

Murder Revealed by a Dream. Perhaps the most amazing crime mystery ever solved by a dream was that revealed by a murder trial a couple of generations ago.

Horse Dentists. In every large city there are now dentists who devote their entire attention to horses, and they are kept surprisingly busy the year round.

The Parson Bird. Among the feathered inhabitants of New Zealand there is a bird called the parson bird, or tul.

Where He Made His Money. Years ago a gentleman settled in the south of England and became very popular in the neighborhood.

Her Conclusion. "I've got my opinion of a woman that can't cook," growled William De Kikur, glaring at his better half.

Well Answered. "Why do you weep over the sorrows of people in whom you have no interest when you go to the theater?" asked the man.

Starting a Family Jar. "No man ever obtained anything worth having without working hard for it," said Mrs. Bickers to her husband, who was in a discouraged mood.

A Philosopher. Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a philosopher? Pa—A philosopher, my son, is a man who can pretend to have a light heart when he has a heavy one.

The Supply. Kicker—All the fools aren't dead? Bicker—Another trouble is that they aren't all born yet.—New York Press.

His Two Seats. A large and pompous person, wearing a high hat, a long coat, yellow spats and a congenial sneer, for several days made himself obnoxious around a Washington hotel a bit ago.

Solon's Answer. "What is the most perfect form of government?" was once propounded at the court of Perlander, king of Corinth, one of the seven wise men of Greece.

Its Purpose. They stood in front of one of Washington's leading furniture stores. The windows were full of beautifully inlaid pieces of furniture, such things as are only within the reach of the rich and are meant to lend an additional touch to the already perfectly appointed home.

Feminine Resource. Mr. D. went to the club, leaving Mrs. D. with a lady friend whose abilities as a scandalmonger and mischief maker were pre-eminent.

Poison in War. When the French beat the Formosans along the coast in 1881 the latter retired to the interior. When the French pursued them they found a queer line of defense, beyond which they could make no progress and in storming which many died.

Argus Eyed and Hydra Headed. The term "Argus eyed" means watchful. According to the Grecian fable, Argus had 100 eyes, and Juno set him to watch all of whom she was jealous.

No Fire Within. Times have changed. Our fathers for some strange reason preferred a cold meeting house to one which was warmed by artificial heat.

The Better Way. Barber—Shall I take a little of the ends of your hair off, sir? Customer—Yes, I think you had better take it off at the ends unless you can get it out of the middle.

What Did He Mean? "Have you noticed, my friend, how many fools there are on earth?" "Yes, and there's always one more than you think."—Sourire.

Fidelity in small things is at the base of every great achievement.—Wagner.

Burma's Gilded Pagoda. Rangoon, the principal city of Burma, grew up around the sacred spot on which is built the great Shway Dagon pagoda, one of its principal wonders.

Old Man of the Mountain. The title "Old Man of the Mountain" was first applied to Hassan Ben Sabbal, who founded a formidable dynasty in Syria A. D. 1090.

Serpents and Music. Barnard concludes from his personal observation of cobras in Ceylon, says the Scientific American, that the serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable and that the only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity.

Arms and the Men. "I see you have your arm in a sling," said the inquisitive passenger. "Broken, is it?" "Yes, sir," responded the other passenger.

The Change of a Name. How family names change in the course of many years is illustrated by the conversion of "Boteville" into "Thynne." An English deed bearing date in the closing days of the fifteenth century shows three brothers then flourishing—John Boteville of Boteville and Thomas and William Boteville.

He Wanted Figs. At a small stag dinner the only young and unnoteworthy person present sat throughout the meal communing with his own bashful soul, afraid lest by speaking he betray his sophistication. Dessert being served, he felt he must have some of the candied fruit at the other end of the table.

Found Wanting. Mrs. Laytebyrd (as Laytebyrd comes in unsteadily at 3 a. m.—You have no excuse for coming home at this hour and in this condition. Laytebyrd—I had one, my dear, and it was a grand one, but I can't think what it was.

The Head of the Family. In Germany the father is the head of the family, in France the mother, in England the eldest son, in America the daughter.—Don C. Seitz.

The Present Time. Now is the only point of time of great moment to you. If you devote yourself to now the past will be a dream, the future a present realization.
