

Oregon State Dairy Association.

The next annual Convention of the Oregon State Dairy Association is to be held in Portland, December 10, probably in the Woodmen Building, 11th and Washington sts. The Association will be entertained by the Portland Commercial Club.

Among the inducements offered to come to Portland this year is a cash prize of $100 for dairy products by the Portland Flouring Mills Company. The creamerymen and others interested in dairying in Oregon are going to join hands to make this the great success of the year. A splendid program is being prepared which will include an address by Chief Rawl, of the Dairy Department, Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D.C. Although an effort has been made for several years past to get him to come, he has never before consented and this will probably be the greatest drawing card on the program that could be secured in the United States.

Last year over four hundred people attended and took part in the Convention at Salem, and this year we hope to bring one thousand active dairymen together at the Portland Convention. The four dairy inspectors who are now among the dairymen in the state will all combine to work for the coming Convention and there is every reason to believe that it will be the largest in the history of the association and an impetus to dairying in Oregon.

Justice vs. Mercy.

THE EDITOR TILLAMOOK HEADLIGHT.

What is justice? The reward for right, and punishment for wrong. Mercy would have never been instituted if men did what is right, and were satisfied to suffer the penalty for wrong.

What is right? Men are unable to agree as to just what is right.

If I sit down to eat with a Catholic on Friday, he is offended because I eat meat, but if there is a member of an Evangelical Church who is offended because I have a little of wine, while the meat and the both appear right to me, and I respect both men for their religion.

Justice is greatly a matter of opinion. What goes unnoticed in one locality is held a crime in another. All laws are supposed to be based on justice. If justice could be established, laws once made would never have to be changed to fit the popular mind and interest.

The penalty for wrong has no fixed degree. One man is sentenced one year, another ten for the same offense.

The human mind conceives two deities of God. One is the God of science, the other the God of mercy. Men judge others by themselves. They worship the God of justice. They think all men should be rewarded or punished without mercy. If he worships the God of mercy, he sees that all men have sinned and mercy is the only relief.

COWED BY MOSQUITOES.

A Clergyman's Experience on a British Columbia Trip.

In 1890 the Rev. John Sheepshanks, later on the bishop of Norwich, was traveling through British Columbia. His book, "A Bishop in the Rough," relates his experiences on the Douglas trail, where the greatest discomfort was caused by the swarms of ferocious mosquitoes. He met with Indians covered with paint, carrying branches of trees in their hands, which they were sweeping around them as they walked. They were evacuating their country, being temporarily driven out by these pests. If by chance a traveler arrived at a clearing or an open space where there appeared to be an immunity from them, ere long they would appear.

"Quite early in the morning after meeting those Indians I issued from my tent and found an open space on the river's side where I could get my bath. But no sooner had I emerged from the water than I found swarms of mosquitoes assailing me, and, do what I would, slaughter them by dozens, I suffered severely.

"It was on that same day, dining at a wayside house, that I took part in a scene which I can never forget. There were twenty-five men going up to the mines. Food was on the table. There was a ceaseless hum in the apartment, for it was literally brown with thousands of mosquitoes.

"It was swelteringly hot, yet every man had made himself as impervious as he could. Each man wore his coat buttoned up, strings were fastened round his cuffs, and trousers also if he had not on top boots. They had gauntlets on their hands, their hats were on, and veils hanging down covered face and neck. A man would stick his fork into a piece of meat and pop in under the veil as quickly as possible. When drinking their coffee the men would hold the cup underneath the veil, first clearing out the bodies of the mosquitoes which possibly had been feeding upon the hairy miner close at hand.

"Not a word was uttered during that brief meal, for we were beaten down and cowed by the insects. The first words spoken were by a miner in pushing away his chair from the table, 'Oh, this God forsaken country!'"

ABSENTMINDED.

The Dinner to Which Willis, the Artist, Invited a Friend.

Mr. Willis, the artist, was renowned for his absentmindedness, and the following story, says Henrietta Cockran in her book, "Celebrities and I," was told of him by a friend: "Willis invited me to dinner one afternoon, when I met him in the Strand. I accepted, reminding him that as he was absentminded he had better make a note of the evening. As he had no paper in his pocket, he wrote the date on his shirt cuff.

