

ATTACKS THE PORT OF BAYOCEAN

Illegal Voting and Territorial Draining into other Watersheds the Cause.

The State of Oregon, upon the relation of Edward Blum, B. W. Turner, Chas. Desmond, James Holland, Andrew Brown, Frank Long, Sr., W. E. Anderson, Fred Blum, Henry Schilda and James Simmonds vs. The Port of Bayocean, a pretended quasi municipal corporation, M. J. O'Donnell, James Christensen, E. C. Lockwood and W. F. Richardson is a suit filed in the circuit court. The complaint sets out that the defendant Port is a pretended quasi municipal corporation, the same having been attempted to be organized under state law, while in truth and in fact the Port was never legally organized nor has ever at any time had any legal existence, and that the defendants now claim and do exercise authority as officers and are attempting to levy heavy taxes, and have already presumed to levy heavy taxes, to wit, the sum of 10 mills on the dollar; that the defendants, plus threaten to issue bonds to be paid by the taxation of property; that the defendants are usurping, intruding into and unlawfully exercising public offices and franchises; that defendants are exercising all the powers and authority of a Port over certain land; that the defendants are illegal and void for several reasons. First, that the election notices did not describe the territory over which the defendants are now attempting to exercise authority; second, there were imported just prior to the election by persons financially interested in the establishment of a port a large number of men into that portion of the territory in said Harnegat precinct, known as Bayocean, owned and promoted by persons who are not residents or inhabitants of Tillamook County, which men were on the day of election sworn in as legal voters, having never registered as such, and after being so imported and sworn in, the men voted in favor of the organization of the port, that the men so imported were not legal voters, and whereas, if the illegal voters had not been imported and had not voted, the election would have resulted in a majority against the organization of the port; third, that the territory attempted to have been incorporated includes territory within the watersheds of four different drainage basins, the waters of each flow into four different bays; fourth, that the commissioners appointed did not meet and organize within five days. Attorneys: T. B. Handley and S. S. Johnson are the attorneys for plaintiffs and Attorney Webster Holmes for the Port.

The Killkare Klub.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. John Harter, when the members of the Killkare Klub met for their usual study, Mrs. L. L. Baker being the leader for the afternoon. Mrs. Fred Poorman and Miss Allegra Mason were the guests of the day. After the study hour was over Mrs. Harter entertained the Klub in a very clever way with games. Mrs. L. L. Baker and Mrs. Lamar winning the prizes. A delicious luncheon was served, after which the Klub adjourned to meet with Mrs. Chester Hoskins, on March 21st.

The Shakespeare Club.

The Shakespeare Club met with Mrs. Willett last Friday and had another delightful time. After the usual business hour, a guessing game called "Pat," was played, Mrs. B. C. Lamb receiving the prize. A most delicious lunch was served in the dining room, where St. Patrick was the honored guest. The color scheme was shamrock and Irish green. Dennis and Pat were present for a short time, then blarries in form of compliments were exchanged, Mrs. Goynes receiving the one which was voted the best. Guests of the day were: Nedames Stone, Campbell, Walton, Halton, Haberlach, Poorman and Bots.

THE HADLEY CASE.

Allegations are Denied --Maud Sharp Admits Property Belongs to C. E. Hadley.

In the case of Otelia Hadley vs. C. E. Hadley et al, Maud Sharp makes answer to the complaint in which she denied the allegations; admits that C. E. Hadley is using all of the property in existence exclusively for his own benefit and claims him to be the owner thereof in his own right; admits that defendant, C. W. Talmage, administrator, fails, neglects and refuses to compel the defendant, C. E. Hadley, to make a delivery or to account for the property, and refuses to join as plaintiff in this suit; denies the truth of each and every allegation in the complaint; and for further and separate answer and defense to the complaint, says that defendant, C. E. Hadley, did not at any time enter into a partnership with C. B. Hadley and that whatever property defendant C. E. Hadley has or that is in his name is his property; that C. B. Hadley never had any interest in any of the property and is C. E. Hadley's individual property; that plaintiff has no right or capacity to bring suit and the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of suit. Attorney Ralph Duniway has been retained by C. E. Hadley.

EUGENE PRICE ENDS LIFE.

Pioneer of Tillamook County and Remarkable Character.

