

That New Year's Dance.

That the New Year's dance will be an enjoyable affair seems to be assured beyond all doubt. The best talent in the town will furnish the music and the orchestra will be an extra large and well balanced one. With the holiday decorations and elegant floor and other things that have been provided to gratify the desires of dancers, a splendid time is assured. The management has tried to make the invitation list complete but realizes that some are always overlooked. If by any chance your invitation has failed to reach you, see one of the committee. Every club member should come to this party and help with his dollar to swell the proceeds, a substantial part of which is to go to the Gifford Stillwell Park to make improvements. This Park should be fenced and the grounds beautified and the supplying of funds to do this is almost an obligation of the entire people of Tillamook. Whether a dancer or not come to the party and help in this worthy cause and, at the same time, spend a pleasant evening. Do not get the date confused. Remember next Friday evening, Dec. 30th, at 8:30.

The Interscholastic Debate.

The debating teams of the Nehalem and Tillamook High Schools met at the Commercial Club rooms Friday night and debated the question, Resolved, that it would be for the best interests of the United States to build and maintain a large navy.

This was the first of the series of Interscholastic Debates for this year and as it was to decide which team should go to the valley, there was considerable interest on the part of the High School students of both places.

Bealy Stam was the first speaker on the affirmative and in his whirlwind speech it was easy to see how the decision must go. But Herman Schollmeyer, the leader of the negative, was found to have some good points, although logic was lacking. After him Elbert Ginn, the first colleague of the affirmative, spoke then Frank Thompson, who seemed to have a little stage fright but did well for the worst time. Oscar Aschim followed him and then Martha Alley the little girl from Nehalem and second colleague for the negative came before the people. Two of the Tillamook team immediately became anxious to hear the decision when she began speaking, for they had had experience with the fair sex before in the debate at the Club Rooms and found it disastrous to them, and when Miss Alley began slinging questions at the affirmative their leader nearly collapsed and was kept in his chair only by the efforts of his colleagues.

After Mr. Schollmeyer had summed up for the negative Mr. Stam again came before the house with a fast beating heart and amid cheers from all sides and not only upheld his side in all points but tore the argument of the negative all to pieces.

After a selection by the High School Male Quartet the decision of the judges was read, and although no complimentary votes were cast this year the decision was two to one in favor of the Cardinal and White. More interest was taken in this debate than any before and the High School not only thanks the people for the way they filled the auditorium but also promises to do still better next time.

After the debate a reception was given to the Nehalem team to which all their company, the Tillamook High School, Student body, Alumni, Faculty, School Board, and the Taylor Evangelistic Company were invited. Prof. Baker acted as Toast-Master and certainly showed us that he knew how.

The High School wishes to thank the Commercial Club for the use of their rooms and the Debating team hope that their argument will act as did the "Phillipic" of Demosthenes, and be the cause of a larger navy being built.

The Revival Meetings.

The meetings at the Commercial Building are being attended by large numbers of people each night, the numbers having increased greatly since the building has been fixed so as to destroy the echo which was so noticeable at first. At present a person can hear in the extreme rear of the building the words of Mr. Taylor.

the expenses of the meeting and enough money was raised for this purpose, one man, B. H. Hathaway giving $25. As this matter is cleared, up no more collections will be taken for this purpose during the meetings, which will make it a great deal more pleasant for some. Although there has not been as much interest shown as might be expected there has been, up to the present time over thirty who have gone forward. A collection was taken Wed-

Mr. Taylor has delivered some of the best sermons the past week that have ever been heard in this place, all three of his Sunday sermons being excellent. The morning, on "The Power of Motherhood" was to the point in every instance. The illustrated sermon in the afternoon on "The Little Foxes" was filled with good advice to the children, but the evening sermon was the best which we have heard Mr. Taylor deliver yet. The subject was "The People's Savior." All his sermons are spiced with sometimes witty and sometimes pathetic stories which always illustrate the point clearly and also keep the people from getting restless.

Mr. Wegner's solos, "You must Unload," which is illustrative of the pleasure seeking Christian, and "Serving the Lord in My Weak Way" illustrative of the lazy church member, were greatly enjoyed by all present.

Death of Captain Snow.

Death claimed Captain H. A. Snow on Friday evening, who had been a resident of this county for 20 years, previous to which he had been a pilot and captain of several vessels on the Columbia River. The cause of death was paralysis, having had a stroke about eight months since, which confined him to his home in this city, where he died. The deceased was buried on Monday in the Oddfellows' Cemetery, the funeral services being in the Methodist church. He is survived by his wife; also two grandsons, William Snow, of Tillamook, and H. V. Parsons, of McMinnville; and two granddaughters, Margaret Kelly, of Seattle, and Ethel Snow, of Portland.

Much credit is due William Snow for the faithful way which he has cared for his grandfather during his last illness.

Captain Snow was born near Rockland, Me., in 1836, and went to sea in 1848. He arrived at Portland in 1863, master of the ship William A. Banks, loaded with the rolling stock for the Cascade Railroad and machinery for shops at The Dalles. Upon his arrival at Portland, Captain Snow entered the employ of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company and was made mate of the steamer Nanaimo. In 1866-1869 he was captain of the John H. Couch on the Portland-Astoria run. In 1869 he was made pilot of the tug Astoria, owned by Captain George Flavel, and piloted ships on the Columbia River bar.

On New Year's day, 1871, the steamer Dixie Thompson was launched, and Captain Snow was made her captain. He remained on this steamer for two years. From 1874 until 1880 Captain Snow piloted foreign ships on the Willamette and Columbia Rivers. In 1890 he came to Tillamook, where he has since resided.

Notice.

The deputy game wardens will prohibit shooting from power boats in the future as it is against the law to do so. This custom has been going on for many years, contrary to law, and now the deputies have orders to stop it. So as not to be too hasty in this matter, they wish to give due notice of their intentions.

Card of Thanks.

The relatives of the late Capt. B. A. Snow wish to use this means to express their thanks for the kind assistance which they have been given in this their hour of sorrow.
