The city is not making the dog license high enough. It should be $5, and $50 for the brutes which whine, howl and bark at night.

Since the attorneys have got together, will it be contrary to ethics and the code of the Tillamook Bar Association to impeach one another for truth and veracity?

The city is suing the county for all of the road and poll tax collected within the corporate limits. It will now be perfectly in order for the Water Commission to engage an attorney and sue the city for all taxes levied above 2 mills on the general fund. My, how slow the water hogs are getting.

We do not know what the Water Commission will do about it, but in charging $16 for water rent for the court house the county court protested and installed a meter, consequently the water rent for the court house last month was only $1.74! We remember saying something about water hogs recently, but this is the first time that the water hogs have been choked off.

It is a poor apology for gravel that is being used on the streets of this city, for the custom is to haul it on and later to haul it off, which is an expensive procedure with little or no satisfaction. It seems to us that if the numerous cross walks in the business part of the city could be cut out and the road bed graded up and then given a coating of some of the crude oil preparations now being used in road construction, it may be that would be especially adapted for roads in this wet climate. As it is not very expensive it would be a good idea for the city to experiment with it.

The attorneys of Tillamook county have formed a bar association and have agreed upon a schedule of prices for legal business. That is a good business move on their part, for there is no glory in doing work for next to nothing—not but most of them get all that is due them and then some. But we hope that none of these legal lights won't go on the stump and rave about the big corporations and trust companies, for they belong to that class now. Some few years ago the newspapers of this county established rates for legal advertisements and quite recently the editor was classed as a robber and general bad man for charging these rates. We hope the attorneys won't be accused likewise.

In case anyone should misconstrue the meaning of the words "bootleg attorneys" in a small paragraph in our last issue, we used them in the same sense we would write "criminal attorneys." We did not mean any offence to the attorneys in the bootleg cases. In fact, the successful manner in which they defended these cases entitles them to a good deal of credit and shows them to be good criminal attorneys. As far as our observation goes, they have been more successful in Tillamook getting their clients out of tight places than attorneys in any other dry county in the state. And Bro. Rosebraugh's letter last week not only showed the money other counties were collecting in fines, but it showed also the amount of money the bootleggers saved in employing attorneys who make a specialty of those kind of cases.

We care little who may differ with us as to letting road work by contract, for we still contend that to build modern, rock crushed, macadam roads it requires proper equipment to do so. There is no one in the county with the necessary equipment. Probably our friend Rollie W. Watson can tell us how to build up to date roads without it and those who are prepared at the present time to take contracts in the county. It may be that road contracting would be a good thing for Rollie to get into as he claims to know so much about how roads ought to be constructed. Anyone can run for county judge and anyone can be a real estate agent when everything else fails, but everybody does not have the ability and experience to become a practical road builder. Here is a grand opening for Rollie to get into the road contract business and attain great fame as a road builder, and when he has demonstrated that he would be a logical candidate for county judge.

The Medical World, in behalf of the medical fraternity, has been making an investigation into system of disposing of "Wireless" stock, and from the reading of the article one can only imagine that a great many persons are "Moneyless" on account of investing in "Wireless." The World says:

So persistent have become the inquiries concerning "Wireless," and so strong has become my conviction that the people in various sections, particularly the Pacific Northwest, are being misled into what will finally be heavy loss by people who are using this wonderful invention as a means for opening the purses of the credulous, that I resolved to see what could be learned about it in reliable financial circles.

Here are a few quotations: The United Wireless Telegraph Company has no standing at all. In fact, all the Wireless Companies have been exploited more as stock-selling than commercial enterprises.

Yet this company's financial statement claims that it has "assets" valued at over twenty five million dollars. Here is where you can "get rich quick." Sell your printing press and buy 100 shares of this stock, and then sit back on the shady side of Easy Street and see the gold roll in. . . . If your stock should fail for any cause, I will agree to purchase you a looking glass so you can sit down quiet and see yourself starve to death.

This is not very encouraging information for those who have bit at the wire less bait.

We understand that the Portland and Tillamook Transportation Co. is ready to stand at the back of their original agreement with the shippers of Tillamook City and vicinity with the exception of the rebate. When the owners of the Argo found that they could not give a rebate they notified Mr. Chase, who was representing them in this city, but it seems that the committee was not called together at the time to hear why the company could not do that. As the matter stands the Argo people will agree to their original contract, with the exception of the rebate clause, which stipulates that after the Argo has obtained 6,600 tons of business at $5.00 between this city, which includes outgoing freight as well, the rate is to be reduced to $4.00 a ton. This appears to be a fair proposition, and it looks to us that the committee should get together and consider the matter with a view of coming to an agreement, for if a $4.00 rate can be obtained in the near future the opportunity of obtaining it should not be thrown away. With the prospect of considerable outgoing freight, it will not take long before the 6,600 tons mark is reached. All will admit that the advent of the Argo on the Tillamook-Portland run is a good thing for the county, and as she is now on the run to stay, being the first steamer for a number of years that was not bought off, it should not be difficult for the owners and the committee to get together and straighten out what mis understanding there is.

