Editorial Snap Shots.

Why not alter the proposed railroad franchise and allow it to monopolize Main street?

Keep your eye on Tillamook County—watch out for rapid developments in all parts of the county.

County politics have not commenced to simmer. Trot yourselves out, gentlemen, so that we can see the ear marks.

Notices are posted for a large amount of plank sidewalk. As it is impossible to make an up-to-date city with plank walks, withdraw the notice, gentlemen, and order in cement. It is economy to do so.

The city council surely is not aware of the strong opposition that exists to giving the railroad company a monopoly of Front street. Edge, gentlemen, edge. It is just as well to take cognizance of the rights of other people.

One gentleman at the meeting of farmers made a threat to have the county seat moved to Bay City. What good would that do? The Ports of Tillamook and Bay City have agreed to bond for $200,000 each for the improvement of the bar, so it looks like jumping from the pan into the fire to do that. Why not have it moved to Fairview?

Evidently the farmers who met at the court house on Saturday did not know what ailed them. We will briefly diagnose their case. It is the Oregon system which is chewing on them. Yet it is safe to say that every farmer there was in favor of a dual system of legislation, viz., the state legislature and what is called the people. The fact of the matter is, the people are now having to pay for it. We want to prescribe a cure for our farmer friends. Go home and kick yourselves for bringing about a system where every Tom, Dick and Harry can legislate to increase taxation and "pinch" the taxpayers a little harder every year.

Colonel Roosevelt has decided to be a candidate for the presidency, which came as a great surprise, for he made the declaration of his own accord that he would under no circumstances be a candidate for a third term. This takes the wind entirely out of the La Follette boom, leaving that gentleman stranded with his boosters deserting him in quick succession. This narrows the fight between the President and the ex-President, with the chances favorable to Taft on account of the people being opposed to a third term. It is a well known fact that Roosevelt is very popular with a large class, but a great many voters who calmly look at the situation are content to let well enough alone, for Taft has made good and give the country a progressive administration.

If ex-Senator C. W. Fulton had realized what a strong sentiment there was that favored him for U.S. senator, he would have allowed himself to become a candidate. But we have now reached that age of political civilization in Oregon when the office no longer seeks the man, but the man seeks the office, no matter how incapable he is to fill it. The fight is a three cornered one, between Bourne, Lowell and Selling. This combination should have a tendency to favor Bourne, but if it is true that the senator has lost ground in Oregon, there is some prospect of Selling landing the nomination, for he is very popular in Portland, as he has been extremely active in the up-building of that city. On the other hand, should Lowell be successful in securing a strong backing from Eastern Oregon it would be a close race. From present indications it looks as though Selling will be nominated on account of his popularity in Portland.

On Sunday the glad news reached this city from Congressman Hawley that he had succeeded in inducing the Rivers and Harbors Committee to incorporate the Tillamook bar project in the bill, with an appropriation of $100,000. This is the most important news we have received for a long time, for it is the opening wedge that will eventually turn Tillamook county into a second Grays Harbor and a bee hive of lumber industries. The timber owners are already selecting mill sites and it is safe to say that it will not be long before the United Railways will be pushing its rails into Tillamook county to obtain its share of the immense amount of lumber that will be shipped out by rail and the throngs which will visit the seaside resorts. We are glad to say, after years of persistent effort and many, many disappointments, that Tillamook County is on the eve of a great development and industrial growth, and it is a source of satisfaction to our citizens, and especially to the snap shot man, to know that the victory is at last won to open up this immensely fertile and beautiful section of Oregon, and in doing so we should all take our hats off to Congressman Hawley.

Civic Duty.

It is certain that a condition created by twenty-five years of industrial growth on the one side and civic atrophy on the other cannot be cured by any quakery, specific or cure-all legislation. The chief trouble is fear. General business is now in an unusually sound condition, but it is disturbed. It isn't greatly menaced by the amazing attitude of the Department of Justice at Washington—but it thinks it is.

