

Persistent Saving

To drive a nail you must not only hit it square on the head once, but you must keep hitting till it goes in right. It's the persistent hammering that counts.

It's the same for a Savings Account. You cannot save money unless you go at it systemically and keep it up.

A Savings Account with this bank, backed by a resolve to deposit a portion of your earnings each week or month, will soon show a good balance in your favor.

Articles. Try it.—Tillamook County Bank.

Frank Hobson, one of the old pioneers, has sold his ranch and personal property on the Miama River to Frank Streuby, consideration $9000.00. The sale was made through those unpopular methods of F. R. Beals described in the Herald of last week.

The steamer Argo came in on Wednesday, her passengers being B. E. Van Voorhis, O. Erickson, C. Bremmer, E. Hanron, A. J. Brown and wife, Harry Gotloft, E. W. Heilman, Lem Parker and wife, D. R. Tinnerstet and wife, Mrs. A. J. Logan and Geo. Ednest.

The steamer Argo left on Friday with freight and passengers. She had over a thousand cases of cheese and her passengers from this city were R. E. L. Donaldson and wife, W. H. Clark, John Bushman, Mrs. F. R. Beals, Mrs. C. M. Allen, H. C. Blackman, J. Whitaker and H. A. Miller.

The steamer Sue H. Elmore came in on Tuesday and her passengers were Mr. Chapin, with 13 men to work at Bayocean Park, R. M. Butler, W. Mathews, C. H. Van Cleve, Mr. Averley, Mr. Woods and wife, Mr. Ganahl, Mr. Sunder, P. Svenson, A. Yorkland and Mr. Edwards.

A. Chester Keel, who is now superintendent at the salmon hatchery on the Trask river, invite the people to inspect the hatchery next Sunday, when Master Fish Warden H. J. McAllister and others from Portland who are interested in the propagation of salmon will be present. A large crowd is expected.

A crazy man, who came in from the outside, was discovered loafing about the prairie, and when he last turned up at the Wilkes' place on the Trask river, he was told to get out of the county as the sheriff was after him, and being afraid of that individual, it is supposed that he left the county.

M. Mossolin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was in the city this week, and as Tillamook is not represented with exhibits at the Chamber of Commerce Building he is desirous that this county should be represented with specimens of the products grown or manufactured here.

L. G. Freeman has bought 234 acres of bottom land one mile east of Corvallis, paying $65 an acre for it, and this fall he will remove to Corvallis. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman will leave next week on a visit to relatives in Sweden. Frank Freeman will have charge of the dairy ranch on the Wilson river during their absence.

F. R. Beals has sold W. B. Alderman's ranch on Kelchis River to F. H. Neilson. The price paid for this property was $13,000.00. This is the fifth deal Mr. Alderman has made through Beals in the past six months, the transactions amounting to $58,500.00, Alderman making several thousand dollars profit. Strange to say Alderman and Beals have been friends and neighbors for the past nineteen years, and Alderman, poor fellow, had not noticed anything wrong with Beals' methods until the Herald pointed it out in last week's issue.

A singular and unusual thing happened to Emanuel Borba Friday afternoon. He was returning from Tillamook with machinery for the Gladwill saw-mill. Reaching a sharp hill near Wooley's he stopped to rest his horses on a culvert over a brook. While so standing blood suddenly burst from his nose and mouth, as he lost consciousness and fell into the water face down. Had it not been for the presence of the Wooly boys he most likely would have drowned. Herman Farmer happened along a few minutes later and took Emanuel to Curly's road camp. He recovered sufficiently during the night to proceed on his way in the morning.—Turner's Leaflet.

Amos Vaughn brought in two young thoroughbred Jersey bulls from Ed Carr's farm at Lafayette. One was a yearling and the other a two year old. One is for Amos and the other is for his mother, and they were brought in on a wagon, and wore the blue ribbon. Sam Downs accompanied Amos. When on their way in one of the horses gave out at Dolph, and Amos and Sam thought they would play at practical joke upon the folks at home, so phoned to them to the effect that they were stranded and to send the colt to help them through. The joke, however, was turned on Amos and Sam, for the folks at home caught on before they reached their destination. It was a surprise that Amos and Sam did not conceive the idea of hitching up the bulls instead of the colt.

The spruce logs at Bay City belonging George W. Kiger will be sawed by the Tillamook Lumber Manufacturing Co.'s saw mill in this city into box lumber and shipped to Portland on the Argo. She will take out about 75,000 ft on each trip, which will be the first outgoing freight from the new saw mill in this city. Besides this, the saw mill has arranged to cut between 400,000 and 500,000 feet of spruce logs for the Potter-Capin Realty Co., to be used at Bayocean Park. These logs are now in the upper part of the slough and will be brought down to the mill as soon as possible. At present the slough is nearly full of logs, and as Mr. Whitehouse will deliver another raft this week and several others ready to be delivered soon after, there is going to be trouble, with the Kiger logs, to segregate them. If necessary, with a full crew, the new mill will be able to turn out 40,000 ft. a day.