The Cloverdale Courier, in discussing the road question, ends up by asking a question: There is one point in the petition that is causing considerable discussion among our people and that is the idea of hiring a non-resident engineer, many believing that there are men in the county who are capable of the position and that it would not be right to pass by these men for a non-resident. We would like to have someone who advocates a non-resident engineer explain, why? One way of answering this question is by asking another. Who are the men in this county who have had the technical education and actual experience in road building as now taught in most of the large universities of the country, where special education is now given in all the new methods of modern road building? The trouble is every Tom, Dick and Harry believes that he knows more about road building than the man in the moon, and as a result roads have been located and re-located so many times that large sums of money have been wasted. Road work, like most every kind of work, requires a practical, experienced person at the head of it, and better qualified he is for the position greater will be the results. For instance, when a railroad company is wanting a survey and plans to build a piece of railroad it does not employ a lot of farmers or political pups to make the survey and draw the plans and specifications, it employs the best engineers and the best draughtsmen that are to be obtained. It should be the same thing with road building. Tillamook roads have been constructed under the supervision of "local talent" long enough. We can see the result. And not until there is a practical, experienced road builder at the head of the road work will there be any great improvements in the roads of this county. We hope we have answered this question to the satisfaction of our esteemed contemporary and those who are wanting information on that point.

We often wonder how any person can be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung trouble. Do not be fooled into accepting "own make" or other substitutes. Rheumatism. More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The medicines usually given internally for rheumatism are poisonous or very strong medicines. They are worse than useless in cases of chronic and muscular rheumatism. For sale by Lamar's drug store.

Death Was On His Heels. Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at Chas. I. Clough's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

And the next day it rained.

The boys were very desirous for the weather to clear up so they might play base ball and get the team picked out.

Prof. Nellie Hannekrat has been teaching in Miss Marvel's room this last week. She says it is too bad Miss Marvel is sick, but she likes to teach so well that she wishes something would happen to keep Miss Marvel away from school the rest of the year.

The Sophomore class gave an April Fool party to the High School last Wednesday night. Parties are nothing new, but the fun came in with the odd suits and dresses worn. Many of the boys made excellent ladies. There were Black Susan from North Carline and pretty little Miss Willie Anderson. The Misses King, Wallace and Catterlin; in their basket ball suits were always on deck. The Misses Clementine Stanley and Thelma Holman made quite a hit in their country lasses dresses. There were Indian girls, early Pioneer girls, Nurses, Goddesses of Liberty, the wife of Santa Claus, pretty little boy-to-be Freshies all pained up, hops in base ball suits and boys in foot ball suits. Altogether it was quite a miscellaneous collection and was surely out of the ordinary for parties.

There are few greater pleasures than sitting in the library during spare moments and watching the lower grades at play.

Many of the students are planning for an Easter Sunday outing. There is talk of going to most every part of the country.

The base ball suits—some at least—should be finished by the time the weather clears up.

The students of the Physics class are interested in the draining of the "Frog Pond" in front of the school house. If the contract was in the hands of some prosperous young man like T. Edison Finney the work would be accomplished much sooner. Then there would be no water to spoil the baseballs which occasionally stray there.

Clarence Stanley, the detective, and Dr. Allen enjoyed a much earned vacation last week.

It seems that April Fool did not agree with Miss Ross as she was absent last Friday.

The Mount Vernon Home of Washington.

The old home of the "Father of his Country" is an interesting picture. The buildings are surrounded by a wide lawn, making it, as a whole, a most beautiful place.

Standing in the front part of the lawn one may see that the house consists of two parts joined by a covered passage-way which has a succession of openings in the walls shaped like arches. The larger portion, consisting of a rather plain, two story building has probably been built since Washington was a child. On the north side of this part is a broad piazza supported by massive pillars. At the opposite end of the passage-way already mentioned is an old building, probably the birthplace of Washington, built in colonial fashion. The low roof, Royal Baking Powder Absolutely Pure The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

The wide chimney, and the broad low windows made up of sixteen or twenty panes of glass are all evidences of its antiquity. Several oak trees and shrubs stand near the door, and under one of these trees we see a high column of marble, a monument erected to the memory of our first president, George Washington.

The pictures drawn on the black board in the vacant room indicate that some day some of the students will be great artists.

Examination week has come again which means a week of hard work.