The people are disturbed. They are not menaced by the mere size of corporations, but they think they are. You can't banish fear by legislation. If you legislate hurriedly you will probably increase it, and at the same time you may destroy the beneficent power of certain natural processes in which, after all, the real remedy lies.

When general business comes to realize as it will after a while, that the Sherman law means no more against it than the law against larceny means to the average upright citizen—that will be the remedy. When the people come to understand, as they will after a little, that the shameful record which lies at the door of the American Sugar Company in Brooklyn does not represent either the methods or the ideas of general business—that will be a remedy. When the prudent and law-abiding masses learn, as they will soon, that the McNamara's and the other criminals higher up who have not yet confessed do not represent either the ideas or the methods of the laboring man—that will be a remedy.

When the Supreme Court has rendered a controlling opinion which in the terms of a specific corporation tells business what it can do; when we settle another phase of State rights by holding that all business transactions between residents of different States shall be regulated by our national and not our State citizenship; when our business learns, as it will and with no further legislation, that there is a power in public opinion beyond even the power of the statutes; when men stop for breathe and ask whether they have done their duty as citizens under the contract which they made with society in the right of franchise—those will be remedies.

No faithless treasurer, innocent of theft himself, who has left his vaults open and his books unchecked, was even morally, more guilty than is the average business man who in his eager pursuit of success has abandoned his civic obligations and turned the conduct of government over to men whom he holds in contempt. Unconsciously the business man has degenerated as a citizen, first neglecting legislation himself and then hiring lawyers to tell him how he could get around laws that seemed to impede his progress.

Finally, the explosion came in the life insurance investigation of 1905. Now we have a fresh explosion every morning. Most of the remedies seem to me like mending a clock by tinkering with its hands. In our pitiful tinkering we have been obliged to make numberless things statutory crimes which are in themselves no more crimes than it is for me to address y-u. In this state we have made success a crime. What we have made crimes under the Sherman puzzle only our humorous attorney-general can tell.

In politics we must have the efficiency of business. In business we must have more of race consciousness and something of the Golden Rule. Until we make this fundamental correction we shall probably go on enacting more laws, defining new crimes, only to face the necessity each time of hiring another lawyer—Darwin P. King—ley, in Commercial News.

Taft Has Made Good.

He was designed as Oregon's choice for the Presidency in November, 1908, and nothing has occurred since that indorsement to justify his repudiation by the Republicans of Oregon.

The administration of President Taft has been in accordance with the declaration of the National convention which nominated him in 1908.

He has, with courage and consistency urged every effort and influence to carry out the provisions and pledges of the Republican platform of that year.

He has forced impartially and effectively the anti-trust law.

His administration has successfully prevented arbitrary increase in railroad freight rates.

He has encouraged and secured the conviction of violators of the law, notably in the sugar frauds against the government and in many other cases equally important.

His administration has changed the Postoffice into practically a self-sustaining branch of the government for the first time in the history of our country.

By his policy, he has preserved over 7,000,000 acres of the public lands for the use of the people, thereby preventing the exploitation of this vast public domain by speculative interests and corporations.

His successful administration of the construction of the Panama Canal has reflected glory on our nation by the speedy, industrious and honest execution of the greatest project of ancient or modern times.

His foreign policy has won the respect and admiration of the world and his advocacy of international peace has given him the first place among the great statesmen of Christendom.

Realizing the difficulties of procuring an ideal tariff, President Taft has provided a Tariff Board, having for its purpose the adjustment and recognition of inequalities of the tariff, due to changing condition of trade and manufacture, thus removing in large measure this important matter from the domain of politics. He has approved a tariff bill that represents a revision on the line of the Republican doctrine of protection to home industries and American labor, keeping steadily in view that one of the purposes of a tariff is to secure fair wages to the American working man and markets to the American farmer. He has never approved a single schedule that raised the rate of duty on a single common food product. Every increase that he approved was made on luxuries and articles other than those of ordinary use.

