SENATOR BOURNE AND ASSEMBLY PLAN.

His Address to the Voters Strongly Condemns It.

On returning to my home in Portland I find the same old conspirators engaged in the same old conspiracy to overthrow Oregon's system of popular government. This conspiracy comes now under a new name—that of the 'assembly plan'—and 'plan' is fitting term for it, as it is a design to restore under a new name the old three-shell game of politics, so prolific in the no distant past of political debauchery and of profit to political highbinders, party ringsters and special interests. The older inhabitants of this state need not be told.

WHO THE CONSPIRATORS MAY BE.

What the interests are that are backing them; that they are leagued together to destroy the sovereignty of the electorate and substitute therefor the boss and machine, nor to be told of the methods to be adopted in the execution of their purpose. But to the tens of thousands of new people who have made their homes among us since Oregon adopted the system of complete popular sovereignty a presentation of the situation may serve to put them upon their rights as completely enfranchised citizens as well as to remind old friends and supporters of the cause of popular government that now as ever, eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

WOULD RESTORE THE BOSS SYSTEM.

Time was when a few self-constituted leaders of Oregon politics arrogated to themselves the prerogative of government and made their assumption effective through illicit combinations and the use of money in any and every quarter where necessary to their purposes of control; that is, they commercialized conventions, Legislatures and the administrative branches of the city, county and state government. It obtained and still obtains in a more or less flagrant degree in the Union; and it had its boldest, most unscrupulous executive genius in Boss Tweed, who, recognizing the opportunity of the crook in government by party, declared he did not care who elected the candidates so long as he had the power to nominate the ticket.

TO RESTORE POLITICAL IMMORTALITY.

In the concrete, Tweed's declaration and his methods were and are the true gospel of the convention system, and the "assembly plan" is but a new name for the old game, for the restoration of which the conspirators are now bending their energies. In heartfelt sympathy with the Tweed morals, methods and ideals these enemies of fully enfranchised citizenship in Oregon have had their emissary in almost every village in the state during the past summer organizing the "assembly" machine wherever possible among officers holders and approachable editors. As a result the word is being passed down the line by the aforesaid conspirators that the country press and those country politicians out of jobs since the enactment of the primary law by the people have all been brought into line by the assembly conspirators. The truth or falsity of this report will develop as the next election draws near, and the scheme to degrade the electorate to political vassals unfolds.

TWICE BEATEN THEY RETURN.

Twice these machine operators and their misguided followers have been overwhelmingly beaten at the polls upon the issue raised by the Primary Election Law in putting bosses out of control and their shamelessness now in seeking to reach by a crooked means that which they cannot attain by a lawful, honest method, is worthy of a Tweed—their patron saint.

THEIR DISHONESTY NAILED.

Where they honest they would attempt the repeal of the Primary Law either through the Legislature or by popular vote. That they do neither is the confession of the meanness of their course and proof of the charge herein made that they are conspirators against the law of this state, against the integrity of their party which seek to rule or ruin, and against the people of the commonwealth of Oregon.

In seeking to overthrow the Primary Law and the restoration of the Convention system in its stead, they aim to restrict the franchise of the elector, on the implied assumption that the people are incapable of self-government; an assumption and an insult thinly veiled in the so-called "assembly" plan.

THE PEOPLE WILL NOT SURRENDER.

It is beyond belief that the electorate of this state who are today in the legitimate possession of a full-fledged franchise such as is enjoyed in no other state in the Union, with the complete power of sovereignty it carries, are ready knowingly to surrender it to a few designing politicians and their purchased clack. The assumption of the Primary Law is that the people are intelligent enough to know what they want and to exercise a discretionary choice of candidates for their public servants, and they have no need to call in a Tweed, or an "assembly" of Tweeds, to exercise that choice for them.

PARTY UNITY A FALSE PRETENSE.

The alleged purpose of the "Assembly" is to unify the Republican party, but every man familiar with Oregon political history knows that party disruption in Oregon had its origin in the methods pursued by managers of party conventions. There will be no difficulty in maintaining the prestige of the Republican party if the would-be leaders will observe the spirit of the primary law and accept the will of the people as is made known at the ballot box.

THE LAW A FUNDAMENTAL.

