BAYOCEAN MAKES FAST TRIAL TRIP.

New Boat for Run to Coast
Surpasses Expectation of Her Designer.

Making a mile in excess of her contract requirement and traveling four hours without a hot bearing, the trim passenger yacht Bayocean, which left Supple's yards at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, returned at 6:30 o'clock, after a spin to a point a short distance below Reeder's. The trip was purely a builder's trial, as she had not been tested except for a short time Friday afternoon, and then with but two of her three gasoline engines. Her best speed was 17 miles an hour.

While Captain Hirsch acted as master of the vessel, she was virtually run by Fred Ballin, her designer, and A. B. Rober, of the Rober Machinery Company, which had the machinery contract. A few guests were aboard, including T. I. Potter, and Fred P. Baumgartner, representing the S. Elmore & Co. interests. As soon as the vessel can be placed in readiness, she will go on the Portland Bayocean route.

But one feature tended to interfere with a full trial of the machinery for the entire time; the exhaust was not carried off as expected, and slight changes are necessary. The water found its way to the main engine and prevented a free ignition for a short period. Mr. Rober expressed himself as satisfied with the showing and confident that the Bayocean will reel off better time when her engines have been thoroughly adjusted and bearings worn down, which will follow naturally after a few trips.

Little Vibration Noticed.

In establishing the water line, Mr. Ballin's calculations were approximately true, and in the model of the Bayocean, he says it will be proven that she is a good sea vessel, but one-third of her displacement being in the water. While her three engines were working and as many propellers revolving, there was little vibration noticeable. Each engine which is of the Speedway type, reeled off approximately 500 revolutions. The main engine is of 175-horsepower and the port and starboard engines each 150.

The main engine is air-starting and air-reversing, while the others are air-starting and have clutches for reversing. There is an auxiliary engine for electric lights, for which provision has been made for 120, while the same gear pumps from the bilge and furnishes pressure for the fire pumps. A fresh water capacity is provided with 2000 gallons and other tanks will carry 2500 gallons of gasoline. It is estimated that with all engines working, 50 gallons of gasoline will be consumed each hour and her tank supply will last for two round trips.

Officers Are Experienced.

Captain Hirsch came here several years ago as mate on the liner Numantia, and until recently he was on tugs of the Port of Portland at the mouth of the Columbia. First Officer Vickman has been signed on the Bayocean, and in the engine-room Eugene Weideman and L. H. Campbell will preside. With the deck crew, oilers and those in the steward's department there will be a crew of 15 and the sailors are garbed in true yachtman's style, having white duck uniforms for fair weather and blue for other occasions. The officers are uniformed also.

In operating the Bayocean, an effort will be made to handle the tourist and regular beach classes, there being berth for 51 persons. Besides there are six extension berths that can be utilized in the after cabin and with her saloon and galley arrangement, she can care for a large number of daylight trips. Mr. Supple has about completed his contract and when the vessel is ready, she will leave here two evenings each week, making her third trip Saturday mornings.—Oregonian.

A Charming Woman

is one that is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But it's hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c at Chas. I. Clough's.

In one of the episodes of the civil war a bull-headed general marched 3000 men so ferociously and needlessly that all he had left rested under one tree. A martinet hike of 100 miles in Texas, absolutely uncalled for and worse in result, recalls the incident.

Pointed Remarks.

Mr. Carnegie predicts the disappearance of multimillionaires. If all will adopt his system of giving during lifetime the forecast can be regarded as a sure thing.

If the Panama Canal is completed by July 1, 1913, it will not be easy to prevent the people of the United States from burning a good deal of extra powder three days later.

In a Missouri town fifty clergymen joined forces and built a church in ten hours. That indicates what can be done for good roads when the people wake up and bunch teams.

Alaska reports an important new gold strike. In a territory more than twice as big as Texas the mineral announcements are likely to be interesting for a long time in the future.

"Mr. Lorimer will now have a chance to swear," says a news item. No matter what the placidity of his exterior, we venture the assertion he has already done considerable swearing in private.

American farmers, according to latest official reports, are turning more and more to fertilization as a means of production. This is a long step in the direction of reducing the high cost of living.

Can it be that the reason the Democrats object so strenuously to the "rule of reason" in defining trusts is the fear that it may yet be applied to this extra tariff busting session as a combination in restraint of trade?

An aviator is at work on a biplane with a hydroplane attachment, also a catamaran to rise from the water and fly equally well over land or water. Land lubbers are getting ready to surprise old salts on their own element.

The death of the author of Pinafore reminds us that tuneful glory of vanished years died before him, but with a promise of an early resurrection. After several seasons of musical comedy that resurrection is now about due.

Miss Katherine Elkins has again gone to Europe and again been interviewed as to her matrimonial intentions over there. The swift fist of some of her gentlemen friends should have answered this impertinent question.

It is claimed in Iowa that the percentage of divorces is increasing in direct ratio with the rise of the suffragist movement. But is it not also coincident with the rise in insurgency, and in the temperature, and in yeast bread?

A Democratic paper has this note from Washington: "The speaker's blue eye twinkled humorously when late in the night he read the nineteenth draft of a resolution intended to solidify Democratic ranks upon the wool tariff." This nineteenth resolution dodged the question. The fight will be renewed and grow hotter.

The "friends" who induced Gov. Folk to withdraw from senatorial race when it was practically as plain before as after it was run that he could win it, are said now to be advising him to withdraw from the presidential competition for the Missouri delegation. Such friends of a statesman can always keep him out of danger—and out of office.

We of the United States are accustomed to thinking of the British House of Lords as the historical forerunner of our Senate. And so it is if we go no farther back in the history of the House of Lords than the period, before it had begun to lose its power of legislation, when Alexander Hamilton fastened a copy of it upon our system. But if we go farther back we shall find that it is not the Senate that stands in our system for the British House of Lords, but the Supreme Court.

Have you an idle acre on your farm? If so, why not at once put it to some use—if for no other reason, that it may work no injury to yourself or to your neighbor? Every such acre, in a settled community, is an accuser, branding its owner, so says a contemporary, "as either thoughtless, wasteful or shiftless; possibly all three." On any such acre weeds may grow sufficient to "seed down" a township and to increase the labors of the whole farming population. The broad acres of uncultivated land which form so large a percentage of Minnesota farms are a standing indictment of systems of land ownership and taxation, as unreasonable and unjust. No man should be entitled to hold more land than he can fully cultivate or make otherwise useful to the community; as, for instance, in the growing of timber trees or in the maintenance of a well-stocked fish pond. Idle land should be so heavily taxed that nobody could afford to keep it out of use,—it must be "Cultivate or sell." But instead of observing this just rule, we punish with heavier taxation the farmer who improves and enriches his land and let off with a nominal taxation the owner of idle acres.
