Are You Giving
Your Live Stock
a Fair Deal?

You like a little salt and pepper—a little mustard—a little lemon extract—a little this and that to flavor your grub. Your cow, your steer, your hog under natural conditions would have a chance to get a bite of this, a bite of that and a bite of the other thing and so get a variety in its feed. But under the unnatural condition in which you keep them, they get every day about the same sort of stuff to eat. As a natural consequence they get "off their feed." Even if they do not, their digestive organs need the tonic effect which comes from a variety of feeding stuffs.

Watkins' Stock Tonic Is a scientific preparation which not only improves the flavor of the feed you feed, but also supplies that tonic element so needed to make your live stock do their best.

There is no longer any doubt about the need of a tonic for the modern domestic animal kept under artificial conditions. You must give them something to help them digest their feed and get the greatest good from it.
Watkins' Stock Tonic supplies this need. It makes the animal relish its feed more; it aids in the digestion and assimilation of the feed, and in addition to that, it has a tonic effect upon the whole system.

Your animals need a tonic of this kind. Watkins' Stock Tonic is not a secret preparation. We tell you the actual ingredients that are used in it. You know exactly what you are buying, and pound for pound it will go farther and do more good than any other stock tonic or so called stock food ever made.

The Watkins Man will be glad to leave you a pail on trial, backed by the Watkins guarantee.

Amounts That Will Be Paid in Taxes By Counties.

As this is, or soon will be, the season of the year when our readers are called upon to pay taxes, and as this subject is always one of earnest discussion, we present below the amount the several counties will be called upon to pay as state taxes. For further comparison we give the population of the county as shown by the 1910 census as well as the county seat, which is, in most instances, the largest city in the county, thus giving our readers an opportunity to fully consider this important subject.

The analytical reader will find abundant matter for reflection in the above table. It has long been thought that Yamhill county has been carrying a heavy burden in the matter of state taxes, compared with some of her neighbors. Take, for instance, our county compared with Marion—it is almost two to one. Tillamook county also has a high per capita compared with many others. There is irregularity and disparity all along the line. We note one thing—the smaller the population the greater the per capita tax. Does this prove that the greater the population the less our taxes will become?—Telephone-Register.

TAXING UNMATURED TIMBER

Writer Believes it Should be Exempted to Aid its Conservation.

The system of taxing timber should be modified. Growing timber should not be taxed. All matured or merchantable timber should be taxed. If this plan was followed it would force the cutting of matured timber only.

Laws should be enacted designating age or size that timber should reach before it should be classed as merchantable. The State Forester should have authority to regulate the cutting of all timber in the state, public or private. The timber counties, in estimating the timber of the county for purposes of taxation, should estimate the matured timber only. The estimators doing this work should be men qualified to classify the land, designating that which should be classed as forest land, best adapted for tree culture, and that which should be classed as agricultural land.

All land suited for agricultural purposes and which will give greater returns for such purposes than for tree culture, should be so classed, and when the timber is removed settlement should be encouraged so as to get the greatest returns the soil will yield. This would be practical conservation, and would give to all the people the greatest returns the land would produce.

The greatest problem that will confront the American people in the next century, is not how to shelter the people, but how to feed and clothe the multitude.

There is no crop that the soil produces that is so terribly slaughtered, that there is so much waste in as the tree crop. There is no more reason or necessity in harvesting an un matured tree crop than there would be for the farmer to cut his wheat, corn, oats or hay before maturity. Why should all growing timber be allowed to be cut, when there is so much matured timber in our forests deteriorating? The first reason for the cutting of the young, un matured timber is accessibility. The timber that is easy of access, that will cost the least to operate (at least 80 per cent of the cost of lumber is labor) is cut.

The second reason is there is no inducement, no encouragement given for protecting the un matured timber.

Young, un matured timber should not be taxed; neither should it be allowed to be cut, but it should be protected until it has a value. Tax the matured timber only, as in any other crop produced from the soil.

A SUBSCRIBER.

TILLAMOOK IS O.K.
Former Resident Writes Letter from Rogue River.

