

THE NEWSPAPER MEN GET TOGETHER.

Form the Tillamook County Editor-Boosters' Association.

The newspaper men of Tillamook County got together and to stay together in an effort to boost the entire county and to foster a boosting spirit amongst their constituents. There is to be no "knocking," no factional or sectional strife amongst the editors, for the association is going to give one steady, persistent pull to boost and develop every section of Tillamook County. The editors are a unit on this point and they are broad-minded enough to know that when one section is benefited by industrial activity other parts of the county are benefited or roused to activity. This is the spirit in which the editors have entered this editor-boosters' campaign, and to assist in every possible way the commendable work the commercial bodies have taken in hand. So there will be no friction, but united action, notwithstanding that the editors have formed an exclusive organization to make things hum in the county the next few years.

The editors were the guests of the Tillamook Commercial Club and all the newspaper men in the county were present. Those from the north missed connections. Editor Miller missed the boat and was not present at the morning session, likewise Editor Effenberger, of Nehalem, missed connection on account of trains not running on time and then had to hit the ties for nine miles. He not only missed the morning session, but there was a vacant chair when the editors dined together at the new bungalow home of Editor Baker. They both, however, got here.

Editor Taylor was made temporary president and Editor Trombley temporary secretary, when the editors elected the following permanent officers of the Tillamook County Editor-Boosters' Association:

- President—Fred C. Baker, Tillamook Headlight.
- Vice-President—Frank Taylor, Cloverdale Courier.
- Secretary and Treasurer—C. E. Trombley, Tillamook Herald.
- Executive Board, including the above officers—B. H. Miller, Bay News, and Hugo Effenberger, Nehalem Enterprise.

All ex-newspaper men of Tillamook County are eligible to membership, which made Rollie W. Watson a member.

The first matter of importance to be discussed was the proposed county fair. This had the unanimous approval of the editors, the consensus of opinion being in favor of the dairymen forming an organization and having the management of it, the business men pledging a lump sum to help them defray the expense, the editor-boosters agreeing to boost the fair as soon as they can obtain pointers.

In discussing road matters, the editor-boosters soon showed that they were enthusiastic good roads advocates. They were unanimous in their contention that the county court should employ an engineer and experienced road builder to plan out and supervise all road work, so that it could be done systematically and the taxpayers get value for their money. They protested against Tillamook and Yamhill counties leasing toll roads and characterized it as a menace to both counties. And to make a coast automobile road the editor-boosters were heartily in favor of the county court improving the main road to Dolph, and they thought that Yamhill and Polk counties should have enough interest in good roads to improve the main roads in their counties. Likewise, they favored the county meeting Clatsop county with a good road.

These were some of the resolutions which were adopted:

Resolved: That this Association pledges itself to support ways and means for the port improvements of Tillamook, Bay City, Nehalem, and also the institution of a Port of Nestucca.

Resolved: That this association place itself in favor of asking our representatives in the legislature that they support or initiate a measure, whereby the legally constituted papers of the state be furnished gratis the compiled statistics of the state, that they may be in a better position to intelligently publish on various occasions such information as may from time to time be desirable.

Resolved: That the holding of a Tillamook County Fair is unanimously endorsed, and that the same will meet with the fullest support of the Association, that its final consummation may be a rousing success.

Resolved: That this Association fully endorse the passage of the bill before the legislature to establish the publication of the delinquent tax lists of the county and session laws of the state. Resolved; also that our representatives in the legislature be notified to support this bill.

Resolved: That we are in hearty accord with the movement for good roads for Tillamook county, and would recommend that an experienced engineer and road builder be placed at the head of the road work, so as to insure permanent and systematic, as well as economical road building.

In as much as we fully realize that toll roads have been a curse to Tillamook and Yamhill counties in the past, and deeming further extension of highways a menace to the future welfare of these counties, therefore be it

Resolved That we, the Tillamook County Editor-Boosters' As'n oppose any means or measures taken for a continuation of toll roads within these counties. Association

Resolved That roads leading from Tillamook into both Clatsop and Yamhill counties be so improved as to permit winter travel, and that the proposition of improving the "sour-grass" cutoff be encouraged.

The newspaper men, with the exception of Editor Miller, who had to make tracks for home, being on the anxious seat in anticipation of a most happy event in his family circle, were entertained at dinner at the Ramsey House. The evening was spent at the club rooms discussing with some of the members publicity work and other matters that the association will strive to carry out. A vote of thanks was extended to the Tillamook Commercial Club.

A Modern Shipwreck.

