

HE FINALLY GOT WARM.

A Writer's Indoor Experience on a Cold Night in Bordeaux. What beautiful sunshine we had at Bordeaux, and how nice and warm it was to be in the daytime! As long as the sun kept out it was lovely; but, oh, when the sun went down!

AN ARCTIC DELICACY.

Edmund Selous Would Hardly Tickle Red-Winged Palates. Kinn and Dr. Hayes, the first white men to land on an occasional whaler to visit the Eskimos, found some difficulty in accommodating themselves to local customs.

Three Sheets in the Wind. What was the origin of the phrase "three sheets in the wind"? A seaman asked a sailor the other day. "Well," said the sailor, "three sheets that matter to you."

He Was Not Laconic. The history in his life of Gladstone is the story of the statesman's exhibition of the admission to Oxford university which he was a youth. The exhibition being utterly failed to floor Gladstone on some point of the subject.

They Both Knew. The fool said one day in the king's presence, "I am the king?" And the king laughed, for he knew that his fool was wrong.

Not Much. Howell—Reading maketh a full man. Powell—But if you get arrested for drunkenness the judge isn't inclined to accept as an excuse your statement that you have been reading.—New York Press.

He Got Her. "Do you prefer beauty or brains?" "Does not the fact that I have proposed to you repeatedly prove that I prefer both?"—Houston Post.

CURING BAD HABITS.

Try a Little Self Hypnotism on Your Pet Weaknesses. In a large eastern city is a professional hypnotist who has a wide reputation for curing the habit of intemperance. His method is dirt simple.

KNOW HIS BUSINESS.

This Parisian Beggar Realized the Value of New Shoes. Begging has long been a great art in Europe. By using subtle touches of misery and calculated effects of disease and dismemberment the beggar became a master of pathetic appeal.

Lakes of Blood. The name Lake of Blood or its equivalent has been given to places as far apart as England and South America. "Sanguelac"—i. e., the Lake of Blood—was the name given by the victorious Normans to the battlefield at Hastings, where the Saxons were overthrown and slain with terrible carnage.

The Donkey's Head. Among the most extraordinary pieces of symbolism known to have been used by the early Asiatics was a figure of a donkey's head used as a representative of the deity. There is no doubt whatever that the same emblem was once used among the Hittites, the Egyptians and one or two other nations as a symbol of their red god, Sut.

They Both Knew. The fool said one day in the king's presence, "I am the king?" And the king laughed, for he knew that his fool was wrong.

THE FLY ON THE PANE.

It Will Crawl to the Top, but Will Fly Back to the Bottom. A fly on a window pane will crawl to the top, fly back to the bottom and crawl up again. This order is seldom reversed—why no one knows. It is on record that a fly crawled up a window pane thirty-two times, returning each time a-wing.

FIGHTING NATURE.

What One Man's Patient Effort Wrung From a Desert in France. In the southwest of France, between the rivers Adour and Garonne, are long stretches of pine woods, green and cool.

The Business of Life. Life is a business, we are all apt to mismanage, either living recklessly from day to day or suffering ourselves to be guiled out of our moments by the innuities of custom. We should despise a man who gave as little activity and forethought to the conduct of any other business. But in this, which is the one thing of all others, since it contains them all, we cannot see the forest for the trees.

Those Newspaper Yarns. A worthy old dame of New England once invited her husband's attention to what seemed to her a curious item in the journal she was looking at. "Listen to this," said she, reading.

A Useful Remedy. Little four-year-old Billy was visiting his neighbor, Jerry. Billy showed every evidence of a bad cold. Jerry's mother asked with grave solicitude, "Doesn't your mother give you anything for your cold, Billy?" whereupon Billy answered, feeling in all his pockets at once, "Yes, ma'am; she gives me a clean handkerchief."—Lippincott's.

Quite Pretty. "I am not ashamed of my latest book," said the author. "Of course not," said the local critic. "I noticed its gilt edges and the beautifully colored frontispiece."—Atlanta Constitution.
