

THE BUGLE CALL.

VOL. II. C.L.S. E.L.S. Editors: Violet Noyes, Lynn Eberman, Viola Mapes, Ralph Himes. Miss S.: "What is geometry?" Sophomore beginner: "Geometry is the study that teaches one how to prove something is right when it isn't."

The tenth grade had a meeting Monday, after school to decide about giving a party Wednesday night at the old gymnasium. The Freshies a-celt a mouse, and as usual, had a meeting also. We can guess what it was for, with half trying, as they always give a party when their wise superiors, the Sophomores do.

Prof.: "What is steam?" Fatty (in a knowing tone): "It is water going crazy with heat." "All men are created free and equal," said our great president, Mr. Lincoln, "tho all men are not created for the same purpose. It is just the same in athletics as in other things. In basket ball the taller ones have the advantage of the shorter ones in one respect altho the shorter ones are usually the more active which often is more advantageous than height. Some men are adapted to different positions in baseball. It is quite essential for a first baseman to be tall and of course the more active he is the better. The pitcher can be a small or a large man, but he must have a durable arm, good speed and curves, and so it is with any other players. There is practically no restrictions on height, but the player must be quick and of course the first thing is to be able to field a ball properly. The batting quality of a man must be taken into consideration too, for a good batting team will win out over a poor batting team nearly every time. Therefore we say that no person should feel slighted if he does not get the position he is trying for on the team as whoever is to pick out the team will, to the best of their ability pick out those who are thought to be the best players.

Mr. Reichen: "Elmer, what did Keats say about poetry?" Elmer: "Give me poetry or give me death." Ralph has had a very sore hand, but he was glad that he had a good excuse the other day when Mr. Reichen asked if his English was written. The town baseball team has made the H.S. the proposition of paying half of the cost of making the grounds at the race track fit to play base ball on. This will have to be decided in the next meeting of the association, but it is doubtful if it will be accepted as that would give the town an equal right to the grounds and might cause trouble if both teams should want to play the same day. But as it is the town will have to pay a certain per cent of the receipts to Mr. Eberman as well as to the U.S. Association.

Miss Mapes has been searching for an inspiration in the library. We do not think that she will find it this side of Wilson river, however.

The Fire of Tillamook City. (Delayed in Transmission.) It was six o'clock in the morning, when almost all the people of Tillamook were suddenly awakened by the clang, clang, clang of the firebell. It woke the soundest sleepers for the bell kept ringing long and loud. Looking out the window you could see a great blaze which lit everything up and made you wonder where the awful fire could be. Then dressing quickly you hurried toward the leaping fire and found it to be on Main street of the town and that it was Sappington's store. The sparks were flying all around and the people had to throw water on their buildings continually to keep them from catching fire. The buildings next to the roaring fire caught on fire, the blaze growing larger in spite of the water which was thrown on them. If it had not been for the firemen, the whole street would have probably burnt, for the store buildings were all so close together that if one had caught on fire it would have been in possible to save the rest. The water from the hose was applied on the building in a steady stream, but the fire was so large and ferocious that it did not seem to have much effect on it. The streets were crowded with men, women and children that were pitying and feeling sorry for the unfortunate ones. The men worked hard taking out goods from the different places. At last the firemen who had been working courageously under the burning heat were getting the angry fire under control. The water was playing on the buildings and changing from a bright red hue to a black dingy color. After the fire was extinguished so that there was no danger the people returned to their homes, being thankful that morning that the fire had been stopped in time to save the town and that it was not their home which was in ashes. They felt sorry and pitied the people who had such an awful disaster befall them and did all they could to help them. M. G.

Mr. Allen has been filling the office of president of the First National Bank the past week. Most of the ninth and tenth grades are studying botany. They analyze a different flower nearly every day. Tuesday morning they studied the beautiful and fragrant wild cabbage flower that blooms so abundantly just north of town. The girls seemed to take a sudden fancy to holding their handkerchiefs to their faces and refused to tell the reasons for their queer actions. Mr. Reichen has been holding inquiry meetings in rooms two and three the last week. They were for the purpose of finding out who does the mischief but little knowledge was found out by them.

