The Tillamook Headlight

Editorial Snap Shots.

When the railroad carries the mail to benefit those living south of this city, the schedule on the south stage should be changed to leave Tillamook in the afternoon.

The Board of Equalization had an easy time last week, for there were but few persons who registered a kick. The most important thing now is, What will the levy be?

What's the trouble, anyway? In Clatsop County warrants are in demand and selling at a premium, while in Tillamook county they have gone below for the first time in 12 years.

Reports from the Tillamook district were received by Mr. Grey yesterday and he displayed considerable interest in the work being done at Bay City, where a jetty is being built to control the waters of Tillamook harbor.

It will be noticed that all the Bourne newspapers are trying to belittle President Taft and toot their horns for La Follette.

Those who claim to know, estimate that the saloons in Tillamook County will take in $150,000 for one year's business.

Should the milk condenser people invade Tillamook county it is only natural to suppose that it will greatly reduce the product of cheese from this county.

We understand that a petition is to be presented at the December term of the county court for a wagon road for Garibaldi beach.

There is a strong sentiment in the county opposed to any let up in road improvements, and it is just as strong in some quarters against bonding the county for road work.

The business men of Tillamook City appreciated the visit of County Judge Judd, of Clatsop, on Tuesday, for he is a live, wide-awake official and enthusiastic good roads advocate, and just the kind of man, with sufficient backbone to push things along.

The Oregonian has been making quite a number of breaks of late, so much so that business men here are surprised at the glaring misstatements which so often appear in that journal.

High priced land in Tillamook is a good thing only for those who happen to sell at fancy prices. That is the person who has a happy smile on his face when he disposes of his farm and moves away.

Night Watchman Wilt claims that he did not censure Marshal Redding for using his "billy" on a man who was intoxicated, the effect of which, with the fall, caused the man's death.

President Taft will be known in years to come as the great trust and monopoly buster. As a sample of his determination to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law, he says "no matter how much offending combinations squealed for mercy."

paint the town red, but we do say that it is about time that a stop was put to inflicting mortal and permanent injuries to men who may happen to be found drunk in this city.

The Supreme Court rendered two decisions—one against the Standard Oil Company, ordering it to be broken up and disintegrated into parts, and the other against the American Tobacco Company.
