Judge Burnett has dismissed the case of N. P. Hansen vs. Louis Fleck, Eloy Fleck, John Fleck and Jefferson Fleck, which was tried at the last term of the circuit court, the costs falling on plaintiff.

The officers installed at the Tillamook Lodge, No. 57, A. F. & A.M. on Saturday were: Frank Severance, W.M.; P. W. Todd, senior warden; W. Newcomb, junior warden; T. Coates, treasurer; E. Harrison, secretary.

At the special meeting of the school district on Monday, a tax of 8 mills was levied for school purposes and to pay some of the bonded indebtedness of the district. This is more than last year, when the levy was 6 6-10ths mills.

Christmas day was rough, with a heavy rain storm, which kept people at home most of the day. The steamer Sue H Elmore came back to the city, bringing the passengers with her. She left again on Sunday and was bar bound in the bay until Wednesday.

While blowing out a log on Tuesday on the lumber company's land it flew all to pieces and several big chunks flew up into the air and one piece crashed through the roof of the post office, and fortunately no one was injured. Postmaster Severance thought that was a new way of delivering wood.

Judge G. H Burnett took two divorce cases under advisement from the November term of the Circuit Court, and he has rendered decisions in each, granting decrees in the cases of David P. McKinney vs. Elizabeth McKinney and Joseph L. Johnson vs. Cecil S. Johnson, which dissolves the marriage contract of these mismated couples.

Mrs. Svetlana S. Phelps came in from Portland on the 19th December, bringing with her a gentleman to show him land at Netarts. The place looked good to him and Mrs. Phelps sold him about 25 acres of her land at Fall Creek, adjoining Happy Camp, the consideration being between $5,000 and $6,000. It did not take Mrs. Phelps long to close the deal for she only stayed over one day, returning to Portland on the 21st.

The officers installed at the Eastern Star lodge on Saturday were: W.M., Amanda Haberlach; W.P., W. H. Cooper; A.M., Olive Todd; secretary, Henry Morris; treasurer, Anna Nolan; Cond., Annetta Mason; A. Cond., Lillian Groat; Adah, Edna Lamb; Ruth, Belle Handley; Esther, Rose Clough; Martha, Harriet Sarchet; Electa, Lulu Crenshaw; Warder, Lavina Coates; sentinel, Carl Haberlach; chaplain, Maude Botts; organist, Flora Patzlaf.

Mr. Martin, the representative of the U.S. Life Saving Department, who is here for the purpose of negotiating the construction of a telephone line between the Tillamook life saving station and the town of Garibaldi, yesterday closed a contract with Broughton & Wiggins, of Portland, for the 80 fine cedar poles necessary in the work, and they will be sent down here at once and will go forward to destination on the steamer Argo on her next trip to those waters. He secured the bunch, plus freight to this point, at about $165.—Astorian.

Jack Robinson met with a serious accident on Tuesday while working for Rudolph Kunze, who is putting piling into the Wilson river for the railroad. The hauling line caught him round the waist and threw him about fifty feet, and he landed in a mud hole and his head struck some hard substance. He was rendered unconscious, and when found by Doc Walling was bleeding at the mouth and nose. At first it was though that Robinson would not pull through, who is bruised up considerably, but Dr. Boals is of the opinion that he will be all right in a week or so.

We regret to announce the death of Floyd Commons in Portland on Sunday, Dec. 20. His mother and father have both been with him since Thanksgiving. He was born at Oretown May 8, 1890, and lived here continually until last fall, when he was taken to Portland for treatment. Monday afternoon he was buried in Portland besides his brothers and sister. The news of his death cast a shadow of gloom over the entire neighborhood, which will be slow to dispel. Loved by all who knew him, he is mourned by all. The deepest sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved parents, who have now to rest three sons and two daughters.—Courier.

There was only one Christmas bride in Tillamook this year, and the parties to that happy event, which took place at high noon, were Mr. Rudolph Kunze and Miss Anna B. Van Patten, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Van Patten. There was a large number of relatives and friends present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. D. L. Shrode, who extended their congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple. They are both well known and respected by a number of friends, the groom being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kunze. The wedding guests partook of a sumptuous marriage feast with the happy couple, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kunze were the recipients of a number of presents.

An effort is now on foot to extend the route of the steamer Argo to points on the Siuslaw and Umpqua rivers. Owners of the vessel, now operating between Portland and Tillamook, have been approached by a number of business men in Portland, with a view of putting Portland merchants in closer touch with the dealers at those places by sending the steamer there on regular trips. As yet the steamship company has taken no action but probably will give a definite answer within a few days. Business of the Siuslaw and Umpqua districts has heretofore gone to San Francisco and trade which properly belongs to Portland has gone to California. With the Argo making weekly trips to these places, the business could be centered in Portland.—Oregonian.