It seems to the editors that the association should get to work to raise funds to build a gymnasium next year. Surely the question of building one will not be dropped after enjoying the use of the Fyler building. If the association would give a play about the last of school, quite a sum could be raised. The larger part of the town would be willing to attend an entertainment of this kind and so help out the school. We ask the students to think this over; then when the association meets again the question can be decided upon.

Lost: by Viola Mapes a red glove, finder will please return to the owner. Found: by ninth and tenth grades a new inspiration to work on the paper. Lost: by Violet Noyes, a small magnifying glass. Found: by Miss Shirk, a new pastime for dull Sundays. Wanted: by Burr Beals, a stenographer to get his shorthand lessons for him. Found: by Miss Shirk, an answer to the advertisement put in the paper a few weeks ago, in the person of "Sweet Williams."

The wet weather has prohibited the boys from playing ball the past week. Mr. George Van Patten was up to the library visiting the editors last Friday and Tuesday. We are sorry to hear that he is going to quit school. The tenth grade were pleased by a visit from their old classmate Mrs. Olive Case Loomis last week.

Red caps and red and white stockings, for the base ball team, were sent for last Tuesday. One of the ninth graders spoke the word "sweetheart" a little louder than he intended to last week. A man experienced in chasing a collar button is less amazed when he hears that the 500 buttons on the new feminine dress are not detachable. Sherlock Holmes would have considered a kidnapping case easy, but out of fiction the detectives seem to be at their poorest in dealing with crime. A hundred miles more of travel would have taken the latest exploring expedition to the south pole. There is still a chance for Peary to win the polar penant.

American friendship for Cuba can be detected in the new tariff bill. Uncle Sam believes in helping a country that is just taking its first steps in independent government. Uncle Sam invested $6,000,000 in the second provisional government in Cuba. He has gallantly paid the freight so far, but would draw the line at another repetition. For use in his African hunting expedition ex-President Roosevelt has ordered a three-barrel gun. This must be intended for the ruminant dromedary that carries more than two humpas. Germany's cannon makers keep pace with the development of flying machines. Emperor William, though accused of talking too much, has been from the first one of the rulers who does things. A large red persimmon is the only fruit that many Chinamen ever get. The possum is unknown to them, and the substitution of the house rodent to go with the 'simmons strikes Western taste unfavorably. Roosevelt in regard to his African trip, no one has thought to warn him of the danger of sleeping sickness. The natural impression is that some persons are immune by temperament. Nicaragua's president says he is shocked by Uncle Sam's ultimatum, but promises to give it attention. The Central American mischief breeders are quick to notice when the situation means trouble for them instead of their victims. "If you have a strong appetite for king alcohol and tobacco and want to be cured of the habit, just eat a vegetable diet for six months." This was the advice given by Dr. D. H. Kress, in an address entitled "Dyspepsia and its Relation to Intemperance," before the American Society for the Study of Alcohol and Other Drug Narcotics. He discussed the evil effects of an excessive diet, and declared that overeating leads to drunkenness. "If you would not become a drunkard," says Dr. Kress, "then quit eating meat."

The Light Turned On.

TO EDITOR OF TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT. DEAR SIR,—A glance at some recent results where the light has been turned onto the liquor anarchists reads as follows: Umatilla county treasury receipts:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Amount. Ben Morton $889, D. Matlock 700, Thos. Moffitt 700, John Schmidt 500, M. H. Gillette 500, H. L. McNabb 450, Wm. Bogart 450, Dick Krogan 290, Henry Noble 290, Sam E. Starr 200, Jess Saling 150, Thos. Crowner 150, Frank Niece 150, Guy Matlock 150, D. E. Sander 150, Van Goodlin 150, John Doe 150, Joe Manison 100, Mel Noruan 100. Total $6,279.

S'one and Kinney served time for $250 more. Douglass county treasury was benefited as follows: Dr. Grey $250, Scott J. Ifferson 250, Walter Crittser 300, Chas. Jones 200 and 30 days in jail. A. Druggist 100, Thos. Jefferson 50 and three months in jail.

Klamath county treasury received the following: C. L. Reed $200 and cost, C. D. Wilson 250, A. P. Lyons 300, J. V. Houston 325, Ike Wright 500, Barry 200. Ike Wright was also indicted for perjury.

