Editorial Snap Shots.

Boost—Don't knock—Tillamook cheese, which has made the county famous.

If the rain would get a tired feeling and quit it would make us all feel better.

To help stop the vagrancy nuisance it would be a good thing if the pool rooms were made to close up at twelve o'clock.

Everybody get into the Boosters' Band Wagon and whoop her up for a deep water harbor for the center of the county. Whoop!

The city is now paying for two peace officers—one for day work and the other for night work. It is now up to them to put a stop to violations of city ordinances, and failure to do so they should resign.

Oregon need not expect any favors from the republican administration now that it has sent a democrat to the U.S. senate to oppose the Taft administration. What fools republicans in Oregon have made of themselves riding the State ment No. 1 hobby horse.

Taxes on timber have gone skyward. Some claims will have to pay as much as $150.00 taxes this year. But most everybody would be glad of the privilege of paying that amount if they owned a few claims. This is a big jump, for last year the taxes on the same claims were only $36.

Boost for good roads. It is a sign of progress to agitate for good roads and plenty of them. So don't knock or feel because the County Court is going to raise the money to improve the public highways. Let Tillamook County become as famous for good roads as it is famous for good cheese.

We think, with our neighbors, that we have a just cause of action for a $6000 damage suit against the owners of dogs and the electric light company. Every few nights dogs will bark for hours and at six o'clock every morning the shrill whistle of the electric light plant is disturbing everybody in the neighborhood. Cut it out, boys, for it is a darned nuisance.

It wasn't proper for the snap shot man to butt in, but it seemed to us that of the marshal and special policeman, the older man should have been given the day job and the younger man the night job. But, then, we are not running the city affairs, yet it appears to us that a young, active man for night watchman would be liable to fill the position better than a person well advanced in years.

For a number of years republicans in Oregon have refused to play fair in politics and party leaders and factions have "killed" one another. This state of affairs is not likely to end soon, for the knife will again be unsheathed and used upon the State legislators who voted for Chamberlain whenever they come up for election again. So it looks as if the republican party in Oregon has become all balled up and that it is going from bad to worse. And the end is not in sight.

There appears to be a disposition amongst the members of the new city council to enforce the city ordinance. This will be watched with a good deal of interest, for it is a well known fact that the city has not collected the fines that it should have from those who have violated them. When the punishment fits the crime and the city collects a number of fines from those who are selling drink without a license, then, probably, there will be a marked improvement in the moral condition of the city.

It is their own privilege if some of our citizens want to pay outside attorneys to fight the Port of Tillamook, for attorney fees have to be paid for a living. But there is no occasion to fool away good money when, probably, the legislature will pass a bill covering the local situation and will come into effect years before the present controversy is finally disposed of in the courts, for there must be a strong Port of Tillamook if the center of the county is to have a deep water harbor.

To sum up the senatorial fight in a few words as possible it was base ingratitude on the part of a considerable number of republicans to turn down Senator C. W. Fulton, acknowledged to be the most useful and strongest member in the Oregon delegation, and then elect a democrat who is antagonistic to the republican administration and who will line up and work with the Southern democrats in the United States senate. Shame on the republican party of Oregon for such base ingratitude and unpardonable political treachery.

Mayor Coates recommended the passage of a vagrancy ordinance, to deal with a class of men who loiter about the town at all hours of the day and night without any visible means of support or definite occupation. Probably some of them have occupations bootlegging as they are too indolent to work. They are no earthly use to the city, and if proper measures had been taken before the recent fire would not have taken place, for it is generally conceded that it was the class of men whom the Mayor has in mind who caused the fire and at the same time came near putting every business man out of business.

There is a greater demand every year upon the County Court for improved roads and more bridges, and if the Court was in a position to do everything that was wanted it would require three times as much money. Every road district in the county is clamoring to have their roads improved or for opening of new ones. This we take as a most healthy sign, for it shows a spirit of progress throughout the county and the County Court is striving to meet the demands of the people for better highways and more of them when they levied 8 mills for road purposes. Good roads cannot be built on hot air, nevertheless there are those who clamor for better roads who "heat" like blazes about taxes. That is most inconsistent, for the timber owners pay 75 per cent—the assessor thinks it is a little more—of the road tax. If, under these conditions, the county fails to improve the roads the next few years, then it will be on account of those who perpetually "roast" the County Court for levying so large a sum of money for road work. The snap shot man is not in love with our present system of road building, but it is futile to argue that point now for the reason that so many men expect to get work on the roads in the county, some of who are physically unfit to do road work, hence the superiors do not get as much work done as it would from a gang of robust men specially adapted and selected for that purpose. It is the system that is wrong if the road tax is squandered, and it is up to the supervisors to insist upon a good day's work being performed. Road work needs pushing like every other line of business, yet there is a tendency with some men who work on the roads to do as little work as possible and who waste considerable time talking or discussing this or that subject. Every supervisor who has his eyes open is aware of this fact, yet they are reluctant to interfere or put a stop to it because it is their friends or neighbors. However, most all the money collected for road work goes all over the county and is put into circulation, giving quite a number of settlers a certain amount of work, and that appears to be the popular and redeeming feature of the present system of road building.

