They moved to Bay City in October, 1908, and the cause upon which the plaintiff seeks a divorce is that defendant treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner and heaped upon her personal indignities, rendering her life burdensome, and this continued without interruption till last April, when the defendant became jealous of her without cause and accused her falsely of paying more attention to other men than to him, and would become sulky and refuse to speak to her; also that the defendant failed, refused and neglected to earn a livelihood for the plaintiff. No children have been born to the couple.

Auto Party from Eugene Meet With Numerous Mishaps.

Attorney Lee M. Travis and family and Dr. and Mrs. York, of Eugene, came in on Tuesday on a visit to the editor's family, and met with several mishaps on the road with their auto, and instead of getting here in one day it took them 3 1/2 days to make the trip. Last year when Mr. and Mrs. Travis came in on a visit their auto turned over in the south part of the county and they came near meeting with a serious accident. Dr. York thinks Lee is the biggest Jonah to travel with in an automobile. This is the Dr.'s diary of his first trip into Tillamook, the county famous for its splendid cheese, and splendid cool climate at this season of the year:
Ready to start on trip—Friday, 4 p. m., but delayed because of repairs to car and finally left Eugene Saturday morning at 5 a. m.
Spring broke at Grimes' farm, 16 miles from Eugene at 7 a. m.
Chaffeur returned to Eugene with another car and obtained another spring, while Mr. Travis and I pitched horse shoes.
Left Grimes' farm at 4 p. m.
Fire exploded in hot dust going into Albany at 5 p. m.
Tire repaired at 6 p. m.
Inner tube broke at 7:30 p. m.
Sent to Independence for another car and arrived there at 11 p. m.
Chaffeur repaired our "Thomas Flyer" car and he arrived at Independence 3 a. m. Sunday, with another flat tire.
Sunday, 9:30 a. m.—Chaffeur left for Portland for another supply of inner tubes.
Monday morning—No chaffeur on hand, so abandoned the flyer.
Monday, 2:30 p. m. Left Independence by train for Sheridan and arrived at Sheridan at 7 p. m.
Left Sheridan, Tuesday at 8 a. m. on the auto stage line and arrived at Tillamook 1:30 p. m.
Time from Eugene to Tillamook 3 1/2 days. Distance 142 miles. Average distance per day, 42 4/7 miles.
Although the trip from Eugene to Sheridan was a long a tedious affair, it was quite different from that city to Tillamook City, for the auto hit the road in some places at a gait of a mile a minute, convincing the visitors from the classic city of Eugene that Tillamookers go the limit in speeding autos. Dr. York has had enough to do with Thomas "flyers," and the next trip he makes to Tillamook he wants a real flying machine, but even then it would not be safe to have Lee along, for he would hoodoo it, the same as he did the last two trips into Tillamook, also Bryan's chances of election when he went to Nebraska with the committee to notify that gentleman that he had been nominated on the Democratic ticket for president.

Auto Spee.ing in the City.

EDITOR HEADLIGHT, Tillamook.
Sir,—I was greatly amused the other day on reading in a Tillamook paper that the autos ran through the business streets of the town at the rate of 20 miles an hour. Why, man alive, if any man should attempt to run four miles an hour he would break every spring in his auto. Such crossings! Why they would be a disgrace to any town, even Tillamook. Yes, I even say Tillamook, for any town that is so lacking in sanitary laws that they let all sorts of dirty refuse rot in the gutters of the streets, especially the business section, cannot be expected to have much of any thing, even crossings. But until the crossings are fixed properly don't worry over the autos speeding on your streets. It would be an impossibility.

AN OUTSIDER.

Boulder Creek.

Haying is nearly over in our neighborhood, with fine weather for it all the way through.
Numbers of fishermen can be seen along our streams most any day now, and plenty of autos are spinning about.
Revs. Carrington and Preston are holding a revival meeting in a tabernacle at the Gladwill bridge. Next Sunday they purpose holding a union S. S. with Boulder Blaine, and Brown S. Schools, and preaching in the forenoon and evening. Every one is cordially invited. Bring your dinner and stay all day. You will find the time well spent.
Mr. and Mrs. Mills went to the Valley last week after their household goods.