At Carlton prosecution resulted as follows: Dr. A. D. Morrison, four charges, $550 and 30 days in jail. Phil Mullen, three charges, $200 and 20 days in jail. J. W. Fowlie, three charges, $450 and 20 days in jail. At La Grande, four men were fined $250 each, and another $200 with the promise to leave town.

At Estacada, Al Close was fined $300 and 29 days. His brother, E. J. Close was fined $150 and 10 days.

Well, that is enough for sample. There is plenty more. These show the point. If some of our "undesirable" citizens were handled like that there would be fewer drunken boys and girls, yes, the "lunks" would not be drunk so often, either. But now some of you are saying that Talmage & Johnston, Justice Sappington and his jury list was not there. Never mind, they are not the whole thing. These men will find out how small they are even in Tillamook yet. A thunder bolt some times falls from a clear sky. Its execution is complete. Mightier, much mightier men than they have gone down before public indignation. John Mitchell, Joseph Foraker and Thos. Platt and their infamous record and over throw are not yet forgotten. The people have a way of getting what they want these days. And that is not saloons nor bootleggers either. Neither is it officers who protect criminals and expose our youth, our women and our property to the "tender" mercy of their inflated passions, vicious tempers and muddled brains. Three times the people have spoken at the ballot box. And they know what they want. It is time for a campaign of law enforcement now.

Yours truly, W. W. ROSEBAUGH. Louisiana Democrats are pleased with the protective duties proposed on sugar and rice. Yet Louisiana voted for Bryan's free trade last November by 63,668 to 9958. But it is true also that the state cheerfully expected Bryan's defeat. The decisions of the international naval conference recently held in London were published Monday. They are opposed in many respects to what has been the usages of Great Britain. They decree that in certain circumstances, including the pursuit of a captor, the capture may be sunk, subject only to compensation if wrongfully sunk. But what is termed absolute contraband may be sunk at any time and under any circumstances. Exhaustive lists have been made of what is contraband. Foodstuffs are so classed only when directly consigned to military forces. All neutral vessels coming within a blockade may be seized.

Best Treatment for Colds. "Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "moderate exercise, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While the treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in "bed" for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

Death Was On His Heels. Jesse P. Harris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at Chas. I. Clough's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

He Got What He Needed. "Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitter put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at Chas. I. Clough's drug store. 50c.

Gove's Ideas.

[TO THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.] The love of God, the Grace of Jesus Christ and the communion of the Holy Ghost. Two men stood facing each other. A sign was between them. One said it was white, the other red. They called a third man to settle the dispute. He looked at both sides of the sign, and said he could not see any difference, because he was color blind. The difference arose from the position each viewed the sign. Religion makes the bitterest enemies. If you oppose a man's dogmas, he is ready to punish you all your natural life, and then give you hell for eternity. I am a natural foe to the popular preacher, who imagines he has a mission to save. We are always on the opposite side of the sign, and there are no use for us to appeal to the world to decide. For the world does not see any difference between a gift and a reward, so long as you obtain a thing. My belief in the love of God, the grace of Christ and the communion of the Holy Ghost, makes me appeal to the popular preacher. To him I am entirely out of reason and dangerously insane, for if the world were to accept my theory it would destroy all of his moral effort and put him completely on the bum. The love of God was manifested in the gift of his son, the grace of Christ by his fulfilling the law, and the communion of the Holy Ghost by the peace of conscience within. The preacher's idea is to arouse, to agitate and to persuade. To him I am like the man who is freezing to death and ready to fall asleep, dangerously at peace. I never met a preacher in my life, if we talked on the subject of religion, but that we were ready to fight in less than two minutes. The preacher reads the same Bible that I do, and he is just as honest as I am. Reward is painted on his side of the sign and gift on my side. I don't want any reward, nor do I plead any merits. Gift is what I enjoy. God gave his son, and he gave his life, and God poured out his Spirit. I am the object of his love, grace and Spirit. I take the passive instead of the active. I am at peace with God through his provision instead of obeying the advice of the preacher, whose idea are based on reward for merit. I have no race to run, no battles to fight, I don't want any crown. I am contented as I am. J. C. GOVE.

Rheumatism. More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The medicines usually given internally for rheumatism are poisonous or very strong medicines. They are worse than useless in cases of chronic and muscular rheumatism. For sale by Lamar's drug store.