On the important questions involved in the relations of labor and capital, he has been just and judicial, recognizing that only in the fair treatment of both can we be a happy, united and prosperous country.

With this commendation of his administration, we appeal to the Republicans of Oregon to give to the President their undivided and earnest support for a second term.

As a word of explanation I will say that my methods and appliances are the same as those used in the best drugless schools where I obtained my diploma. The Portland School of Chiropactic which applies only to the spine and the Chicago School of Mechano Therapy, which includes all the other drugless systems, the merits of which are very well known and is nothing in common with the ordinary massage mental or magnetic healing.

The Sound Sleep of Good Health

Is not for those suffering from kidney ailments and irregularities. The prompt use of Foley Kidney Pills will dispel backache and rheumatism, heal and strengthen sore, weak and ailing kidneys, restore normal action, and with it health and strength. Mrs. M. F. Spalbury, Sterling, Ill., says: "I suffered great pain in my back and kidneys, could not sleep at night, and could not raise my hands over my head. But two bottles of Foley Kidney Pills cured me."—Chas. I. Cough Co.

This is the season of the year when mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundant reason for it as every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases that so often follow. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

Commercial Club Meets.

The regular business meeting of the Club was held Monday evening Feb. 26, 1912, Pres. Holmes presiding. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved.

Committee on sewerage reported that the matter of sewers had been taken up by the council and that action was expected soon.

The committee on new members reported that there was a feeling among Club members that the initiation fee should be reduced to $15.00 or $10.00 either permanently or for a limited time.

It was moved and seconded that the by-laws be suspended and that the initiation fee for residents of Tillamook City be fixed at $10.00 and for non residents at $5.00, for a period of four months. Motion was duly seconded and carried.

A telegram was read from Sec'y. C. C. Chapman of the Portland Com'l. Club announcing that he would arrive in Tillamook on Tuesday, Feb. 27th in company with John M. Scott of the S. P. to arrange excursion of Portland business men to this city. Members present were requested to invite every one possible to meet with these gentlemen on Tuesday.

A letter from the Irving Club of Astoria asking for the establishment of reciprocal relations was read. It was moved and seconded that the invitation of the Club to establish reciprocal relations be accepted. Motion carried.

A communication regarding the establishment of carrier delivery in towns of 1000 population and over was read. It was moved and seconded that the Sec'y be instructed to send a letter to each member of the Oregon delegation in Congress urging his support of the bill introduced to establish experimental carrier service.

It was moved and seconded that the Oregon delegation be extended the thanks of the organization for its work on securing a harbor appropriation.

A telegram from Julius L. Meyer regarding the election of a representative from this community at the selection of a building site for the Oregon building at the Panama exposition was referred to. Action was deferred by common consent until the matter could be referred to C. C. Chapman.

It was moved and seconded that a special committee of single men be appointed to assist the Committee on Reception and Entertainment, said committee to serve during good behavior and to be subject to recall. Motion carried. The following committee was appointed: Will Spalding, W. B. Gordon, R. H. Cady, Cliff Hiner, E. J. Claussen, Dr. Kerron and B. Mendenhall.

No further business appearing the meeting adjourned.

E. J. Claussen, Ass't. Sec'y.

Wants Industrial Fair.

Commercial Clubs, Local Granges, Women's Societies, school teachers, and every one interested in the industrial developments of our boys and girls are requested to co-operate.

The movement is state wide. Superintendent Alderman, has secured a special agent to make his plans known to all parts of the state.

The State Fair Association are also in line with the movement and are offering prizes for many plants to be grown by the boys and girls of the several counties of the state. Prizes are also being offered for bread making, sewing, carpentry, poultry raising etc.

