Owing to the wet weather campers have been slow in coming in this year, for in former years at this season of the year Netarts and Garibaldi beaches have quite a large number of campers from the outside, while this year there are comparatively few. There are a large number of families in this county who migrate to the beaches every summer, but thus far they have made no move.

W. W. Conder came in from Corvallis last week, where he now resides. He had the misfortune to get three of his fingers mashed a few weeks ago. A divorce suit was filed in the circuit court, in which Mrs. L. M. Mitchell sues her husband, Harry Mitchell, for the dissolution of the marriage contract. In her complaint she alleges that they were married on April 5, 1903, and the cause of action was that defendant had treated his wife in a cruel and inhuman manner, had used threatening and disgusting language towards her, and by reason of or great bodily harm from her husband if she lived with him. Besides asking the court to dissolve the marriage, she asks $20 per month for her support.

Engineer Geo. L. Davis, of the P. R. & N. Co., has been making an inspection of the work at both ends of the line. He is greatly pleased at the manner in which Contractor Sweeney is organizing his forces and getting in supplies and getting to work, who has five hundred men employed at the east end of his contract and over one hundred men at Nehalem. Arrangements have been made to start work on the tannin at once and not let up until the work is completed. As Contractor Wakefield has also several hundred men working in the neighborhood of Garibaldi, it is expected that the road along the beach and to Fisher's point on Nehalem bay, where it connects with Contractor Sweeney's contract, will be completed this fall. Engineer Davis is of the opinion that the road will be completed by next June, as Contractor Sweeney has started in with vim, showing already that he knows how to organize railroad work and push it along as rapidly as possible. He has furnished himself with the best of equipment, and will have a different class of workmen to those previously employed by the other contractors, and putting all this information together, the situation looks exceedingly bright for railroad connections with Portland next summer.
