The Tillamook Headlight.

Editorial Snap Shots.

There are lots of butchers just now in Tillamook killing off the young dairy stock directly they come into the world.

It is in order to take the Therdich case to the Supreme Court if the plaintiff thinks he hasn't been spanked enough in the two lower courts.

The grand jury has been investigating the "white slave" traffic in Tillamook City. Anyway, it was long overdue, and now a start is made in that direction a clean sweep should be made.

Some persons predicted that the Port of Tillamook would have considerable difficulty in disposing of the bonds. If inquiries go to prove anything, there are quite a number of persons who are inquiring about them already. We have always believed that the Port would get a good premium on them when they were ready to sell.

Well, what's the matter with business this spring? It seems to us that the people voted for Home Rule, and without inquiring any words on the subject, they are having a spell of business depression in consequence. Who's the foolish fellow that will argue that saloons bring trade? It is proving just the opposite right now in Tillamook.

Another month or so and the automobiles will be rolling into Tillamook from Portland and other places. What concerns those who own autos is good roads. This county is one of the most progressive in the good roads movement and the work which has been done on the roads in recent years have brought forth many favorable comments from those who have visited this county in their machines.

Judge Galloway read the riot act in the circuit court on Monday to those who had spirited away a state's witness. He not only insisted that the witness be brought into court, but stated that he would not dismiss the grand jury until the witness was found. Spiriting away state witnesses in Tillamook County has been altogether too common to defeat the ends of justice, and the people will appreciate the firm stand the judge has taken in this matter.

We understand that the settlers in the south part of the county will bring suit to annul the toll road contract. The toll road question has taken a long time to solve in Tillamook County. It is a surprise to us that anyone can be found who is so antiquated to advocate toll roads in these enlightened days, much more for county officials who lease public roads for the purpose of making them toll roads. The Editor-Boosters' Association is on record in opposition to toll roads.

The Tillamook Commercial Club has now been organized over twelve months, and one good feature brought about by the club is that the factional fight has died out and the members are all pulling together for the interest of the city and county. It is a live, progressive club with the boosting spirit. With the election of some of the best citizens to direct its management the next twelve months, the club will not only increase its usefulness, but new members will be added to it.

Wrong again, Bro. Trombley, the snap shot man is not attempting to dictate to the Port of Tillamook, but he is demanding that Tillamook City obtain the best channel so as to make this city an "open port" for San Francisco vessels. We are tired of seeing the money of the Port used in an attempt to maintain an expensive channel on the bay. Say Bro., is your liver out of whack again, for you are laboring under some false delusion? Do use a little common sense, Bro.

The sad news of the fatal accident to A. T. White in Portland came as a great surprise to the people of this county last week. Although it removes a good citizen, it must be said of him that he was one of those who had taken some interest in the welfare of the county, and what public or private positions he occupied, he carried out in a conscientious and painstaking manner. Though somewhat reserved, it is fitting that a word of praise should be sounded by the Press in his favor. His was a humble life and he lived it without complaining or fault-finding.

The "squatters" on the water front may feel hostile in having to vacate when the order is made for them to move off on a twenty-four hours notice. The commerce of Tillamook City is of much more importance than a lot of unsightly shacks on the water front. It is time they were all removed and their places occupied with docks and warehouses of some importance to the commerce of the port. There are those who want to build as soon as the "squatters" are removed, and we cannot see how anything can be gained by allowing them to remain there any longer. It is only regarding the progress of the port, and, besides, it would be giving a large amount of employment to a large number of men who are looking for work.

The snap shot man is getting out some literary matter to help boost the county. It will be condensed into four pages, but will contain all the salient features and made interesting to those whom it is sent to in the East and Middle West. Later, as soon as a number of interesting photographs can be procured, an illustrated edition will be published. We expect to have the four pages out next week, as the Tillamook Commercial Club is having numerous calls for literary matter. One feature of it will be devoted to the Co-operative Associations' reports of last year, which makes interesting reading, especially to home seekers who are looking for locations where dairying is both profitable and successful.

One of the sensational preachers who visited this city recently, told his congregation that it was not necessary to prepare sermons, for he depended upon God to put words into his mouth. What an idiot. It is only by research and deep study that one knows anything about the precepts of the bible, and the preachers who fail to spend considerable time in their studies, can be relied upon as belonging to those who are not very well informed. "Hot air" won't do any more in the pulpit than it will anywhere else. The intelligent, studious preacher is in the same class as the studious attorney or physician, but there are slyster attorneys as well as quack doctors and "hot air" preachers, but they don't amount to anything when weighed in the balance.

As soon as arrangements can be made the Editor-Boosters' Association will pay different parts of the county visits for the purpose of creating a get-together, boosting sentiment, and, if possible, bring together and cement together all those who have a lively interest in the welfare of the county as a whole. That is the aim and object of the Editor-Boosters, as well as to ascertain the needs of the different localities and to see that they get a "square deal" in road and bridge improvements. As far as the snap shot man is concerned, he believes that every part of the county and every incorporated city in this county, as well as every seaside resort, have a bright future before them, and the way to bring this about is to get together and pull together.

