

Editorial Snap Shots.

Fairview had just as well made it unanimous.

A straight 9-foot channel from the bay to Tillamook City is the slogan.

The first thing for the Port of Tillamook to do is to get Uncle Sam to help out with the improvement of the slough.

There is a case pending in the Supreme Court to ascertain when the law passed at the last State legislature to create Ports is constitutional.

It was about time for Condon to come to the front with a murder in a saloon. Gilliam County is not dry enough yet—Oregonian.

And is it not a fact that because murderers, thugs, dead beats, hoarse-mongers, gamblers, thieves and the lowest class of society hang out in saloons that the people are putting them out of business?

By a majority of votes in Tillamook, Hoquarton, Fairview and South Prairie the people have decided that they are in favor of the improvement of Hoquarton slough and a deep water harbor for the center of the county. That point having been settled, the next thing to do is to carry out the project in the most business like, economical manner possible.

Happy Camp had a deserted appearance this year. Probably the bootleggers last year had a great deal to do with the hoodoo that now hangs over that camp grounds, for respectable, law abiding citizens want for a summer's outing do not want to be near or associate with that lawless element. Hence, that pretty and once popular resort got the mitten this year.

The Sheridan Sun should make a fight for better roads from that city to Dulph, for there would be a large amount of travel in that direction if the two counties would come to some understanding in keeping the main road in good condition at all seasons of the year. And there is another thing that the Sun might consider, and that is to abolish the toll road which is a curse and abomination to that section of Yamhill county.

It appears to us that the deputy fish wardens ought to be sure of their ground before they file complaints against persons for violating the fishing law. The taxpayers of this county have had to pay the costs where they have made mistakes in swearing out complaints. Probably if the justice would make the deputy fish wardens pay for their mistakes and not the taxpayers, justice would be more equitably doled out, for it is rank injustice to fleece the taxpayers in that manner.

There's a "blind pig" loose in town, The "squeal" can be heard, and his "ear marks" crop out quite frequently of late.—Mark.

Then Columbia County must have a Levy of lawless individuals as well as Tillamook County who should be taught to respect the law. In some of the dry counties, especially in Lane county, the county officials have gained quite a reputation in rounding up bootleggers, adding a large amount of revenue to the county's funds. Perhaps Tillamook and Columbia Counties will get next some day, and instead of the taxpayers having to foot the bill for the violation of the local option law the lawless individuals will be made to do so.

Although Tillamook cheese is widely known for its excellent and wholesome qualities, its reputation would be still further advanced if a little more care was taken in the packing and boxing. Any old kind of a box, rough edged, knotty and often dirty looking, is not a suitable package for Tillamook cheese. Hood River makes a specialty of its boxes for apples, although the intrinsic value of a box of cheese. Therefore, we think that the time is ripe to place Tillamook cheese in a pretty, specially designed box that is clean, neat and attractive. We simply mention this as a suggestion to the dairy associations to adopt some uniform box and design for Tillamook County's most famous cheese.

If the Tillamook attorneys who have undertaken to knock out the local option law succeed they will be doing something which other attorneys of the State have not been able to do, notwithstanding that they have attacked the law in many points without success. If the local attorneys succeed they will be entitled to a big wad and the undying thanks of the whiskey interests and the lawless bootleggers, whom they have been defending with more or less success in Tillamook County. But, should they fail, will the attorneys crawl into their holes, as they did after so many declarations to the saloon keepers that they could knock the law out? Cases are knocked out in so-called courts of justice in Oregon on trivial technicalities that people are far from satisfied.

Money talks! The snap shot man has heard a great deal of procrastination as to the amount of money the Portland Automobile Club was ready to donate to assist in building a good automobile road into Tillamook county, and up to the present time we have not heard of any money being appropriated for that purpose by the automobile club. This county has gone ahead and expended over $10,000 in rock crushers, road rollers and other necessary appliances to build good roads, thus showing that the people of this county are thoroughly in earnest in this matter. It looks to us, however, that we have been treated to a considerable amount of "hot air" by the auto enthusiasts about subscribing money to help build roads. We invite them to put up their "dough" or quit talking "hot air" about $20,000 being subscribed. Money counts, gentlemen, not "hot air" and procrastination.

