

It Is a Fact

That insurance agents, saving and loan association agents, and such like, induce many people to take out policies that they do not want. Hundreds of dollars have been wasted in this way in Tillamook. We know many instances of policies being taken out and after the payment of one or two premiums are let drop with a total loss of the money put into them.

Savings and loan association agents promise big profits that are not realized. Their system has proven unsatisfactory to several Tillamookers.

Stock offered for sale cheap on which an enormous profit is guaranteed is a good thing to steer clear of.

On Sunday night Rev. A. Anderson, a Scandinavian Missionary to Alaska, gave a very interesting lecture at the Methodist Church. Rev. Anderson has been among the natives of Northern Alaska for 18 years and has done as much as anyone in reforming those people. When he first went to that country, he knew nothing of the native language and had only a light knowledge of the English.

U. G. Jackson, the County Surveyor, has secured the services of Geo. Poysky, a Civil Engineer of Astoria, to help him with his work in this county. Mr. Poysky is a graduate of the University of Oregon, having finished with the class of '09, and comes to this place with a thorough knowledge of his profession. The Surveyor's office has had an exceptionally large run of work this season.

Frank Mayers died on the 4th of April at Tigardville, near Portland, the cause of death being paralysis, and on the 20th of April his wife, Mary Mayers, died of typhoid fever and pneumonia, leaving a family of six children. Mrs. Mayers was a daughter of E. Marolf, of this county, and a sister of Albert Marolf, who went to Portland on account of his sister's illness and returned on Wednesday with four of the children.

Another auto accident, the third one for the present year in this county, occurred Sunday night at 9:30 near Bay City, when one of W. Harris' drivers ran one of their teams head on into Mr. Harris' passenger car. Charles Kennedy, who was driving the machine, had slowed down to a complete stand still. Some damage was done to the rig, most of which was in regard to the tongue and front axle. The little roan mare was also injured to some extent, although not seriously.

The Henrietta No. 2 arrived in port Sunday night after a most thrilling trip from Astoria to this city. The first of the week they left out over the Columbia bar, which was quite smooth, but upon reaching the Tillamook bar they found it so rough that they could not cross. They then went south to Netarts Bay for protection from the storm, but as the sea was exceedingly rough, Captain Jenkins then headed back for the Columbia, against a strong wind, having been out 25 hours, and when the Henrietta reached the Columbia bar, it was also exceedingly rough, but she went through six miles of breakers without mishap. The bar was quite rough Sunday when they came over. The Henrietta has resumed her regular schedule on the bay. She brought in 180 cases of gasoline from Astoria.

While crossing the Wilson River at Bester's Ford last Saturday, the team, driven by W. B. Lonsignot, was thrown from their feet by the swift current at that place. At the time of the accident Mr. Lonsignot and his brother, who was accompanying him to Forest Grove, were nearly through the swiftest part of the current and when the wagon upset, which was caused by the team being thrown, they jumped into the water and succeeded in reaching the shore. The team and wagon were carried down the stream and lodged against a log, one of them being drowned before help could be given. Mr. Lonsignot and brother were witnesses for the state in the fish dynamite case, and were returning to their home at Forest Grove.

Sheriff Crenshaw returned from Salem Wednesday, where he went with John Hackman and Louis Smith as prisoners for the penitentiary and Roy Smith for the Reform School last Thursday. It seems that Roy Smith changed his views of wanting to be a jail bird when he was put in the proper place for bad boys. Upon reaching Astoria the Sheriff left the boy in charge of W. C. King, he having business up town. Mr. King knew that the boy had been locked in his room by the Sheriff, and thinking that he was safe, he started to walk on the dock. In a few minutes he saw Roy standing on the deck, leaning against the railing, and walking toward him asked how he got out there. The boy merely said "I just walked" and said that he hadn't been locked up. When the Sheriff returned and heard of the matter he told the boy that he either had a knife or a key with him and upon this being denied a search was made by which an old pocket knife was found in the lining of the coat. It had been used to take the screws from the lock. After reaching Salem Roy stated that he would escape from the reform school within three days. The Sheriff therefore told the warden at the school, who, thanking Mr. Crenshaw, put iron balls on the young man's feet.

McKINLEY GOES TO THE PENITENTIARY.

