

NETARTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridgy, of Cloverdale, were the guests of Geo. W. Phelps Thursday night and Friday, it being their first trip to Netarts.

Ralph Ackley, of Portland, was visiting with his father-in-law Friday and Saturday of last week, returning to Tillamook Saturday evening.

Dr. I. M. Smith was called to Netarts Saturday evening to see Geo. W. Phelps, who is very sick. He has been failing in health since the first of the year.

B. O'Hara went to Tillamook the last of the week, returning the same day.

S. J. Reading has hired out to work for B. O'Hara for one year.

Chas. Arrance and family, of Kansas, and a brother of Dar Arrance, of Netarts, is expected here this week, where they will probably make their future home.

J. E. Davis is expected home soon and will move his family out near Monmouth, where he has a homestead.

BOULDER CREEK.

W. N. Bays is moving his household good to Beaver, where he has bought Mr. Ginn's property.

It sounds good to hear the busy hum of the Hazel Bend cheese factory once more.

H. L. Jensen had the misfortune to lose a fine young cow last week.

Work has been started again on the new road near W. D. Gladwill's under the able supervision of R. O. Richards, of Blaine.

We are glad to note that Miss Fannie Smith, who has been suffering with her eyes, is greatly improved.

Miss Daisy Allender closed a six month's term of school in the Brown district by an entertainment last Friday afternoon. She left Saturday for Tillamook, where we are informed, she has accepted a position in Mrs. Sturgeon's millinery store.

H. A. Chopard and family went to Hebo Saturday to eat Easter eggs with J. W. Hester and family. They also visited Mrs. Chopard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Getchell.

John Krake is home again, after a week's stay with his parents at Tillamook.

W. N. Bays and son Maurice, went to the county seat last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Krake of Fairview, came out Saturday to visit their son Eldee, remaining until Monday.

Mr. O. P. Mattoon, of Hebo, was in our vicinity last week trying to buy some hogs; there seems to be a great demand for porkers this spring.

John Borba and his brother-in-law Mr. T. Soares went to Tillamook last Monday.

Plowing and sowing oats has been the chief occupation of most of our fellow citizens for some weeks past. A good many acres of oats will be harvested in this part of the county the coming season.

Mrs. Roza Borba visited Mrs. May Blalock last Monday. Mr. Fowler and family, our new neighbors on the Bays' place, moved in Saturday.

Mrs. Della Jensen visited her mother, Mrs. Bays last Monday.

Dr. Withcombe, director of the State Experimental station at Corvallis, makes the following suggestions in a communication:

"We have done considerable experimental work at this station regarding the extermination of gophers with various devices, such as spring guns, fumigation, etc., but have found the strychnine poison to be most successful. Our plan is to take small cubes of carrot, slit it with a knife and put in a few grains of strychnine, and throw these in the runways, or treat raisins in the same way as gophers are very fond of raisins. For moles we take one dram of strychnine dissolved in a pint of water and soak about a quart of field or garden peas in this solution and then put them in the runway. Where the ground is very badly infested with these pests it takes persistent work to exterminate them."

Good Cough Medicine for Children.
The season for coughs and colds is near at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's cough remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and a few others who have tried it are unwilling to use any other. Mrs. F. Starcher of Riply, W. Va. says: "I have never used any other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children and has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult.—For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more.—C. I. Clough.

Pointed Remarks.

Monopolies die hard, but in the end public opinion is too much for them.

Ten cents a pound for hogs on the hoof is going to put pig's feet in the luxury class.

Farmers are advertising for help. A word to the city agricultural student should be sufficient.

A tariff war brought on by Canada might turn out to be a Dominion boom for annexation.

All the strike news of the season indicates that arbitration would have been much the best starting point.

What will Col. Bryan have to show for his trip to South America? He certainly will not try to lug in any pelts or skeletons.

Col. Roosevelt advises the Egyptians on their civic duties, but will have a knottier subject if the House of Lords asks his counsel.

The latest quotation of a choice Missouri mule is $350. In these times there's music to a farmer's ears in a squeal, a grunt or a bray.

The new automobile record is a mile in twenty-eight seconds. It is no longer a question whether man can fly, but if any bird can keep up.

In lecturing to hobos on alfalfa it is safer to mention that it needs no replanting for years than that it must be cut several times each season.

Speculators who corner the markets will be apt to avoid Manchester as a place to play the hero. Mr. Patten found the cotton pit more like a bear.

It is stated in the dispatches that Mr. Roosevelt's first breakfast at Chartum consisted of six eggs and a large platter of bacon. He is the prodigal son, all right.

In the annual report of the sugar trust the weighing suits represent an expense of $2,135,496. The attempt to cheat in the scoop turned out badly in the hogshead.

A lecturer on poultry raising says that more than 200 chickens should never be allowed on one farm. All who have tried arithmetical progression on the hen will agree with him.

A well-known economist predicts that the United States will be in the throes of a financial panic in 1912. These panics always come when men bet on the wrong presidential candidate.