Evangelist Oliver appears to have given the editors of the two city newspapers a hot shot in calling them "skeleton heads," which was a most ungentlemanly, unchristian remark for anyone to make who is engaged in such a sacred calling. We will not retaliate nor show the same unchristian spirit towards the rev. gentleman. As far as the editor is concerned, the people of this county know where the Headlight stands for morality, decency and order, and they are better able to judge than a perfect stranger who may come here for a few weeks. But we are exceedingly sorry to admit that while the editor has been engaged in this fight several frank, fraudulent and immoral "ministers of the gospel" have been sent here to preach the gospel and attend to the spiritual needs of the people, but instead of doing so they have caused scandals and dragged down the Christian religion, the agnostic and the infidel pointing the finger of ridicule at Christian people on account of it. That being the case, it seems to us that the rev. gentleman should first attempt to cast out the motes that are in the eyes of the ministry before he attempts to remove the specks in the eyes of the editors of this city. We do not believe that any earnest, sincere Christian gentleman, or true follower of the Nazarene who follows the charitable precepts of the new testament, would be guilty of hurling unchristian, unchristian epithets at editors. And we can say this without fear of contradiction that what improvements have taken place in the moral atmosphere of the county, it is the Press and not the Pulpit, which brought it about.

We have no right to question how or in what way a person voted on Tuesday, yet it appears to us in a general way that the voters in Fairview and South Prairie did not show a magnanimous spirit. For this reason: A large proportion of the road tax is expended in these two districts every year, and it is right that it should be, and the county court has decided to purchase a rock crusher, engine and road roller and locate it at the Red Clover factory for the benefit of Fairview and South Prairie, for the improvement of the highways, but no one in Tillamook or Hoquarton precincts are raising any complaints or opposing these improvements. And for a number of years the county appropriated thousands of dollars a year of the road money which rightly belonged to the city, and Fairview and South Prairie received a proportion of that money. Now that it is proposed to improve the most important highway—Hoquarton slough—into the center of Tillamook county, which needs improvement equally as well, and even more so, than the roads in Fairview and South Prairie, the voters in the two county precincts oppose. If, however, the slough reached as far as the grange hall, it is safe to predict that the vote at Fairview on Monday would have been almost unanimous in favor of a Port to improve it. Therefore, we must confess, looking at the situation in this broad light, that Fairview and South Prairie precincts did not show a magnanimous spirit towards Tillamook and Hoquarton precincts in the matter of public improvements. The improvement of Hoquarton slough is necessary at this time for another reason: Nothing keeps down a freight rates on railroads as much as water and steamship competition.

Tillamook Jottings.

Nelson, of Clowesdale, has bought the Brown stock of shoes at the Red Front, and is selling them way below cost. He intends to close out the entire stock by next Wednesday, 8-pt. 1. Mr. Simpson is helping him wait on the customers and it keeps them busy tying up the goods.

A. L. Annes, of Tacoma, representing Foster, Monger Co., of Chicago, was in the city Tuesday consulting with the Tillamook Lumber Mfg. Co. for the manufacture of porch columns. Should the company decide to install the boring machine and lathes it will mean steady employment for about half a dozen men.

We understand that surveyors are at Netarts endeavoring to find a more suitable route for the electric railroad to that place, as the previous survey was not thorough. The electric road going from Netarts to Bacon park along the coast instead of around the south side of Tillamook bay.

A wagon load of young folks went to Tillamook Beach Tuesday morning to see game about ten days. Among them were Claude Brower, Howard Hanson, Earl Nott, Lulu and Marion Hanson, Maggie Houk and Clara Arthur. The party is enpowered by Mrs. Hanson.—News Reporter.

While the Tillamook stage was coming in from that place on Wednesday it tipped over on a dangerous portion of the road near Dulph and two passengers were slightly injured. Chas. Hoersner, of Portland, had his knee bruised and Mrs. Walter Burrell, also from Portland, was injured about the face and shoulders.—Sheridan Sun.

