. H.—Save a couple for me.

Coming to the institute and the constant short school work, the Bugle did not appear last week.

Prof. Travers, of Salem, who was here on the institute conductors, visited the schools Tuesday of last week.

Grace Sappington, physician, specializing in all diseases of the heart. For recommendation see Lillian Anderson.

Question—What does "Between two answers—" "Fatty."

Willa Miles started home Monday afternoon and spent the vacation there.

Some were all glad to see Elsie Lamb in school, Specially Clarence.

Miss Austin went home last Tuesday morning, where she spent her vacation.

The following H.S. students attended institute: Eliza Dawson, Fay Burke, Mabel Gojne, Elsie Lamb, Mabel Olson, Nellie Hannekrat, Evan and Violet Noyes.

The T.H.S. team have been challenged to a game on Thanksgiving by the River team, but they will out for us 10 or 15 lbs. to the man and the game will not be accepted.

The boys are thinking of getting up a play to play on that date, but it is a sure thing as yet. We will get a challenge from O.A.C. when we hear what a game we put up.

Edmunds had a hair raising experience Tuesday afternoon after recess.

Miss Ida Gojne, a graduate of the class of '07 of the T.H.S., has recently been elected editor of the senior class at mouth. We are glad to note that graduates of our school compare favorably with the graduates of other schools.

Tuesday, November 10, '08 there was a very pretty wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Brown, where Miss Edna Alderman, graduate of the T.H.S., of '07, was married to Mr. Fred Poorman, of Woodville, Ore. The rooms were very tastefully decorated with ferns and some beautiful chrysanthemums given by the groom's father. Herding attire was very becoming and carried a very beautiful bunch of carnations. The bride and groom looked very happy and handsome. The congratulations were extended to the happy couple the party assembled in the dining room, where an excellent dinner awaited them. The wedding was delicious and the dinner as a whole was very fine. In the evening a card came and charivariied them and treated to fruit and cake. There is well known here and the groom is son of Colonel Poorman, a banker in Woodlawn. We all extend our sincere wishes for a happy married life.

Some are all glad to see Olive's smiling back again, and wish she was in school again. But we guess she don't attend—

Ralph Him s, a girl. Lynn Eberman, a "good cause." Mr. Reichen, his patience returned. 9th and 10th grades, more freedom. Everybody, some more good than other.

The writer wishes to thank Prof. Goldsworthy, formerly principal of Prescott schools and now of Tillamook, Ore., for several copies of the Bugle Call, a neat, four page paper read by the scholars of the high school at city. It is a creditable looking sheet and gives a good idea of school life in the far away western city. In letters received by Prescott, Prof. Goldsworthy expresses himself as being well pleased with the western country and his new field of work.—Tribune, Prescott, Wis.

Some drawing instruments have arrived for auction in mechanical drawing. They will be organized immediately, beginning made toward work in manual training. This is a proper move and credit is due the Board for taking toward a most important feature of western school work. Tillamook is destined to be the most important city of Western Oregon, at least west of the Cascades, and she should keep to the front in school progress.

The Ciceronian Society have a very fine poster for this program, consisting of a large turkey standing by a chopping block with a hatch standing against it. The turkey has his last will and testament in his bill which is signed by Turk E. Gubler. The program will be given Friday, 20th.

Mr. Reichen has been taking lessons in manual training. He also believes in physical culture.

Mr. Reichen lowered Mr. Easter's standing last Tuesday.

SLOOP CONDOR ON TILLAMOOK RUN.

Speedy Craft Will Compete With the Sue H. Elmore—Test Shipment Made.

While southbound from Portland for points on Yaquina Bay, the gasoline sloop Condor, Captain Jones, will make regular calls at Tillamook, Bay City and Hobsonville. In this way she will be brought in direct competition with the steamer Sue H. Elmore, which has been on the Tillamook run from Astoria for years.

In the Spring it is likely the Condor will also stop at the several points on Tillamook bay while she is returning to Portland from Newport. Then, it is stated, considerable freight may be picked up for shipment out of there. At this time of year there is but little commerce from that point. But from April until well along in the Fall great quantities of dairy products are shipped from that section.

The Condor arrived from Newport Saturday afternoon with a consignment of salted salmon, chittam bark and a small assortment of general freight. She will begin loading this afternoon for the outward trip. Much of the general merchandise going out on her will be taken to Tillamook. She will go out loaded to capacity.

More as an experiment than anything else, a small shipment of goods was sent on the Condor to Tillamook on her last trip from here. Well pleased with the new transportation service, it is said, the merchants down that way intend to give the craft much of their patronage.

Like most of the other coasters the Condor was storm bound at Astoria on her last trip for several days. For similar cause she was held up at Tillamook a short period. Aside from these delays the craft completed a fair round trip. It is said that she is one of the best sea boats of her size on the coast.—Telegram.

SANDLAKE.