Australia will pattern its new military institution after West Point. Our neighbors in the commonwealth in the South Seas continue to regard Uncle Sam as a great and good model.

An Iowa farmer lost $3000 and then $6000 in two successive deals with fake sporting men. The profits of agriculture are large, but not sufficient to warrant branching out as a dead-game sport.

Mr. Patten says he was not assaulted on the floor of the Manchester Cotton Exchange, but only booted and shoved about until he was led into a private office from which he finally dodged unmolested. Without waiting to ask why the exchange dissembled its love Mr. Patten lost no time in taking the next steamer.

"Men who make corners in raw materials, in men, life and labor are no longer sent to prison, but they can not reasonably expect to be welcomed by the people who have suffered through their operations."

So says the Manchester Guardian, in commenting on the mobbing which James A. Patten, the Chicago plunger, received in that big British manufacturing town. The critics who are saying that the people of American cities are more insolent than those of Europe are requested to take notice of the Manchester incident.

The appeal of the Mine Workers' Union from the decision of the Federal Circuit Court of Northern West Virginia, which restrained the union from trying to unionize the employees of the Hitchman Coal and Coke Company of that state, has now been dismissed by the Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, or other wise interfering with said employes, so as to cause them to break their engagements with the company. Samuel Gompers, head of the labor federation, referring to this decision, said: "The decision declaring the sympathetic lawful is nothing less than the recognition of human slavery."

Farming is a money-making business, according to the facts and figures in sight, and city people are interested in the subject to an unusual extent. Young men looking around for what are called "openings" have scarcely included agriculture in the list. It has been hard to retain farmers' sons in the business. The call of the city has been powerful, and the call of the farm but little heeded. For many years the farmers have been asking for more help, but often without success. At harvest time extra inducements have been offered, and some young men have responded during the college vacation. But the demand for workers on the farms is still lively, and there seems to be scarcely a limit to the opportunities in that quarter. It is an excellent chance to gain practical experience, and a few years diligently spent on a farm, with fair wages and board, should qualify a young man to go into business for himself, and not necessarily as a tenant. He should be able to buy or homestead some acres of his own and apply the positive knowledge he had gained.

The new element of distrust thrown about the story of Comd. Peary by the refusal of the House committee to favor special honors for his discovery of the North Pole has brought out defense from two noted polar explorers. Knud Rasmussen, the Danish expert in Arctic travel, is quoted as saying that the length of sledge journeys which Peary claims to have made is not impossible. Rasmussen himself says he has traveled on sledges from 70 to 100 miles in a day. But still he thinks it a little strange that Peary made those wonderful marches on his return journey from the pole when his dogs must have been very tired. Rasmussen thinks Peary should give all his data to Congress. From London comes an interview with Lieut. Shackleton, who holds the Antarctic record. He says one can not have the slightest doubt of Peary's achievement.

There has been occasionally criticism on the old settlers, and some call them mossbacks, just because they do not care to sell their property, and also because they do not contribute financially to all new industries. Now let us reason a little. The mossbacks, as you call them, generally have money in the bank. Their credit is gilt edge. They pay a goodly sum for taxes and you will always find their larder laden with good things to eat. Can their critics say as much? We all have noticed that the fellows who are yelling the loudest for great industries and municipal improvements seldom have any property, and consequently do not care how much the taxes are that the natural results of all public expenditure. If the younger generation had to toil in their youth, and endure the hardships and sufferings these old mossbacks, as you call them, had to undergo, they would know how they earned the little luxuries they now enjoy, and the old homestead with the old fashioned home is the result of honest toil.—Washington County News.

An Ideal Cough Medicine.
"As an ideal cough medicine I regard Chamberlain's cough remedy in a class by itself, says Dr. R. A. Wilshire of Gwynneville, Ind. "I take great pleasure in testifying to the results of Chamberlain's cough medicine. In fact I know of no other preparation that meets so fully the expectations of the most exacting in cases of croup or coughs of children. As it contains no opium, chloroform or morphine it certainly makes a most safe, pleasant and efficacious remedy for the ills it is intended.—For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

No Substitute.
Accept no substitute for Foley's Honey and Tar. It is the best and safest remedy for coughs, colds throat and lung troubles. Contains no opiates and no harmful drugs. Remember the name, Foley's Honey and Tar, and accept no substitutes.—C. I. Clough.

Stiff Neck.
Stiff neck is caused by rheumatism of the muscles of the neck. It is usually confined to one side or to the back of the neck and one side. While it is often painful quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Not one case of rheumatism in ten requires internal treatment. When there is no fever and no swelling, as in the usual and chronic rheumatism Chamberlain's Liniment will accomplish more than any internal treatment.—For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

An Awful Eruption of a volcano excites brief interest, and your interest in skin eruptions will be as short, if you use Bucklen's Arnica Salve, their quickest cure. Even the worst boils, ulcers, or fever sores are soon healed by it. Best for Burns, cuts, Bruises, Sore Lips, chapped Hands, Chills and Piles. It gives instant relief. 25c. at Chas. I. Clough.