The Oregon Primary Law is based on the fundamental principle that the sovereign right to nominate and elect rests with the people, and the assumption of the law is that the people have sufficient intelligence to exercise that right in their own best interests. Moreover, they are conscious individually of the enlarged power the law places in the hands of each elector. It is a fundamental of human nature that no man ever voluntarily surrenders power that he feels is legitimately his own and that he has once exercised honestly and wisely. And what is true of the individual is also true of the aggregate of individuals. The electors will not therefore abdicate for the Tweeds.

TOOLS OF THE ASSEMBLY SHOULD BE BEATEN.

Yet wisdom suggests that as everybody's business is nobody's business, the supporters of the principles of popular sovereignty should meet the assault of the "assembly plan" with a united front. Electors who believe in the validity and importance of their sovereignty citizenship, in their own capacity to think and act for them, selves politically, should league together in a pledge to one another and to the whole people to vote against every aspirant and every candidate for office, both in the primary and general election, who may have sought, or who may have accepted by silence or in expression an indorsement or nomination at the hands of an assembly, convention or committee in violation of the spirit, intent or letter of the Primary Elections Law.

How One Doctor Successfully Trea's Pneumonia.

"In treating pneumonia," says Dr. W. J. Smith, of Sanders, "the only remedy I use for the lungs is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. While, of course, I would treat other symptoms with different medicines, I have used this remedy many times in my medical practice and have yet failed to find a case where it has not controlled the trouble. I have used it myself, as has also my wife for coughs and colds repeatedly, and I most willingly and cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other cough remedy to my knowledge." For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

For a Lame Back.

When you have pains or lameness in the back bathe the parts with Chamberlain's Liniment twice a day, massaging with the palm of the hand for five minutes at each application. Then dampen a piece of flannel slightly with this liniment and bind it on over the seat of pain, and you may be surprised to see how quickly the lameness disappears. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

"DRY" DETECTIVE BILLS O.K. Pendleton Holds Sleuth Earned $356 He Asks.

PENDELTON, Or., Dec. 16.—Holding that incurring of debt for the salaries and expenses of the detective who secured the wholesale list of indictments against violators of the local option law more than a year ago was involuntary and not voluntary, Judge Bean ruled this afternoon that the County Court had a right to order the bill paid. This is considered a signal victory, not only for District Attorney Phelps, who otherwise would have been compelled to pay the bill of $356, but also for law enforcement and local option.

Though more than $7500 in fines was secured as a result of the detective work in the city, the liquor interest sought to tie the hands of the detective by compelling him to pay all the investigation bills. A suit was filed enjoining the court from paying the bill, on the ground that the voluntary indebtedness, which it was permitted to incur, had already been exceeded. Phelps contended that the employment of the detective was creating an involuntary debt, for the reason that it was necessary to prevent a state of anarchy.

Pleading guilty to the charge of selling liquor in violation of the local option law, W. A. Brown and George Darveau, two of Pendleton's leading hotelmen, were fined $300 each by Circuit Judge Bean to day. They had been indicted by the grand jury several weeks ago and when arraigned at that time, entered pleas of not guilty. This morning they were given an opportunity of changing their pleas and this was done. The fines were promptly paid. The cases were scheduled to come up for trial on January 4.

Hearts Christmas Call.

If it is Christmas night
 And the moon's pale light,
 Peeps thru your curtained pane,
 And if your fire glows bright
 And your hearts grow light
 And mirth is given reign;
 If the green tree is hung
 The presents all swung
 And candles lit with care,
 With your joy near complete
 Could you wish as a treat
 That any one else was there?

If the phonograph plays
 Any the big table lays
 Spread for late evening feast,
 If now the church bells chime
 And the clocks point to nine
 And winds breath from the east,
 While you're all round the fire
 E'er of fun you all tire
 And a quiet o'er all steals,
 Could you let your thro'ts stray
 To those fare away
 And feel as one far away feels?

When the fire has burned low
 And all lights lost their glow,
 And moon beams shine on the floor,
 When your friends have gone home
 And you sit now alone,
 When nature throbs as before;
 While loud the old clocks tick,
 And dull burnt embers click
 And all earth seems in repose,
 Does your heart then look back
 For the dear ones you lack
 And wish them with you, who knows?