Amongst the provisions shipped to Tillamook from Portland this week we find that mutton, pork, chicken and butter were in the shipments. This may appear strange to a good many persons, nevertheless, it is a fact that the banner dairying county of Oregon is not raising enough of these provisions to supply the local market. It is seldom that the market is overstocked, and chickens bring 13c. live weight. When the numerous beach resorts are teeming with thousands of persons, as they will surely be in a few years, the demand for chickens, eggs, fruit, vegetables, butter, milk and cream will be great. Here, then, is an industry which will prove profitable to all those who engage in it, and it is to be hoped that a large number of our citizens will make provision not only to supply the local market in future, but also to cater to the beach trade. There will be big money in raising chickens and garden truck. There are a large number of children living on the farms who should raise chickens, and in this way they can make a start in life and learn to become industrious and thrifty.

"Stung again." We mean Tillamook City. The case of this city against George Tone was another instance of foolishly appealing cases to the Supreme Court. When the city officials induced the farmers to give a right of way for the pipe line, one of the arguments made to them was that it would enhance the value of their land if they wanted to dispose of it. Now see the change of front of the city officials. It was taken for granted that as long as the pipe ran through the farmers' property they should have the free use of water. No sooner does one of the farmers sell his land than the city immediately attempts to repudiate its agreement and deprive the purchaser of the water rights. To the average person it looks more like a case of bulldoze on the part of the city than anything else, to drag a person into the circuit court, and having lost there, to appeal the case to the supreme court. The city lost in both instances, because it was attempting to do those who had given the city the right of way across their property out of their rights which went with the property as long as the city maintained a pipe line across it. That, we think is good horse sense and good law, but some of our legal lights were given power to take the case to the supreme court at the taxpayers' expense, with the result that the taxpayers are "stung" again.

A. T. White is Killed.

(Oregonian.) Andrew T. White, aged 56 employed by his son-in-law, J. R. Neal, Jr., who has the contract for building the county ferry for the Willamette slough, at Holbrook, was instantly killed Wednesday when a jack slipped and the heavy timbers crushed his head. Neal came to Portland in the early part of the afternoon, leaving his father-in-law alone at work. When he returned at 4:30 p. m. White's head was found crushed and phoned under the ferry. The boat was lifted and the body removed and the coronor notified.

Obituary.

On April 12, at 6 o'clock p. m., Mrs. Wm. Baxter died at the family home at Dolph, Oregon. She was born at Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7, 1837, being at the time of her death 73 yrs., 6 mo. and 5 days of age. She was married to Wm. Baxter at Goodrich, Ontario, on Sept. 15th, 1859, who survives her. She was the mother of nine children, seven of whom survive her: George T. Baxter and Mrs. Margaret Meador of Dolph, W. E. and P. A. Baxter of Los Angeles, David E. Baxter and Mrs. Olive Johnson, of Spray, Ore., and Mrs. P. L. Frazin of Salem. One daughter died in infancy, and another died Sept. 4, 1893, at Dolph. She united with the Methodist Church when a girl, and lived a consistent Christian all her life. She was a devoted wife and mother and her loss will be keenly felt.

The remains will be taken to Salem and interred in the family lot in the L. O. O. F. cemetery.

Notice to Commercial Club Members.

The regular annual meeting of the Commercial Club will be held Monday evening, April 24th, at the club rooms for the election of officers and the transaction of other business that may come before the meeting. Every member in good standing requested to be present. ERWIN HARRISON, Sec'y.

Kicked By a Mad Horse. Samuel Birch, of Bectown, Wis., had a most narrow escape from a leg, as no doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed, but at last Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it completely. Its the greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scalds, cuts, corns, cold-sores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it. 25c. at Chas. I. Clough's drug store.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by Lamar's Drug Store.

High School Flashes.

The Ciceronians give their program next Friday and from all appearances it will be one of special merit.

A general debate was held in the eighth grade room the past week on "Resolved that Reciprocity between Canada and the United States would be beneficial to this country." The affirmative was led by Howard Lamar and the negative by Thos. Coates, Jr.

Howard Harris, the Junior "Pet," left school for unknown reasons, although some of the girls say that they have seen others in the same fix.

Examinations are over again and a great burden has been lifted from the minds of the students. These delights will soon be over, though as school will only last a couple months longer.

The High School base ball players under the name of the "Cheese makers" played the Commercial Club team the second game of their series last Sunday. It seemed to be a game of great interest to every one except the Club rooters. About the fifth inning Edmunds was ready to draw his men from the game and when the seventh was reached he was fully decided as to that being the only way to keep the "Cheese makers" from entirely missing their record.

The score was 9-3 in favor of the younger men when the game closed and undoubtedly there will be no report of the game sent to the Oregonian this time.

The High School will give another one of those sidesplitting plays at the Gem Theater in the near future. Every one wants to watch the date as this will be the best one this year. New scenes and costumes will be prepared for this play.

Unless the weather hinders the Astoria High School base ball team will be here next Friday to play the "Cheese makers" two games of ball; one Saturday and Sunday. The games will be played in the park and an immense crowd is expected to be present to drive the boys on to victory.

The tennis club measured off their court Friday evening and had a lively game of tennis on their new grounds. It seems very pleasant to play on the new court after having such a hard time getting it in condition to be played on.

A large number of interesting games is expected to be played in the near future, and some of the boys contemplate challenging some of the leading tennis players of the city for a game as soon as convenient.