Both the express companies and post office are trying to handle a line of business which legitimately belongs to the bank, and which the bank can take care of at less cost than they can. promptly. The hall will be decorated, refreshments will be served and an extra large orchestra engaged. Deputy Grand Chancellor James Walton, Jr., has opened registry books for the use of visiting Knights who wish to qualify for admission to the convention and cordially invites all visiting members of the order who desire to be present to leave their names with him.

"In Missouri," at The Opera House.

On Friday and Saturday evenings at the opera house the Dramatic Club will present "In Missouri," under the personal direction of H. J. McCowell. This will be the best play the Club has offered so far. The cast will be a surprise, and the manner in which the members handle the different characters will be a pleasure. The action takes you back through old familiar places "In Missouri," such as Bowling Green, St. Charles Jonesboro, Louisiana, Vinitia, and many others. It will call to mind the happy days of your youth. It shows politics as they were, and now as they are. Note the confidence of the Missouri Democratic party, and the struggle of a poor blacksmith to win a position in politics that his daughter may have a standing in society. This play was one of the biggest successes played in Portland by the Baker Stock Co. last fall. It may never be played again. See it while you can. There will certainly be a big turn out, judging from the many inquiries for seats. The seat sale is now open at Lamar's. Usual Prices.

The Spider.

Of all the solitary insects I have ever seen the spider is the most sagacious, and its actions to one who has attentively considered them seem almost to excel belief. The spider is formed by nature for a state of war, not only upon other insects, but upon its fellows. For this state nature seems to have formed it with singular perfection. Its head and breast are covered with a strong natural coat of mail, which is impenetrable to the attacks of every other insect, and its lower parts which envelop the sting even of a wasp. Its legs are terminated by strong claws not unlike those of a lobster, and their vast length, like spears, serves to keep every assailant at a safe distance. Not worse furnished for observation than for attack or defense, it has several eyes, large and transparent, covered with a horny substance, which however, does not impede its vision.—Scotsman.

Not What They Seemed.

A marquis who was in residence for a few days at a Parisian hotel discovered that her pearl necklace, worth $15,000, had disappeared from her room. Suspicion fell on a messenger boy, who admitted his guilt, but declared that the necklace had been taken from him by his mother. The mother corroborated her son's statement, expressing astonishment that so much trouble should be made about "a trasy little trinket," which, she explained, looked so cheap and tawdry that she had given it to her daughter-in-law. This young woman, in her teens, displayed an equal contempt for the "bits of things." She told the police that she had given the necklace to her little girl to wear, but she had removed about half the beads. All the missing pearls were found in a box among buttons and hooks and eyes.

A Glean of Hops.

They were evidently from the country and had wandered into the first place of amusement they found. A performance of "Richard III." was in progress, and after buying tickets they went squeaking down the aisle, led by the usher, to seats well toward the front.
They watched the stage at first with hope of some excitement, but with steadily decreasing interest. At last the young woman touched the young man.
"Let's go out, Jim," she said. "It's more interesting out in the street."
"Let's hold on a minute longer," returned her escort. "It cost considerable to get in, and besides, that clown has just called for a horse. I shouldn't wonder if the show's really going to begin now, Emma."—Youth's Companion.

When Cricket Was a Crime.

Under a statute of Edward IV. England's great national pastime, cricket, was declared a crime, owing to the game having become so popular that it interfered with archery, the then sport of kings. The law was rigorously enforced, and every person convicted of playing the game was fined £10 and sent to prison besides. It was not until the formation of the famous Hambledon Cricket club in 1749 that the statute was repealed.—Dundee Advertiser.

The Retort Direct.

"See here," cried the artist who had come to complain about the materials he had bought. "I can't imagine anything worse than your paints."
"That's strange," replied the dealer. "Don't you ever use your imagination on your painting?"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Followed the Leader.

Master—Who can tell me what useful article we get from the whale?
Johnnie—Whalebone. Master—Right. Now, what little boy or girl knows what we get from the seal?
Tommy—Sealing wax.—London Straps.

"What's a' yer hurry, Sandy? It's no 10 o'clock yet."
"Well, ye see, Ah've changed me lodgin's, an Ah'm no vera weel acquainted w' th' new staircase."—London Bystander.

"Why, she's prostrated with grief! She can't see a soul except the dressmaker."