In an account of the wreck of the sailing ship Carnarvon Bay on King Island, Australia, it is related that when the vessel struck the captain calmly took a cigar from his pocket, bit the end off and lit it before ordering the boats to be launched. Even this display of lack of fear did not entirely prevent some degree of panic among the men, however, and seven men pushed off in the port lifeboat, leaving twenty-two to scramble into the starboard boat. In spite of the captain's orders the men in the port boat refused to come alongside, and those in the starboard boat shouted that if they did not put off the masts would fall on them. Instead of hurrying to the boat the captain strolled to his cabin and collected his papers. After he had entered the boat he transferred five men to the port boat and made for Tasmania, 100 miles away. He and the mates steered in turn, while the men bailed with empty biscuit tins, and forty-eight hours later both boats reached land.—Chicago News.

Oddities of Cecil Rhodes.

He possessed few intimate friends, and not even to all of them did he disclose his hand. Mere acquaintances disliked his moody silences, varied with fits of rather boisterous fun. They considered him exclusive, morose, rough and overbearing. And it must be admitted that he was a good hater, violent when thwarted and at times blunt to the point of rudeness. It is difficult to be sufficiently unconventional to shock a mining camp, but he shocked it. In dress he was almost disreputable. He seldom took pains to ingratiate himself with any one, and a man who too openly scorns his fellows must expect to suffer social ostracism and to have his character traduced. It would be idle to deny that for a time there were unfavorable rumors in circulation regarding him or that he was in many circles unpopular. But, like Gallo, he "cared for none of those things."—Sir Lewis Michell.

An Eccentric Bishop.

Bishop Wilson of Calcutta had as housekeeper a venerable lady who remembered the duel between Sir Philip Francis and Warren Hastings on Aug. 17, 1780. On entering the cathedral on a Sunday morning, fully robed, lawn sleeves and all, and passing the pew where the old lady sat he would pause and give her the "kiss of peace" before all the congregation, and this although he had met her at breakfast.

His sermons, too, were racy. Preaching against dishonesty, especially in horseflesh, as one of the great English failings in India, he went on, "Nor are we, servants of the altar, free from yielding to this temptation." Pointing to the occupant of the reading desk below him: "There is my dear and venerable brother, the archdeacon, down there. He is an instance of it. He once sold me a horse. It was unsound. 'I was a stranger, and he took me in.'"

Scientist Who Couldn't Light a Fire.

Lord Kelvin, like Lord Morley, once amused a Scottish audience with a display of ignorance. At a lecture in Edinburgh, with Lord Kelvin in the chair, the Duke of Argyll was taken suddenly ill. "When the aged peer was carried down to one of the anterooms," said a local paper, "one of the first things to be thought of was the lighting of a fire, and this task was tackled by the duke's host, Lord Kelvin. But instead of placing some paper in the grate and some wood on that in the orthodox manner he amazed the on-lookers by desperate efforts to kindle a handful of sticks at a gas burner. Ordinary mortals may be pardoned for taking some satisfaction in the fact that even so great a philosopher as Lord Kelvin did not know how to light a fire."

Rocky Road to a Title.

"Does Marie expect to marry the count?" "Not immediately. There are three questions to be settled first." "What are they?" "He must prove that he is a count." "Well, that would settle it, wouldn't it?" "No. He must also prove that he isn't married." "Well?" "Then he must prove that he wants to marry Marie."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH AND THE CREED.
The Creed That Needs No Revision.

I.—Meaning of the Word Creed.
From Lat. Credo—"I believe." What do you believe? Depend on the source of faith. See Rom. 10:8, 17. This alone will give you Divine creed.

II.—Christ the Creed.
1.—The foundation of His Church, no other. Matt. 16:18, 19; I. Cor. 3:11-15. A man-made creed is a man-made foundation for man-made church.
2.—Christ only makes Christians only. John 20:30, 31; Acts 2:22, 23; 5:42; 8:5, 35; 9:20; I. Cor. 2:2. They preached Him only. No division then amongst God's people.

III.—The Greatness of this Creed.
1.—Simple, Matt. 16:16.—Just one article. To trust in a person comes within the radius of every man.
2.—Profound, John 7:46. It satisfies the greatest intellects. No one can pass beyond Jesus; not so with human creeds.
3.—Comprehensive, Eph. 1:10. The Bible, God, Holy Spirit, Church, Eternal Life—all is summed up in Him, hence the greatness of the Divine Confession (Matt. 16:16) which people made in the days.
4.—Divine, John 1:1, 14. No a stereotyped system of doctrines, but living life-giving person.
5.—A Pattern, I. Pet. 2:21. Must have a model for imitation. Abstract rules do not develop the soul nor hold it under its greatest strain.
6.—Universal, Rom. 16:25, 26; John 3:16. All Christians were made in Him for over 300 years, or until men began to make creeds.
7.—Perfect, Lk. 23:4; Heb. 4:15. Imperfect man can't set up a perfect standard of life. That is why all man-made creeds are revised every little while.

Not in WHAT I have believed, but in WHOM.—II. Tim. 1:12
V. E. HOVEN, Church of Christ.
