PERSPECTIVE AND PROSPECTIVE.

Substantial Growth Begins—Not Boom, but Demand.

That the metropolis of this country, Tillamook City, has entered upon a period of rapid and substantial growth there is no longer any grounds for the pessimistic laggards to interpose their logographic expression. "I have my doubts." Nothing can be more certain than that within ten years Tillamook City will actually be entitled to be termed a city, with a population of from eight to ten thousand inhabitants, with steam and electric railways to supply all need in that respect, with sea-going craft of every description casting off their lines in its very midst. If the business men and land owners of the county who "have fought the fight and kept the faith," can read the future, surely they must realize that henceforth there is abundant reward in store for them. Everywhere throughout the county the coming of new faces, new hopes, new energies, enterprise and capital are in forceful evidence, and no where more so than in Tillamook City, and along its approaches. A stroll over the principal streets of that healthy and wealthy town today will disclose building activities, founded not on mere boom speculation, but actual present demand, that point safely to future greatness; and one must be almost stone blind who cannot see sufficient natural resources in this county to warrant heavy and permanent investment. This county has over sixty miles of ocean frontage, the greater part of which is capable of an exploitation that will attract millions in money and humanity, and Tillamook in this respect will be the Los Angeles of the State, with further infinitely more propitious natural supports. Tillamook county has timber, fruit and agricultural wealth inexhaustive, and a blending of beach and interior temperature that satisfies, and its metropolis is within a few minutes' ride to many already attractive beach resorts. The dairying industry, great as it is, will be greater, and equalled by fruit and berry growing industries, live stock and fishing industries, the enormous future extent of which is not easily divineable. Peoples of all nations will deport themselves on our beaches, feasting on our dairy, orchard and farm products, to say nothing of the attractions our streams and forests will present to field sportsmen. Tillamook county has an all-around list of attractions, not alone to invalids and globetrotters, but to all classes of investors. Then, and then, why should not Tillamook City be the Los Angeles of Oregon, since it has greater natural opportunities than the one of the southland?—Turner's Leaflet.

Sees Mother Grow Young.
"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure Liver and Kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50c. at Chas. I. Clough.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the Best and Surest.
"It affords me pleasure to state that I consider the preparation known as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the best and surest of good results of any I have ever used in my family," says P. E. Herrington, of Mount Aerial, Ky. This is the universal verdict of all who use this remedy. Its cures are so prompt and effectual that people take pleasure in recommending it. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms.—J. S. Lamar, Tillamook; Hawk & Miller, Bay City.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet."—J. S. Lamar, Tillamook; Hawk & Miller, Bay City.

The great mortality from dysentery and diarrhoea is due to a lack of proper treatment at the first stages of the disease. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is a reliable and effectual medicine, and when given in reasonable time will prevent any dangerous consequences. It has been in use for many years and has always met with unvarying success. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

Twenty-Five Cents is the Price of Peace.

Bowel Complaint in Children.
When six months old the little daughter of E. N. Dewey, a well known merchant of Agnewville, Va., had an attack of cholera infantum. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was given and effected a complete cure. This remedy has proven very successful in cases of bowel complaint in children and when given according to the plain printed directions can be relied upon with perfect confidence. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

Petroleum Butter.

Will the Standard Oil company's next move result in driving dairies and packing house butter factories out of business? It is announced, says the Spokane Review, that the company's chemist have discovered a way to make butter out of petroleum.

The oil is converted into a kind of milk, which is said to possess a larger percentage of butter fat than cow's milk. This petroleum milk is then run through high speed separators and the butter fat is extracted. A plant to manufacture the product will be started at once in New Jersey.

The alchemist's dream of changing baser metal into gold lacks interest beside the modern chemist's achievements in extracting useful commercial products from petroleum and coal tar. The full range of these products is doubtless a long way from being attained, and the wonder is that many of them are so different from the original material, including powerful drugs, illuminants, disinfectants, preservatives, dyes, etc.

Commenting on the advent of petroleum butter, the St. Louis Dispatch points to still broader results. It says:

"From petroleum we get axle grease and phenacetine, dyestuffs and monopoly, vaseline and philanthropy, benzene, gasoline, billions, restraint of trade, pipe lines, tank cars, tank ships, tank wagons, Sunday schools, sermons and commercial precedents. So why not butter?"

For Good Roads.