Miss Lenora Kuntz, of Tillamook, Ore., who came here with her mother, Mrs. Anna Kuntz, to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Prustup, of 1700 Huey street, has been stricken with typhoid fever. A sad feature of the case is the fact that her father is absent in Germany. It will be remembered that Mr. Kuntz left about a month ago with Carl Hoffman, of Jersey Land street, for a visit in Europe.—From a Pennsylvania newspaper.

C. R. Ostrander, of Bay City, attempted to commit suicide by taking laudanum and to hasten his death he appears to have taken some other kind of poison, but this caused him to vomit and saved his life. A complaint was filed against him today for insanity, and he was declared insane. Owing to his weak condition it will be several days before he will be able to be taken to the asylum.

Rev. Mr. Bellknop, pastor of the M. E. church at Hillsboro, was arrested for selling a deer hide. He killed a buck and sold the hide to the storekeeper at Dulph. When taken before Justice of the Peace, Wilson at Clowesdale he pleaded guilty, and the justice imposed the minimum penalty, which was $50. The rev. gentleman was quite surprised when he was arrested, for he did not know at the time that it was unlawful to barter deer hides at this season of the year.

The Sue H. Elmore left on Friday with the following passengers: Geo. Cook, O. C. Parkson and wife, Miss Wilson, Mrs. L. A. Dixon, P. L. Teullinger, F. G. Stillwell and wife, J. H. Jones and wife, J. Polthous, Mrs. Lammie, A. W. Shaffer and wife, Miss Cora Cross, F. Zeno and wife, Rev. Kellems and family, Fred Kaufman, J. C. Haunsberger, Alex. Squires, Mrs. Fredrickson, G. C. DeWitt and wife, W. R. Hollister, Henry Kunze, J. C. King and G. A. Eby.

James Walton's mare was taken up by the marshal for roaming at large and placed in the pound. Mr. Walton protested, but paid the penalty, and went to the barn for his mare, which he took home. Somehow the animal did not act exactly right and Mr. Walton did not know that he had "swiped" another man's horse from the barn instead of his mare, until the owner went to Mr. Walton's barn and demanded his horse. James might have managed swapping the horses only the sex of the animals was a dead give away.

The public school will reconvene, after the summer's vacation, on Monday, Sep. 13th, and the indications are that there will be the largest attendance of pupils in the history of the school, which is the best indication that the population of the city is gradually on the increase. The board of directors was successful in obtaining the services of Pro. W. R. Rutherford, who is not only a successful school man, but is very popular with the pupils and the people of this vicinity. Miss Morgan will be the teacher in the business department.

Port of Tillamook Carried.

The election on Tuesday in Tillamook, Hoquarton, Fairview and South Prairie precincts for the purpose of voting as to whether a Port of Tillamook should be created, composing the four precincts, passed off quietly, with the result that it was carried by a majority of 75 votes. In the forenoon it looked as though little interest was being taken in the election in Hoquarton and Tillamook precincts. Realizing that an unusually small vote would be cast if something was not done to get the voters to the polls, a number of persons hustled around and informed the voters of the election, some of whom had forgotten that the election was taking place that day. That stimulated the voting, and Justice Sappington, County Treasurer Todd and others interested in seeing the measure pass, were kept busy swearing in voters who were entitled to vote but who had not registered. Nothing was done in Fairview and South Prairie precincts to get the voters to the polls who favored the measure, while those who opposed it were active in getting a full vote, as the result of the election will plainly show. There was the best officing throughout the day and no effort was made to induce voters to cast their ballots one way or the other in the city. The majority in the two city precincts was overwhelmingly in favor of a Port, 231 to 30, and it would have been much larger had a full vote been cast, while the two county precincts gave an overwhelming vote against a Port, only 17 voting yes and 143 no. The vote in the four precincts as follows:

Tillamook	Yes	No.
Hoquarton	133	14
Fairview	98	16
South Prairie	5	75
	12	67
Total	248	173
