Will Lead to Success. Let the Republicans of Oregon understand that there is a straight-out Republican press association in this state, separate and distinct from the press association. The Republican party and the Republican press should stand shoulder to shoulder in the coming campaign. They need each other in the great work that is before them.--Eugene Register.

With a united Republican press the success of the party this fall is assured. No other single factor will contribute so surely to the election of the entire ticket from top to bottom, and it is a matter for congratulation that the boys have gotten together. The time-worn adage that "A house divided against itself cannot stand" is as true in politics as in any other endeavor, and the humiliating condition in Oregon to the internal dissensions which have been aided and abetted by its enemies.--Albany Citizen.

What we can't for the life of us understand is why any Republican should be found shinning with the Democrats? A Democrat is a good scrapper. He is always right there, trying his best to lick the Republican party. That's politics--and it's fair. But why any man calling himself a Republican should be found lending his influence to movements which tend only to weaken and disrupt the Republican party, by making it easier for Democrats to get into office, is beyond our comprehension.--Polk County Observer.

Democratic Ticket Named In Assembly. Governor--Jefferson Myers, Multnomah. Secretary of State--C. P. Strain, Umatilla. State Treasurer--T. A. Rinehart, Union. Attorney-General--A. E. Reames, Jackson. Superintendent of Public Instruction--J. B. Horner, Benton. State Printer--James Godfrey, Marion. Railroad Commissioner-at-large--Oswald West. Representative, in Congress, first district--S. M. Garland, of Linn, or L. M. Travis, of Lane. Representative, in second district--J. N. Teal or Dr. Harry Lane. Justices Supreme Court--W. T. Slater, of Union, and W. R. King, of Baker.

Apprehensive lest the Democratic party fall into the clutches of Senator Bourne and his troupe of political acrobats, the Kentucky Klick, an organization of strict party men met in assembly in Portland on Saturday, took the reins in hand and put out a state ticket. This summary action was the result of failure on the part of the Democratic Central Committee to take any action looking to the selection of candidates. The central committee took the stand that it would savor too much of regular Republicanism to hold an assembly. Members of the Klick decided that it savored too much of Bourne to show such shyness. The Democratic party has a full ticket out for the state offices. Inasmuch as the central committee probably will not call a similar meeting the ticket as selected by the Kentucky Klick will be allowed to stand unopposed by an concerted force.

Nor is the Klick going to stop now. The assembly, which was held in the Chamber of Commerce, merely marked the beginning. The Klick has a membership of something more than 500, practically all of them staunch Democrats, born south of the Mason and Dixon line. The membership furthermore extends to every part of the state. The Democrats selected will in few instances get out petitions. It is intended that their names shall be written in at the primaries by Democratic voters. Fifty thousand circulars will be scattered through the state instructing voters in that task.
