

A TILLAMOOK FLOAT

At the Rose Festival in Portland--A Contest Starts for Queen.

The proposition that Tillamook County be represented at the Rose Festival in Portland met with general favor this morning amongst some of the business men. It is proposed to have a float, an excellent design having been sent in by Ralph Ackley, the main features on which are a cow, a large cheese that is cut, the horn of plenty, butter boxes, a queen and maids, and on the sides pictures representing the lumber and logging industry. Mr. Ackley writes as follows:

Portland, May 23, 1911.
Mr. Rollie W. Watson, Tillamook.

DEAR FRIEND,—I am submitting two designs and bids on proposed floats representing Tillamook County in the coming Rose Festival parades. I explained to both companies submitting designs about what I thought representative of the county's industries. The cost of the floats will be $215 and $225, as shown on the designs which I send by this mail, together with a description of each attached.

The extra cost of getting a wagon and team, as well as a driver would be about $25 or $30 unless you should arrange to bring a team over from Tillamook, which you might find cheaper. The entire cost should not be over $250.

You will notice that one of the floats requires two queens and I would suggest that you start a voting contest, thereby raising sufficient funds to defray the entire cost. I will make a donation of $25.00 to start the thing going providing you will raise the balance in Tillamook.

Unless we receive favorable reply by Saturday of this week, and a prompt return of the designs, we will not be able to get them out in time for the festival.

If you will phone me that the money will be raised I will make the first payment of $25 and start them to work.

I frankly believe you would get more advertising in this way than any other way I know of. You realize that cuts of all floats appear, not only in the Portland papers, but in other papers throughout the country, in magazines, and in moving picture shows throughout the world, on post cards, etc.

The absence of representation in the Festival of last year of Tillamook County was noticeable and a subject of comment.

Kindly get quick action.

Respectfully yours,
RALPH ACKLEY.

To raise the necessary funds it is proposed to have a voting contest for queen, and to start with, the following names of young ladies have been suggested for queen: Misses Ollie Case, Helen Harrison, Gladys Beals, Veronica Melchior, Jennie Wooley, Vida Rogers, Dolan De Lillies and others.

The matter was taken up by the Executive Board of the Commercial Club this afternoon and turned over to the Publicity Committee.

The contest will start this evening at the electric dance in the club rooms.

U.B. Church Notes.

Since the 28th is Memorial Sunday, "Great Memorials" will be the theme at the United Brethren Church in the evening. This will be Mr. Emerick's last sermon before going to conference. Those not accustomed to going to church are especially invited. The morning sermon will be a review of the year.

The boys of the United Brethren Church had a pleasant social time at the church Tuesday evening. After their play, Mr. Emerick, the pastor, gave a helpful and appreciated talk on the boy's struggle to keep clean.

A brief business session and general social time occurred at the U.B. Church Thursday evening.

High School Flashes.

The Botany Class are busy at present gathering specimens of flowers for study. The weather that we have been having this spring has enabled them to secure specimens in great abundance.

The play given by the Juniors at the Gem Theatre last Friday night was one of rare merit. Nearly all the parts were known well and most of them were acted to perfection. Everyone so far as we have been able to hear was entirely satisfied with the performance and the most particular have found no fault. Undoubtedly this will be the last of the High School Plays this year and we thank the public for the support that they have given the High School in these plays. Next winter the school will endeavor to put on a higher class of play, trying to please the public in every particular. If proper staging can be secured they will probably put on plays of three act type, securing only plays which have been tried and known as to merits.

The Junior Reception will be given Friday, June the second. The Juniors have not decided yet where they will have the reception, but wherever they do have it, the seniors may expect to be given the best time that they have ever had. The Junior Class of this year is one of the best that this school has ever possessed and anything which they do, is done right.

The Base-ball boys of the High School went up against the Commercial Club last Sunday for the third time and defeated them 4-3. At present the High School Team are the undefeated champions of Tillamook County. They have also cleared out Astoria and one prominent base-ball man has said that they are capable of defeating any High School Team in the state. At any rate if we had a railroad in here we would try a few of them.

A number of our High School boys have left school for this year in order to take up their summer work.

The Board of Directors have secured one of the best faculties for the high school that we have ever had. The corps is Prof. L. L. Baker, Principal; Prof. R. U. Moore, Assistant Principal and teacher of Mathematics, and Miss Florence Laufman, instructor in English subjects. Mrs. Hansen will have the eighth grade again and it is expected that if the Commercial course is given, that E. E. Finley will be employed to take charge of it. The Board is to be congratulated on their judgment in the selection of instructors. Miss Laufman is a graduate of Chicago University and is recommended highly. All the other instructors are well known except Mr. Finley who is as good a man at Commercial practices as can be found anywhere, he having graduated from one of the best courses on this coast.

Mrs. Hansen is to be complimented on the way in which she has brought her eighth grade class out of the examination. So far as we can hear the grades of the class are the best received any where in the state. There are fifteen of the class who passed, eleven of whom had an average of over ninety per cent; three failed in one subject each, and only two failed in two subjects each.

Boulder Creek.

Supervisor Richards and his men are working the roads whenever the weather permits.

N. Coulson and wife has returned from the F. M. conference. They traveled through a pouring rain during part of their homeward journey.

Rev. H. A. Walter and family and Mrs. N. Smith, who have been out attending the Free Methodist conference, are expected home soon. We are glad to note that Rev. Walter will remain with us another year at least.

L. D. Krake returned to his work at Tillamook last Sunday, after spending a week at home.

Louis Krake came home Saturday for a short visit. He also made a call at Blaine while out.