Manual training has lately been introduced into the school. The basement has been fitted up, and the work is progressing nicely. The number of boys taking the work taxes the capacity of the benches and periods at disposal. The larger part of these are from the grades below the ninth. This is the best age to begin the work, and if such students continue the course through the H.S. they will have laid a good foundation for some practical life work, such as architecture or engineering. Students are to make their own drawing boards, and as soon as completed they take up mechanical drawing. The students are taught to use the saw and plane the first of all. They are also taught to sharpen and take care of the tools in a proper fashion.

All the boys should take some interest in the manual training, and try to learn something that will be of use to them, because the tools, lumber, etc., were quite a cost to the school and Professor Goldsworthy is giving most of his spare time to instructing the boys.

The girls met at the gymnasium Monday, and practiced for the first time in basket ball. They all enjoyed it and there are some who will make fine players, with practice. The team will not be chosen until they have practiced more.

Basket ball is a good healthful exercise for girls and will be appreciated by the girls of the High School.

Albert Bramwell was greatly surprised on Tuesday morning, when he jumped off of the basement stairs, to find himself standing in 3 or 4 inches of water.

Quite a few of the High School students from the country found that the water was so high they could not get home on Tuesday night.

Mr. Reichen—"Lynn! what are you attending to?" Lynn—"Nothing." Mr. Reichen—"I think you are right."

Some of the students in the High School have been reading cheap novels. With all the good books we have in the library it is not necessary to read trash, and they are not the kind of books which will develop one's mind.

The boys have chosen their 1st, 2nd, and 3rd teams in basketball. They had a good practice on Monday evening, when Coach Holman put them through their paces.

The High School Gym. The High School, together with a "Cheese and Cracker Club," has rented the "Tyler Building" to be used for a gymnasium by the High School, and for dances and other forms of entertainments by the members of the "club."

We have only been using the hall as a gymnasium for a few nights, but it has proven to be a fine thing for the school. It is to be run in a good, clean manner, and by the interest shown it will not be long before all the High School will belong to the athletic club. We will have several forms of exercises, Indian clubs, dumb bells, basket ball and a tennis court will most likely be started later on. Girls, as well as boys, are interested in the exercises, and we will probably have a girl's team represent us

Some were glad and some were sorry to see the snow go away; we believe Baby's feelings were mixed.

Josie Davidson and Agnes Wist are taking eight grade examinations this week and will commence school in the High School next Monday.

Of late Carrie is singing Santiago Flynn.

Miss Eva Wolfe is back with us again.

The choros, under the direction of Mr. Goldsworthy, are getting up an opera, "A Trip to Europe," which will be given before the public sometime in February.

Bob has been singing, "You'll Always Be Just Sweet Sixteen to Me," for the past month. We have just found an answer to his queer conduct. It will soon be V. S. birthday.

The eighth grade are following the example of the Sophomore class, as did the Freshmen, and are going to give a party at the school house Tuesday night.

Miss Olson has been silent for some time on the subject of girl athletics. We hear she has been studying Spaulding's Base Ball rule book.

The basement is a good place to play hide-and-seek.

Miss Eran Ross has lately adopted the following motto: "Joy, temperance and repose. Slam the door on the doctor's nose."

The following is the next program of the E.L.S., which will be given Friday afternoon, Jan. 22nd, at the school-house:

Gymnasium is a thing which we have needed for some time and by perseverance and concentrated action we hope to be able to have one we may call our own at some time in the near future. Good, clean sport is a thing that should be encouraged, and we feel that the athletic community will be in sympathy with us in our endeavors to procure for the school a place which will be beneficial to both the body and mind of the student.

To Commemorate the Modesty and Wisdom of Our Most Lustrous Friends—The Sophomores, '11.

In the last issue of the "Bugle" ("Call") there appeared an article by the Sophomore class in which there was a superabundance of self-praise. "At the same time it is very modest." The Sophomore class has for the past four or five months been trying to attract the attention of the public and to outshine the rest of the school in wit and wisdom. "At the same time it is very modest." They at first attempted to attract the attention of and to win to their side their superiors—the noble and respected Juniors and Seniors. The sage members of the two eminent classes declined to notice their insignificant impertinence, and left in the most ardent ambition they have at last resorted to self-praise. "At the same time they are very modest." In view of the fact that they hold themselves to be the leading class, we will corroborate the statement in saying that they are the leaders in numbers and in that "heated element" necessary to human life commonly spoken of as "hot air." "At the same time they are very modest." Seeking to elevate themselves in the esteem of their fellow-students, and especially the Juniors and Seniors, they place their conquering foot upon the neck of their helpless victims—the cringing Freshies, and brandishing their sword aloft they cry, "Behold the mighty Sophomore Class, '11." "At the same time they are very modest." Kindly remember, Sophies, that self-praise is silver but deserved praise is better than gold.

An Advocate of Justice.

The Argo Agreement.

Following is the agreement which most of the business men of Tillamook City and Bay City and the creamery associations have signed or will do so in the near future. The committee found but one business man who positively refused to sign the agreement. We will publish the names of those who signed up after the list is closed.