A Michigan Thunder Storm. The morning was hot and sultry. Not a will of breeze was stirring, the leaves on the few straggling trees were as still as though some unseen thing held them to their places, the singing birds had taken themselves to the cooler woods, the pretty flowers in the garden drooped their heads slowly, dying for the want of water. I sat in as cool a place as I could find, wishing with all nature that it would rain.

Suddenly, and far over the horizon a small black cloud arose and as I watched it, it grew continually larger and approached rapidly. Then without a moments warning there came a sudden flash and long peal of thunder; then all grew dark. The rain was coming down in torrents, there was another great flash of lightning which struck a neighboring tree, splitting and tearing it into small fragments as easily as though it had been a mere twig instead of a large tree. The storm was now playing havoc with everything around as regardless of value as a child playing with its own playthings. Gradually the flashes of lightning and peals of thunder grew less frequent and less violent.

Some of the H. S. girls enjoyed a very pleasant party given in Swedeville last Thursday night.

At the last meeting of the societies last Friday it was agreed that the society work should be dropped until the next term and that the last Cleronian program should end the contest programs. This was done because we all have the "Spring Fever" and interest is being lost by some. Though some are in favor of dropping the work for good but most of the students are in favor of continuing the work next term. We hope there will be more interest in the work then.

Miss Shirk had a sad accident last Wednesday night at the party. She appeared the sun came out again. The black cloud had vanished and all nature looked bright and fresh. The birds began to sing, the flowers had brightened up and were lifting their heads to the sky, and smiling as if giving thanks for the refreshing rain. The storm had lasted but a few minutes, but it had been long enough to give nature the rain she needed so much. E. L. L.

A new class of about eight taking up mechanical drawing has been organized lately. We are told that it is a very interesting study. It is useful too, to those who intend taking an engineering course.

Howard Harris is quite enthusiastic in his botany lessons and goes to a great deal of trouble to produce specimens for the class. For some of these we are grateful, but for others we are not as appreciative as we should be. For instance, when he brought a lot of what is known as skunk cabbage flowers to be analyzed on last Tuesday. We would advise him to be more particular in his choice of flowers after this.

In behalf of justice, we hereby make reply to an article appearing in the last issue of the Bugle Call. It does not conform to our principles to enter into "mind singing" contests, but we must say that the Sophomore Class of the Tillamook High School is handier with the "muck rake" than with the pen. We, the advocates of justice, once before unwillingly appealed before the public with an article condemning the conceit and vanity of the sophomore class (the very modest sophomore class.) After being put before the public in their true colors by the advocates of justice, they, for a time, overcame by the facts brought out in the article, smothered their vanity, but vanity, like truth, though crushed to earth will rise again. So again they bring forth an article full of self praise and conceit. The fact that the Sophomore class is conceited and egotistical is easily accounted for by the fact that the class consists of ten girls and three poor little hen pecked boys. When there is no other subject for their self praise they revert to their numerous parties and entertainments, which to tell the truth, merit is no one's praise. The dignified Juniors and Seniors attend these farcical parties simply to show their mark of respect to the class as they would to any other class of the school. Dr. Allen, who is the attending physician of the Sophomores, reports that he has an incurable case of softening and expanding of the head, commonly known as "the swell head." Draft Horses. The draft horse is getting bigger and bigger. In the late 80's if one weighed over 1,600 pounds and came from France, it was an event and the horse papers talked about him, with pictures. Today the draft importer will touch nothing under 1,800 and 3-year-old colts often run up to a ton.

The favorite draft breed in America—six to one—is the Percheron of France. It comes from Le Perche, southwest of Paris, and nowhere else. The horse breeders in that district have banded themselves into a guild or union, and decreed that no horse from outside the borders of their district can ever be recorded as a Percheron in the studbook of the breed. A colt foaled just across the line out of a mare and by a sire correctly registered cannot himself be registered.

The foundation blood of the Percheron is, or is said to be, Arab. The Frenchman will tell you that a Percheron is an Arab made heavy by climate. But whether Arab extraction or not, it is sure that the breed has been made heavy by the climate or human selection during the past half century.

The French never dream of breeding to stallions of mixed or unknown blood. But the American farmer who bred his mare to a Percheron for a heavy colt usually changes his mind a couple of years later, puts what he got from the first cross to a coach horse for style, and the grand result to a jack or a mule. As a horse breeder he looks only at the outside of the sire (and apparently not so careful at that), and cares little what kind of blood is running inside.

The Nehalem Horse Co.'s stallion Fleaneur No. 56331, was bred by M. E. Chopette, of Department, of La Sarthe, France. Will make the season of 1909 at Tillamook and Nehalem. For terms see keeper of horse. HARRISON BOOTH.

Best Treatment for Colds. "Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune. "moderate laxative, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While the treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon?