From many states comes information of proposed legislation on the subject of good roads. Sometimes it is the construction of new roads, sometimes the improvement of old ones, and sometimes aiming at a general scheme of development; but all seem to be actuated by the same basic idea, to put the roads of their state in such a condition as to materially lower the cost of marketing the products of the soil, and thus building up the prosperity which an increased surplus brings to communities as well as individuals.

In many sections of the country the various farmers' organizations are taking active interest in the legislations, discussing the provisions of various measures, and in some cases, keeping representatives at the state capitals for the purpose of advising with the members of the legislatures, so that when enactments are made they shall be along lines which will produce the greatest benefit with the least expenditure.

All of which goes to show that a great majority of the people of the country are vitally interested. Students of history are familiar with the fact that in all the ages when a majority of the people of any country possessed any particular desire the object of that desire was always forthcoming within a limited period of time. Sometimes it required patience and quiet work, sometimes hard fighting, and even revolution; but it came to pass as surely as water seeks its level. In all this activity there is the dominating thought of material growth, the development and enlargement of all the interests of the people, mental, social and financial alike.

IN A JOVIAL MOOD.

A Visitor to Tillamook Sees a Few Things which Surprises Him.

A subscriber to the Sheridan Sun sent the following letter to that newspaper, giving his experience, in a jovial mood, while camped at Garibaldi beach, but he has failed to mention anything about the "Yamhill Geese" (crane) the sports from that county are accused of shooting, not knowing the difference between a fat goose and a long, lanky crane. He says: "I am going to give you a description of Tillamook county as I have seen it during the past ten days. It has rained nine out of the ten but prospects are now good for bright sunshine."

"I have just got up from the table where we had a great feast of clam soup, baked crabs, rock oysters and mussels. I tell you it's great, though we have the most of the stuff left for future meals, but we'll get used to it—we'll have to—for we have not been able to get an egg since we left Sheridan, and we had the price in our inside pocket, too. The hens all seem to be on a strike here, at least they all strike for the beach as soon as the tide goes out; but we got the nicest vegetables you ever saw in your life—they were shipped in from the valley. I went to a rancher this morning to get a little of something to eat in the fruit line and he told me he did not raise anything but a few Siberian crabs, so I was left there. We got the very best of butter—all Hazlewood, shipped in from Portland. They don't make enough butter in Tillamook county to lubricate one side of a sandwich; it's cheese, all cheese but a lot of that, you bet, and it's surely fine. There is a cheese factory on every corner and two hung up in the middle; I have discovered where the moon was made and the man who made it is still here making cheese."

"We are camped at Garibaldi Beach inside an orchard fence; there are quite a number of trees but they don't grow apples, not here, the owner said they never did; just live to enjoy the salt water, the gentle sea breeze and rustle in laughter as they watch newcomers eat clam chowder. He thinks the nurseryman fooled him; I think so too."

"The owner is a bachelor; has lived here 27 years and is an old sea captain of the days of wind-jammers. He has 260 acres of land; possibly three acres level enough to build a house on with out tipping over, the rest is a fright and reminds me of elk rock on the road to Portland where the narrow gauge used to pass around; well, that was so bad that when a rattlesnake crawled down his tail always came in first. He has been offered $50,000 for the place, and he told me he could get more than that now, but did not want to sell it. He has possibly an eighth of an acre in garden and buildings worth about $25; the new railroad runs along its west line. About 400 Greeks are working on the railroad now. The wagon roads in this county here are something to be proud of; better than in the valley and all macadamized; no mud at all. The Willamette valley would do well to pattern after the roads here."

"There are some very good dairy ranches in here but not very well improved. Land is worth from $250 to $500 per acre, whether in town or out don't matter much."

"Barbers are not needed here; it blows, the whiskers off the people from 1 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night and the balance of the time it fans the irritated cheeks to soothe the physical anguish caused by such violent uprooting of the facial adornment. I have a rock on one corner of this paper as I write, a tent stake driven in another while I sit on the other end to keep it from blowing away."

"The Woodmen are going to have a big blowout here the latter part of August; they will charter all the boats on the river, a few ocean liners and a fleet of gondolas from Pekin."

"The people here are nice and living is cheap. We have a nice place to camp right on the beach and whines come up in our back yard to feed. We would welcome some of the Sheridan people to our camp. If you survive this I will come again."