The plan has been presented to a number of the schools of the county during the past three weeks and it has met with favor. Pamphlets will be distributed soon in which will be given information regarding the articles and the amount of the prizes offered by the State Fair.

The plan for the county as we have in mind at present is to hold the meeting just before that of the State Fair. To offer prizes for such articles included in the state list as grow well in this county. We also wish to broaden somewhat and offer prizes upon products adapted especially although not included in the state list of prizes. The ones belonging to the state list that this county has the best chances to excel in the growing, are celery, potatoes, onions, cabbage, sweet peas, and asters.

The boys and girls who are entering the contest may get any one to put their garden grounds in condition for planting, but the planting, hoeing, weeding, and all cultivation after the ground is ready for planting must be done by the boy or girl entering the contest.

The Parents or Guardians are to furnish written statements certifying therein that the planting and all cultivating thereafter was done by the individual pupil.

The way to grow these plants with the greatest success may be secured from any source available. Help may be gotten from experienced individuals, through the Agricultural Magazines, from the Agricultural Departments of the Oregon Agricultural College, or the United States. It is hoped that every one will avail themselves of all of these opportunities to learn the modern and scientific modes of production and the boys and girls of the state will become successful growers or producers.

Arrangements are made with the Portland Seed Companies whereby seeds may be had for one-half the regular price. Hence any one ordering for the purpose of planting for the contest may take advantage of this reduction.

I plan to visit every locality, where I have not done so recently, and explain features in detail.

We are indebted to the printers of the county for their aid in the way of carrying our messages to every home in a convenient way. As fast as any feature is decided upon as being most feasible we hope to present it to you in this way.

We hope to secure much through the teachers. Please explain the plan to your pupils and help to stimulate them to become exhibitors.

We should be thankful for suggestions from any one. Every one plan to help the boys and girls that a good and profitable time may be had this fall.

Hope to be able to give list of prizes to be offered before long. Select garden spot, get it mulched and made productive. Plan to grow several things that you may excel in some.

Look out for more information through the press.

Respectfully,
W. S. Buel,
County Superintendent.

Obituary.

"And then we think of one who in her youthful beauty died. The fair, meek blossom that grew up and faded by our side; In the cold moist earth we laid her, where the forests cast the leaf. And we wept that one so lovely, should have a life so brief; Yet not unmet it was that One, like that beloved of ours, that So gentle and so beautiful, should perish with the flowers."

Died at the home of her brother, Geo. W. Eichinger, Feb. 18th, 1912, Clara Cecelia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Eichinger, aged 29 years, 3 months and 19 days.

Clara Cecelia Eichinger was born at Scandia, Kansas, Oct. 29, 1882, and in October, 1892, moved with her parents to Tillamook County, Oregon. She graduated from Tillamook High School in June, 1904. She took up her chosen work as a teacher the following fall and continued teaching until a few months prior to her death. She proved a very successful teacher and was dearly beloved by her pupils and by all with whom she came in contact. Her nature was modest and retiring. She led a purely spotless and unselfish life and was ever ready to speak a cheery word and lend a helping hand to others.

Of Christianity she made no public show, but displayed it most in the home where her tender devotion to those she loved is beyond praise and where her death leaves a painful sense of incompleteness and loss.

In sorrow she was kind and compassionate, and her belief in God and trust in His over-ruling power formed the essence of her character.

Miss Eichinger had been an invalid for several months, but bore all patiently and without a murmur. Her last hours were calm and peaceful, and when the Master called was ready to depart from this transient abode to her celestial home on high.

The remains were laid to rest by the side of her sister in the I.O.O.F. cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her parents, two sisters and two brothers: Mrs. E. R. Sloane and J. J. Eichinger, of Randolph, Mo.; and Mrs. J. M. Harrison and Geo. W. Eichinger, of Hobsonville, Ore. "She is not dead, the child of our affection."

But gone into that school Where she no longer needs our poor protection, An 'dhrist himself doth rule." E.K.L.