H. L. Jensen and family spent last Sunday at C. N. Johnson's of Wolfe Creek.

L. N. Sandoz has just finished mounting a little bear cub for Mr. A. Kunder. Mrs. Jacob Nicklaus' brother, who is in Oregon for a visit with his relatives here.

Mrs. H. A. Chopard recently enjoyed a short visit from her brother, D. C. Getchell, and his bride, who was formerly Miss Lillie Mangis, of Dallas, Oregon.

O. W. Kinnaman, wife and daughter, and L. N. Sandoz and wife visited at Jacob Kumm's last Sunday.

P. R. Coulson, of Blaine, had the bad luck to lose a fine young mare recently.

We learn that a Sunday-school has been organized at Blaine, with Ollie Woods as superintendent and Mrs. K. Coulson, assistant. We have got heard who the other officers are.

E. P. Mills has purchased an incubator and expects to raise a nice flock of chickens if he has good luck.

Manuel Borba has the job of keeping the Bell telephone line in repair from Beaver to Blaine.

Mrs. Krake and children called at H. A. Chopard's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Robert Fowler has returned from his business trip to Portland.

During his stay at home last week, Mr. Krake and his sons worked between showers, clearing away the logs and trash around their new residence. This greatly improves the appearance of the place.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, influenza, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it is the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Chas. I. Clough.

The Nile or the Sky?

The barge sped like an arrow over the water, leaving behind it a silver wake that soon was effaced. A few frothy bubbles breaking on the surface alone testified to the passage of the craft, already out of sight. The river banks, yellow and salmon colored, unrolled rapidly like papyrus bands between the double azure of the heavens and the water, these so alike in tone that the thin tongue of earth which separated them seemed a causeway built across an immense lake and made it difficult to decide whether the Nile reflected the sky or the sky reflected the Nile.—"One of Cleopatra's Nights," by Theophile Gautier.

Confirmed His Suspicion.

Ben Nathan, the English humorist, on returning home from a visit to the country was expatiating to a friend upon the glories of California. After listening patiently the friend said: "But there must be some disadvantages in living there?" "No," said Mr. Nathan, "it is a perfectly ideal place. For any man who will work—" "Ah," broke in the friend, "I know there were some disadvantages."

Eyes of the Giraffe.

The giraffe, which is a very timid animal, is approached with the utmost difficulty on account of its eyes being so placed that it can see as well behind as in front. When approached this same faculty enables it to direct with great precision the rapid storm of kicks with which it defends itself.

Murat's Daring in Battle.

I have read that my grandfather's three distinguishing characteristics were high chivalric courage, great skill as a general and almost unparalleled coolness in the hour of danger. His form was tall, his tread like that of a king, his face strikingly noble, while his piercing glance few men could bear. He had heavy black whiskers and long black locks, which contrasted singularly with his fiery blue eyes. He usually wore a three cornered hat with a magnificent white plume of ostrich feathers. This plume, with many other relics, is now in the possession of my eldest brother, Prince Murat. My grandfather's dazzling exterior made him a mark for the enemy's bullets. The wonder is that, being so conspicuous, he was never shot down and was rarely wounded. I have read that at the battle of Aboukir he charged with his cavalry straight through the Turkish ranks, driving column after column into the sea.—Prince Murat's Memoirs.

Passed the Bottle Too Quickly.

Will Low, the painter, told this story of the Latin quarter days of Robert Louis Stevenson. Low and Stevenson were great friends in their youth. Their friendship indeed continued up to the time of the writer's death.

"Louis," said the artist, "was no less diplomatic than brave. He could be fiery, and he could also be gracious and pacific. One night, I remember, we sat in a garden in Montmartre. The red wine had been flowing pretty freely, and one member of our party got heated and aggressive. Finally some one said a thing that this fighting chap disliked. As soon as the words were spoken he grabbed up a bottle and hurled it at the other's head. It was a strong, true shot and would have hit the mark had not Stevenson sprung to his feet and caught the missile.

"Tut, tut, George," he said to the thrower—"tut, tut! If the bottle is passed so quickly none of us will be able to stand out the evening."

Poor Thackeray.

Sir William Howard Russell's diary for April 1852, has this amusing glimpse of Thackeray:

"The sportsmen among whom I had the honor to be numbered were of the Winkle order. Thackeray, Dickens, John Beech, Jerrold, Lemon, Ibbotson, were invited, and carriages were reserved to Watford. As we were starting a written excuse was brought from Dickens to be conveyed to Mrs. X by Thackeray. The party drove up to the house, and after compliments Thackeray delivered the billet. The effect was unpleasant. Mrs. X. fled along the hall, and the guests heard her calling to the cook: 'Martin, don't roast the ortolans; Mr. Dickens isn't coming.' 'Thackeray said he never felt so small. 'There's a test of popularity for you! No ortolans for Pemmican!'"

Hiring a Mother-in-law.

In Marselles the salary of a mother-in-law hired to fill the position for a few hours is quoted at 1s. 6d. It was a case of separation of the girl's parents. Custom decreed that the mother-in-law must be present at the marriage ceremony, so the obliging matron agreed to go to give her consent on condition that a carriage be sent for her, and if not, said she, she would stay at home. The hour for the wedding came, but the carriage did not, so the mamma stayed at home. The bridegroom in desperation when she did not appear ran out into the street and hunted up a promising looking woman, who agreed to come and act mother for the sum named. So she gave consent and blessing to the daughter whom she had never seen in her life before.—Buffalo Express.