This contract and agreement, made and entered into this 1st day of January, 1909, by and between

All of Tillamook City, State of Oregon, parties of the first part, and the Portland and Tillamook Transportation Company an Oregon corporation, party of the second part, witnesseth:

That whereas, the party of the second part contemplates and intends to operate the vessel named "Argo," a steamer of about 180 tons capacity and about 200 horse-power, and maintain with said steamer a reasonable service between Portland, Oregon, and Tillamook City, and Tillamook Bay points, in Oregon, and way and other points, provided second party can have sufficient assurance of freight to be shipped by said vessel to warrant it in the operation thereof.

And whereas, the parties of the first part are shippers of freight from and into Tillamook County, Oregon, and are desirous of arranging for the shipment of freight by the vessel of second party, or by other means which will assure frequent transportation at reasonable rates.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the said party of the second part placing said steamer or any other steamer of similar size, capacity and equipment on the run between Portland, Oregon, and Tillamook City and Tillamook Bay points and maintaining a reasonable service between such points, and of the other matters herein set out, the parties of the first part hereby covenant and agree to ship all of their freight both in and outland, on and over said steamer "Argo" or any other steamer of similar size, equipment and capacity, which said party of the second part may provide and place on the aforesaid route, for a period of two years from the 10th day of January, 1909, and to pay to the party of the second part for freight so shipped by the parties of the first part, the rates named in the following schedule:

Rates on Cheese to Portland: Twins, per case, 17 1/2c. Triplets, per case, 20c.

To Astoria and California Points, via Astoria: Twins, per case, 12 1/2c. Triplets, per case, 15c. Both to Astoria.

To Washington Points, via Portland: Twins, 15c per case. Triplets 17 1/2c per case. Butter, 30c per case to Portland, and empty boxes are to be returned free.

This does not include wharfage of 1c per case on above. Grain, flour and mill feed (computed by weight) per ton, $5.00.

General merchandise (by weight or measurement at option of transportation company) per ton, $5.00. Raled hay (computed by weight), $4.00 per ton.

Dumper engines, or articles weighing over 2000 lbs. each, special rates to apply on same not those stated above. Passengers are to be carried from Tillamook, Oregon, to Astoria, Oregon, for $4.00.

It is understood that said second party shall use its best endeavors to get its steamer equipped for passenger service, same to be done as soon as possible, and not later than two months from date. It is further stipulated and agreed that the party of the second part shall maintain a reasonable service between Portland, Oregon, and Tillamook City, and Tillamook Bay points, and under ordinary weather conditions, maintain a service of round-trip between Portland, Oregon, and Tillamook City and Tillamook Bay points, once every seven days, delay caused by unavoidable accidents, strikes or the elements, excepted, for said period of two years.

It is further stipulated and agreed by and between the parties hereto, that in the event of a railroad connection and communication being established between Portland, Oregon, and Tillamook City and Tillamook Bay points before the expiration of the aforesaid two years, for which this contract is to run, then the parties of the first part are given the right to ship by railroad at their option.

It is further provided and agreed that should the amount of freight carried by the said steamer of the second party mentioned, amount to 6,500 tons for the year covered by this contract, the rate for carrying all freight shall be reduced to 80 per cent of the rates herein specified.

It is further understood and agreed that the second party shall not give lower freight rates to others than are given to those signing this agreement.

It is further understood and agreed that the control of the second party pass into the hands of Samuel Elmore, that this contract shall be optional as to the performance thereof by the first parties.

And each of the parties hereto hereby agree that in case of the failure of either of the parties hereto to perform each and all of the covenants, conditions and agreements hereof, that there shall be paid to the party not in default as follows:

In case of the violation by any of the first parties of this agreement, the party violating the agreement shall pay to the second party as liquidated damages for such breach, the sum of $500.00. And should the second party violate this agreement, then it will pay to Tillamook County Bank as trustee for the first parties herein as liquidated damages for such breach, the full sum of $5000.00, and in order to insure the performance of this part of the contract each of the first parties hereto shall execute and deliver to second party several bonds, with approved security for the payment of such liquidated damages in case of breach by them of this contract, and second party shall deliver to said Tillamook County Bank as trustee, its bond in the sum of $5000, with approved security for the payment of said sum to said trustee for the benefit of the first parties in case of the default of the second party to carry out this contract on its part. Bonds of some good surety company to be accepted as well as private bond.

In witness whereof, the said parties of the first part have hereunto set their hands and seals the date first above written, and second party has caused this agreement to be executed in its name and on its behalf by its—, by authority of its board of directors, on the— day of January, 1909.

TODD & CO., Clothiers and Furnishers. The Store That Makes Good.

New Year. We are now entering upon a New Year. Let us make this the most prosperous year Tillamook County has ever enjoyed. We should all encourage, aid and assist all industries and enterprises, and not play freeze out with what we have. We are going to do our part by boosting. We will also try to do even better than we have heretofore in keeping up with our stock of goods in every line and furnish the best goods possible for as little money.

Now is the time to invest in Tillamook property. Values will double in a few years.