CONTRACTORS HAVE QUALIFIED.

J. W. Sweeney and Associates Give Bond of $150,000.

J. W. Sweeney and his associates, S. M. Blumauer and Isaac Blumauer, to whom was awarded the contract for constructing the final 53 miles of the Pacific railway & Navigation Company's road Monday, qualified as to bond yesterday, submitting one for more than the full 10 per cent of the contract price. The bond was furnished by the Title Guaranty & Surety Company, of Scranton, Pa., in the sum of $150,000, while it is now known that the contract price for the work was approximately $1,400,000.

The contract at those figures is the largest single one ever let in Oregon. It calls for completion of the work by June 1, 1910. This portion of the road when completed, will connect the two completed sections, one of which, extends from Forest Grove to Burton and the other from Tillamook north for about ten miles.

Sweeney and his associates were the lowest of several bidders and the only thing that has stood in the way of the final signing of the papers since Monday has been the necessary bond. This detail settled, the contractors will push the work to completion.—Oregonian.

More Lawlessness in the City.

Another instance of the repeated lawlessness in Tillamook City came to light on Thursday evening of last week when the Rev. Thos. Robinson entered the Presbyterian church to hold the weekly meeting that evening. The first thing that he noticed was that the organ had been rolled from the rostrum and thrown over the steps, damaging the instrument; the glass flower vases were all smashed into small fragments and later in the evening it was discovered that all the hymn books had been hid away under a seat in one corner of the church, and some of them were destroyed. On Sunday morning it was also discovered that the Birthday Bank belonging to the children of the Sabbath school had been stolen, and it was quite a disappointment to them, for, whenever any of them reached a birthday they dropped a penny into the bank for every year they were old. The bank must have contained several dollars in pennies raised in that way. The members of the Presbyterian church are highly indignant at the desecration and robbery of the church, and will offer a reward for the arrest of the parties. It is thought by some that it is some of the bootleggers who are responsible for the disgraceful affair, who are now using this means to retaliate upon the church people for the recent bootleg prosecution, and especially upon Deputy District Attorney Cooper, who is one of the elders of the Presbyterian church, while others believe that it is young men who planned and did the mischief. Whoever it was it is another link in the chain of the lawlessness in Tillamook City.

Splendid Road on Necarney.

Fred Lange was down from Nehalem last week and left for home on Saturday. Speaking of the road that is being built around Necarney mountain, he says that it is a fine piece of road and the county is getting it built at a very low figure, in fact, no one thought that the three miles of road around the mountain could be built for that money until the present contractors were awarded the job. It is pleasant to know that the county is getting good value for the money expended for this road, and although quite a number of persons fail to see the utility of the road and have criticised the county court for building it, it will be one of the most picturesque roads in Oregon, overlooking the Pacific ocean, where one can gaze in summer over the peaceful expanse of water, or in the winter behold the Pacific ocean when it is whipped into angry foam and mountainous breakers, a scene which a great number of Oregonians have not beheld. In a few years, when Clatsop county makes connections with this road, and when thousands of visitors pour into the county to behold the splendid scenery in Tillamook county—and the road on Necarney mountain overlooking the Pacific ocean will be one of the many points of advantage—then the croakers and the knockers who have been beefing about this road will, no doubt, find something else to be about since they have become chronic knockers at public improvements.

W. J. ALEXANDER MISSING.

Purser on Steamer Argo Fails to show up at Portland.

The first news of the mysterious disappearance of Walter J. Alexander, purser on the steamer Argo, which operates between Portland and Tillamook Bay points, was received at Bay City when the boat arrived last week. The officers of the Argo are firm in their belief that Alexander met with foul play in Portland just before the steamer sailed for Tillamook Bay last week, or was accidentally drowned in the Willamette River while boarding the boat.

Mr. Alexander was a member in good standing of Bay City Camp, No. 318, Woodmen of the World, in which he carried $2000 insurance. The camp is taking an active interest in the search for the missing man. The records of the camp show that Mr. Alexander was 36 years old when he became a member in October of last year. The policy he carried is made payable to his mother, Mrs. Olive M. Alexander, of Killingly, Conn. Before assuming his duties as purser on the steamer Argo during the first part of last month Mr. Alexander was yard foreman for the Miami Lumber Company, at Hobsonville, on Tillamook Bay.