BOOSTERS vs. KNOCKERS

Carl Haberlach Defends the Cheese Industry.

Tillamook, Ore., Dec. 30, 1908.

TO EDITOR OF TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.

Dear Sir:—There are two matters in regard to which I would like to say a few words. The first of these is the story industriously circulated by two or three men in Fairview and South Prairie in particular, to the affect that Carl Haberlach would not ship cheese on the new boat. These men know that this was not true. The last time we shipped cheese on the Elmore was on the 14th of December, some days before the Argo came on the run. Since then every box of cheese shipped by any of the factories for which I act as secretary has been shipped on the Argo. These people will not gain much by circulating stories of this kind, stories without a bit of truth in them.

The other matter I wish to mention, is the continued knocking of the quality of Tillamook cheese the Herald has been doing. That people at a great distance from Tillamook do not all take this view of the matter, we all know, and in support of this I am enclosing you a letter from Los Angeles, which please publish. The Headlight deserves praise for its attidude in this matter, for while all know that at times there is a little cheese made that is not first class, it has never yet published this broadcast throughout this broad land, but has steadfastly stood up for our products.

These articles which the Hearld continues to publish can do no harm at home, as everyone knows the reason of their continued knocking of the co-operative creameries and their product, while the product of the independent factories are lauded to the skies. But there can be no question of the fact that they are injuring us throughout the states of Oregon and Washington, in support of which I write the following.

Tillamook cheese has received a great deal of free advertising in the West, more probably, than any article of limited production in a single locality, with the probable exception of Hood River apples. Suppose for instance, that your exchange from Hood River should be belittling Hood River's principal product, how long would it be before in mentioning the products of Oregon or the West in general, that you would cease to mention Hood River apples favorably? Not very long, surely. So it is with our cheese. The Herald probably has papers with which it exchanges, and is doing a great deal of harm to Tillamook cheese. Of this there can be no question. Continued knocking of a product will in time injure its reputation. A community that does not uphold its own products can not expect other communities to speak favorably of them. Many people speak favorably of Tillamook Cheese who have never eaten any of it, just as many of us who have never eaten Hood River apples think that they are excellent, simply because we have always heard them well speken of.

The favorable advertising we have gotten for our cheese it would be hard to determine, for you can scarcely take up a paper or book dealing with the West and its products, that does not mention our cheese, and always to our credit. All this has helped us without question, and it has fired the name of Tillamook cheese, and its good reputation, on the public mind, as well as it has that of Hood River's apples or Columbia River salmon.

You will notice by the enclosed letter that the co-operative factories have shipped nearly 4,000 boxes of cheese to the Los Angeles market, and many of these were triplets. This is probably as much or more cheese than the combined output of the Hazelwood (Red Clover) and Ray factories for the same five months. On account of the distance from this county it has been found best to have representatives directly on the ground, in this city a thousand miles from here.

Since the several factories have been brought together more closely, it has been possible to market a great share of our surplus stock in this manner. In fact, had we depended upon the Portland and other home markets the past year as we have often done, cheese would have been much lower than it was the past season.

The Hearld has been soaking it to the co-operative creameries or combination creameries nearly all summer, but it has had only good to say of the independents, as it calls some others. But when called upon to show where the farmers of these independent creameries were getting better prices for their milk or butter fat, it has steadily declined to say anything.

Take the month of October for one of the medium sized factories. Clover Leaf paid its patrons $1558.08 for 109,753 lbs. of milk, charging 2 cents per lb. for making cheese. This makes an average of $1.42 per 100 lbs. of milk.

At 1¾ cents for making it would mean an average of $1.45 per 100 lbs. of milk. I venture to make the assertion that the so called independent factories do not come within from 5 to 10 cents per 100 lbs. of paying their patrons these prices for October, and a committee of farmers can make the examination to see if this is true.

CARL HABERLACH.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22, '08.

Mr. Carl Haberlach, Tillamook, Ore.

DEAR SIR,—We note from yours of the 16th that your total shipments to Los Angeles up to that day from July 6th had been 3842 cases, which you regard as a very creditable showing. By this time this amount ought to be 4000 cases. We are also much pleased with this record, considering the fact that Tillamook cheese has been on this market such a short time. 4000 cases is equal to, say, 14 steamer cars, and for five months, from July 6th to December 6th, is almost three cars per month for the Los Angeles market. With the established trade that we now have, and with the continuation of the good attention that you are giving to the business at your end of the line, and by a close watch on the quality and style of the goods, we hope that next season we can make still further inroads on the Eastern product and do a still larger business in Los Angeles.

With kindest regards, and wishing you the compliments of the season, we remain Yours very truly,

HOLMES & STOCKYARD CO.