DEAR SIR,—This morning, as I am thinking of Tillamook and my many friends there I will just write a general letter to all and ask you to publish it. Woodville is 300 miles south of Portland on the Famous Rouge River, 90 miles from the sea on the S.P.R.R., elevation 10,000 feet. This is the home of the peach and fine apple. I am told corn and water melons are also a good crop here, but in addition to all the troubles such as roads, schools, politics, church affairs, etc. they have a long string of difficulties called the irrigator ditch. All land here without water is almost worthless and water here costs more than our road tax there. So all the Tilla-mookers who would like to make a change can probably do so as many are making inquiries about the land of white clover. This is a fine country, a good people with good prospects ahead, but they have difficulties to overcome that you don't have. They have fine ground to construct roads of, but we are far ahead of them. They climb hills only to put on the break and come down again. Irrigation is the theme here, and it is very expensive, costing from $3 to $5 per acre tax annually, besides the labor to conduct the water over the land. So I take off my hat and say hurrah for Tillamook!

I am well. Am holding revival meetings here and am having success. Some are starting out to lead Christian lives. Some are renewing their vows in God. Some inquiring the way, and all seem interested.
We have two services each day.
They want me to hold two more meetings before I go North. My wife is at Kalama, Wash. She is well and I trust having a good time.

But amid all this press of gospel labor I find lots of time to think of Tillamook County and its affairs and people, and truthfully comparing Tillamook's advantages with other localities we are ahead as I see it. So let me urge you to do your best to beautify your homes and to make a united pull to build up one of the best counties in the grand old state of Oregon. Wishing all health and prosperity with happiness that comes by doing the will of our Heavenly Father.

I am as ever a common old Tilla-mooker,
C. H. WATMIRE.

PREACHER GOVE AGAIN.
On the One Horse, Independent Church.

Mark 13-10, "And the gospel must first be published among all nations."

There never was a time in the history of the world when the publishing of the gospel of the Kingdom of God could be accomplished as well as now. A modern press will print enough literature to supply every individual a copy in the known world in the least time, and our mail service is the most complete. It is a stubborn fact that the prophecies of God are to be fulfilled, and when the time comes there is always someone to fulfill them, that is, provided with the ways and means. The Christian religion originated by preaching the Kingdom of God. It is to finish by publish it. There is no partition within the Kingdom of God. It is, always has been, and ever will be a unit, filled from the four quarters of the earth. Matt. 13-50. "And they shall come from the east, and from the West, and from the north, and from the south, and shall sit down in the Kingdom of God."

We are either within or without the kingdom of God. If a subject of His kingdom, we have every reason to expect His providential care, and to enjoy the atmosphere of His kingdom and to comply with the rules and regulations that are best adapted to the welfare of the children of the kingdom. Light, love, peace and plenty, permeates every part of God's kingdom, while all that is false, oppressive, unjust and unkind are without.

No person is barred because of his or her church relation, nor does any church monopolize the way to heaven. I believe that there are members of every church who are and members who are not, children of the kingdom. God himself is the judge of who does and who does not belong to his fold and reveals the fact by the consciousness within and not by the countenance of men. The greater obstacle that confronts a person in search of the kingdom of God, is the advice of men who themselves are devoid of the light and knowledge of God's kingdom, yet assume to be teachers and preachers Mark 4-11. "Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God." It is useless for me to waste my time and energy to preach or publish the kingdom of heaven at hand except to those to whom it is given, to understand. J. C. GOVE.

Nehalem Wins Water Rights.

SALEM, OR., Jan. 22.—Deciding in favor of the City of Nehalem in its contest with H. Schollmeyer over water of Boobs Creek, to be used as a city water supply; reaching a determination as to what its final construction of the 1000 water power tax will be and starting in on its last lap toward the adjudication of water rights on North Powder Alt house, Cottonwood, Butter and Sucker Creeks, the State Board of Control is holding one of its most important sessions of the year.

Before the Board adjourns in the next few days it will complete the final adjudication of the water rights on the creeks mentioned and enter its final orders.

The Nehalem controversy has been hanging fire for some time.
On February 25, 1911, H. Schollmeyer filed an application with the State Engineer for a permit to appropriate eight second feet of the waters of Boobs Creek, in Tillamook County. He wished the water for power and domestic uses.

A. C. Anderson filed an application on March 9, 1911 for three second feet for municipal purposes for the City of Nehalem water supply.
As this is but a small creek, the two applications seemed to conflict, for the reason that the State Engi-ner believed the granting of the Schollmeyer application would menace the safety and welfare of the public by depriving Nehalem of a water supply. A hearing was had, but in the meantime Nehalem had constructed its water works.

The Board finds that there would be no doubt that the Schollmeyer application would deprive Nehalem of an adequate amount of water and even though the Schollmeyer application was prior in time, the city is believed to be entitled to the water and the recommendation, it is announced, does not prevent Schollmeyer from making further application for securing all the water he might need.