Judge Galloway Imposes Three Years Sentence on Charge of Rape.

The case against Henry McKinley, which caused considerable interest in this city, was tried last week in the Circuit Court, the grand jury having indicted him on a charge of rape. The jury which tried him brought in a verdict of guilty, and Attorney Holmes made a motion for a new trial this afternoon, which was overruled by Judge Galloway, who proceeded to pass sentence upon McKinley. He said: "You have had a fair and impartial trial and have been convicted of the crime of rape. You are of mature years, past the age of twenty-two years, and deserve a heavier penalty, but in consideration of your heart-broken mother and the many good citizens who have asked the Court's clemency on her account, you will receive the minimum sentence.

"You should have thought of your mother and her blighted life, before you and your confederate in crime persuaded two young girls of the tender age of fourteen and fifteen years to go to a deserted building in this city, and there, after debauching them with strong drink, kept them in your lustful embrace for one long night.

"You should have thought of the mothers of your hapless victims whose lives you have forever blighted, with no ray of sunshine and gladness to lighten their great sorrow. You should have thought of the mother of your associates. Yes, there are four broken-hearted mothers, from whose lives the joy of life has forever departed.

"May I hope that you can feel the enormity of your offense, and by a contrite spirit and earnest endeavor, regain the confidence of the community which you have so grossly outraged.

"The public sentiment and conscience of this community has been aroused beyond precedent. A petition has been presented to the Court asking for the Court's clemency. A public meeting has been held, but in no instance has extreme punishment been urged on the one side, nor has there been any petition asking that you be paroled. The Press of this city and county has been many and impassioned in discussing this matter. The Court could ask no more loyal support than has been given it throughout this action by the higher citizenship of this county, and all the officials whose duty it has been to assist the Court.

"Therefore in consideration of all the circumstances you will receive the minimum sentence, which is commitment to the State Penitentiary for the term of three years, under the rules and regulations of that institution, and the Sheriff of this county is authorized to deliver you to the proper officials of that institution."

Swastika "Kid" Party.

The Swastika Club gave a novel social at the Tillamook Commercial Club on Wednesday evening, their husbands as well as the members of the Shakespeare Club, with their husbands, being invited, and there were few absentees of either Club. Mrs. D. L. Shrode, dressed as a quaint school marm, welcomed the visitors. The amusing feature of the evening's entertainment was in the school marm presiding over three classes, the ladies of the Swastika Club being attired in short dresses and aprons, and in school girl fashion, looking girl like and pretty in their make ups. Their husbands formed another class, and they proved a fractious, noisy lot of "overgrown kids." Both classes kept the school marm busy retaining order. The girls chewed gum and did other pranks, even to placing a pin in the school marm's chair for that dignified individual to sit on. The members of the Shakespeare Club, with their husbands, formed another class, and was the most dignified. The school marm invited the visitors to see the progress the Swastika "kids" had made in their studies. Quotations, compositions, spelling, drawing, arithmetic, etc., were then given, most of which contained some amusing and laughable "skit" on the Shakespeare Club. The members of the Shakespeare Club were called on for quotations from certain parts of that author, and no sooner were they given when the school marm pronounced them "wrong," who appealed to one or the other of her fractious boys to give the correct quotation, their answers being a burlesque. Then the two clubs lined up for a "spelling bee," but the school marm promptly put the Shakespeares out of business. The Swastika Club served a dainty lunch, after which a grand march was formed and the Virginian reel closed a most enjoyable evening. Mrs. Whitehouse expressing the sentiments of the Shakespeare Club at the most enjoyable time they had participated in.

The Base Ball Games.

Two interesting games of baseball were played at the Gifford Stillwell Park on Sunday.

In the morning the Cheese Makers met the Bay City Clam diggers, the former defeating the latter team by a score of 6-3. Much credit is due the pitcher from the home team, Francis Provoost, together with the support given by the infield.

The fans were much delighted with the work of "Curly" in his first trial in a big game. He is a south paw and gave good speed.

The afternoon game was between the Commercial Club team of this city, and the Nehalem team. One of the largest crowds that ever witnessed in a ball game here were in attendance to see the home team win the second game of the series with Nehalem.

Over one hundred people from the North side of the county came to this city on the P. R. & N. train to root for their team. The final score was 11-9 in favor of the Club.