"When the appointed evening arrived I went to his studio. The door was opened by Willis, and I could see that he had forgotten all about the appointment.

"'Ah, old fellow,' he exclaimed, 'do not be too hard on me. The cuff went to the wash and the date with it. But there is a fowl in the pot boiling here,' continued Mr. Willis. 'Just come in and wait a few minutes.'

"I had my misgivings, but walked inside and sat upon the only chair not crowded with paint brushes and palettes.

"After waiting for about twenty minutes, feeling decidedly hungry, I groaned. This had its effect.

"He exclaimed in a dreamy voice, 'The fowl must be boiled by this time,' and, coming forward, he lifted the lid of the pot and peered inside. 'It is very odd,' he remarked, 'but I cannot see the fowl. Extraordinary! No one has been here, so the bird cannot have been stolen.'

"Well, the long and short of it is that a week or two later I called again at the studio, noticed a peculiar odor and discovered the fowl wrapped up in a piece of paper.

"'Ah,' said Willis. 'Now I know how it all happened. When the fowl was brought in there came a smart visitor—Lady G.—about sitting for her portrait. I must have thrown the fowl behind a canvas and forgotten about it!'"

Kissing the Book.

In England and all the English speaking countries the kissing of the book before the oath comes from the practice of touching a "halidame," or sacred object, as the old Roman touched the altar or Harold the casket of relics. The form "So help me God" is inherited from ancient Teutonic-Scandinavian law, under which the old northern, touching the blood daubed ring on the altar, swore, "So help me Frey and Niordh and the Almighty God"—that is, Thor. The first and last of these are the two old English gods, whose names we keep up in Friday and Thursday.—New York American.

Why Women's Minds Are Cleaner.

"Of course women should vote," he said. "Women deserve the suffrage as much as men—more, because their minds are purer and cleaner."

"Cleaner?" cried the sweet young thing he had taken in to dinner. "Of course they are, ever and ever so much cleaner! But how do you know that?" "Because they change them so much oftener," said he solemnly.—Exchange.

In Doubt.

Mrs. Meadow (at Paris hotel)—Ooo! There's a fly in this soup!
Mr. Meadow (who has traveled a little)—Hush, Miranda; don't speak so loud! No use exposing our ignorance. This bill of fare is all in French, and maybe we ordered fly soup.—London Tit Bits.

Good Cough Medicine for Children and Grown Folks, Too.

"We could hardly do without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Mrs. Flora Despard of Bloyd, Ky. "I found it to be so good for the croup and have used it for years. I can heartily recommend it for coughs, colds and croup in children and grown folks, too." The above shows the implicit confidence that many mothers place in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a confidence based on many years' experience in the use of it. No one need hesitate to use this remedy for it contains no choliform, opium or other narcotics and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch, of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Cough and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Grip, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough. 50c. and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by Chas. I. Clough.

What Would You Do?

In case of a burn or scald what would you do to relieve the pain? Such injuries are liable to occur in any family and everyone should be prepared for them. Chamberlain's Salve applied on a soft cloth will relieve the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a very severe one, will cause the parts to heal without leaving a scar. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

YOU HAVE THE BANK WE KEEP THE KEY

SAVE YOUR NICKELS AND DIMES

Every boy and girl, young man and young woman in Tillamook County should have a Saving account.

Remember—saving is a habit, and the habit is worth more than the actual amount of money saved. Habits are most easily formed in youth. GET THE "BANK HABIT." It's a good one.

It isn't thrifty to let your money lie idle or to spend every cent you get. Save at least a part of your earnings for the proverbial "Rainy Day," or that you may have the money to take advantage of some good investment or business opening that is sure to come your way some day. In other words, be "A Johnny on the Spot," when such an opportunity comes. Now is the time to open an account.

We pay four per cent interest on Savings Deposits and furnish free of charge a Steel Home Savings Bank, if desired, with each account. One dollar opens an account.