J. W. B. Edwards came in from Dundee, Thursday, and we were all glad to see him back once more, but Boley, poor fellow, stayed away to long that another fellow got away with his girl. Never mind Boley we think you can get Ella.

Miss Grace Spaulding attended the teachers' institute at Tillamook last week.

Eugene Atkinson was teaching his son how to ride a horse Sunday.

Ira Diamond will soon have his saw mill in running order again.

Miss Myrtle Owens, who has been visiting in Tillamook for the past week, returned home Sunday.

Will Galloway rode a horse Sunday that got tired in the mud Friday night. But we are all pretty sure he won't lose his girl.

We understand that Joe Finigan has gone to the valley to visit with his sister—it pays to advertise.

A BIG BLAZE EARLY SUNDAY MORNING.

Entire Business Section of City Had a Close Call—Loss Over $15,000.

FIRE BOYS SAVED CITY.

Origin of Fire Unknown—Supposition is that Drunken Men were the Cause of It.

The fire fiend came near wiping out the business portion of Tillamook City on Sunday morning and a great deal of praise is due the Tillamook Hose Company for its excellent work in confining the fire to the locality where it originated. It was about 5:30 o'clock when the fire bell was sounded, and the ringing being kept up so long that it was not long before nearly the whole population of the city were aroused and on the tramp to the scene of the conflagration, which was on Main street and what is known as the Olsen building. Mrs. Sturgeon was the first to discover the fire, which appeared to her to be a small blaze outside at the rear end of the bakery. She went and called her grandson to ring the fire bell and raised the alarm as loud a she could. About this time Mr. S. Vierick came down to the bakery to go to work, and seeing the fire raised an alarm. Henry Wist jumped from the hotel porch and rang the fire bell. When the hose company arrived at the scene the fire had taken well hold of the rear end of the building, and it was here where the boys commenced a desperate fight to save the burning building and adjacent property. In a very few minutes the fire leaped through the bakery and it was not long after the whole building was burning fiercely, and sparks dropping on the roofs in every direction. The heat was so intense that the Tillamook Hotel and Clough's drug store came in for most of the heat, and they were only saved by keeping a constant stream of water on them. The roof of the hotel caught fire once, and the heat was so intense that it destroyed the windows in the drug store and the hotel, as well as singeing the buildings badly. The fire spread to the residence at the north, but the firemen succeeded in stopping it here after part of the roof had been burned. Rees & Bailes restaurant, next to the Olsen building, then caught fire, and it looked as though nothing could stop the fire from licking up the remaining buildings in the block. The roof on Edmunds' store was seen to be on fire, and with the report that the roofs of Case's machine shop, the opera house, Brown's shoe store and the Sturgeon building were on fire, quite a number of persons thought that the city was doomed. Nothing daunted the fire boys, assisted by a large number of willing hands, battled with the situation, their greatest difficulty being to stop the fire on the east at the restaurant, which they succeeded in doing, and with fire on the roof of Edmunds' store subdued, and on other roofs as well, the spectators took heart when they saw that the boys had the fire under control and confined to the Olsen building and the two buildings on the north and east, when it was only a question of a few more hours before the fire was all out. It took a great deal of watching to keep fire from breaking out on the roofs of buildings, for the sparks fell quite thick when the fire was at its height, even the telephone poles on the opposite side of the street took fire. The loss will amount to over $15,000. Everything in the Olsen building was completely destroyed, with the building, which belonged to O. E. Wilson, of Portland, and was valued at $4,000. F. L. Sappington's grocery store $5,000, with $2,000 insurance; S. Vierick's Bakery, with fixtures $1,000 with no insurance; Falmage & Johnson, attorneys, $2,000; Dr. R. T. Boals, who had just installed a new X Ray machine, $1,500, with $500 insurance. Sam Down's building and the restaurant about $350 loss; C. I. Clough, $200; Tillamook Hotel, $150, P. W. Todd had one plate glass window broken by the heat, and the White Corner had several windows broken from the same cause, Mrs. Sturgeon and P. F. Brown sustained some loss by their stocks of goods being hurriedly removed, and the roof on the private residence in the rear will have to be re-shingled.

The Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star had their lodge room in the building and they lost everything. The dentist outfit which belonged to Dr. Kelsey, and which was under attachment, was also destroyed. There are two versions as to where the fire originated, one that it was on the second floor, while a large number believe that it originated on the outside in the rear of the bakery, and this appears to be borne out by Mrs. Sturgeon who first saw the fire and those who first went to the rear of building, and as men had been passing down the alley at all hours of the night, the best solution is that while carousing at the back of the building a match or cigarette was thrown into the rubbish and it took fire later. The idea that the fire was incendiary can hardly be relied upon, only that Mrs. Sturgeon saw the fire shoot up as though coal oil had been used. There was no fire in the stove when the Eastern Star adjourned between eleven and twelve o'clock the previous night, and there had been no fire in the oven at the bakery since four o'clock the previous afternoon.