Eugene C. Price, an old pioneer of Tillamook county, and a remarkable character in many ways, owing to sickness and in a state of despondency, ended his life on Wednesday by taking carbolic acid. As an early settler he endured many of the hardships of the pioneers who helped to develop Tillamook County. Notwithstanding his failings, Eugene had some good traits about him, and he was better informed than most people imagined. Eugene C. Price died at his home on Wilson river, Wednesday, after an illness of two weeks.

He was born in Iowa on Dec. 16, 1844, and died at the age of 67 years, two months and 26 days. He was a native of Iowa, and in early childhood crossed the plains with his parents to California, where his boyhood days were spent in the gold mining days of California. His father was government physician in a mining district at one time. He came to Oregon in the early days, and was married to Miss Susan E. Jenkins, in Tillamook County, in 1871. They left Tillamook and for several years resided in the Yakama country, where they suffered many hardships on the account of hostile Indians; having to leave their home on some occasions and go with all the countryside to the nearest fort. A few years later they came to Tillamook again, where they have made their home ever since. He was one of the pioneers of this country and state and resided in this county when there were only trails for roads and Tillamook City was little more than a landing for small steam boats.

He had a paralytic stroke about four years ago and has been an invalid ever since, although being able to walk around until about two weeks ago, when he took to his bed. He is survived by a widow and seven children, who are: Joseph E., of Hebo, Ore.; Richard W. and Thomas E., of Tillamook; Mrs. C. R. Johnson, of Carlton, Ore.; Mrs. Ernest Knight, Mrs. E. L. Robertson and Miss Lotta, of Tillamook.

Death of J. R. Marble.

John Ray Marble, oldest son of Hiram and Emma Marble, was born in Jewell County, Kansas, August 30th, 1887, and died of peritonitis following an intestinal operation at the hospital in Tillamook, at 7 a. m., March 13th, 1912. On the 25th of October, 1909, he went to Lincoln, Nebraska, returning to Tillamook in September of 1910.

From a child, Ray has been unusually quiet and industrious, clinging with fond attachment to his home and immediate friends. Those who came to know him soon discovered the serious and reliable quality of his life. He was a member of the progressor class of the M. E. Sunday School. Among his last words were assurances of trust in Jesus as his Savior, spoken to his mother. He will be greatly missed from the home.

For more than two years he has been a sufferer from intestinal troubles. Besides his parents he leaves two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Vint, of Tillamook, and Mrs. J. H. Lovett, Portland, and three brothers, Guy, Willard Earl, and Lindley to mourn their loss. Funeral at the M. E. Church, Thursday, March 14th, interment at Oddfellows Cemetery.

EASTERN OREGON IS STRONG FOR SELLING

Candidate Has Many Friends East of Mountains.

Newspapers of That Section Advise the People to Support Selling.

Positive in the belief that a change is needed for the best interests of Oregon in the United States senate, many newspapers in Eastern Oregon have openly declared themselves for Ben Selling to succeed Senator Jonathan Bourne.

In a recent issue the La Grande Evening Observer editorially remarked:

"The announcement that Ben Selling will make the race for the senate against Jonathan Bourne is received with considerable satisfaction, for all know that Selling is a thoroughly progressive citizen and stands for all the measures that are dear to the people, having been one of the legislators who not only helped inaugurate the new form of government in this state, but also has been one of those who has constantly stood on guard to prevent repeal of any of the measures.

"Mr. Bourne is practically a non-resident of this state and is scarcely a taxpayer. He spends his entire time in the east and seldom visits the state that has honored him. By the way, Mr. Voter, have you ever seen Jonathan Bourne? What do you know about him other than to receive a letter occasionally written by a paid stenographer and signed with a rubber stamp? Can you point to anything of importance that he has done for Oregon? You know of course that he voted with Aldrich and the rich men of the east on tariff issues. You know he owns a large cotton goods manufacturing plant on the Atlantic seaboard and that he is reputed to be worth $15,000,000. You know also that his interests in Oregon are so meager that his tax is exactly $2.44 according to the Portland Journal of Sunday, Mar. 3rd.

"All of these things being true, don't you think it is time to replace him with a citizen of the state—a man who has lived over half a century in Oregon—who has property nowhere else and who stands his share of taxes and works every day in the year to build up his state?"

"Is it not time for Oregon to be for Oregon, as Bill Hanley says, and desist from sending a rich aristocrat whose interests lie in eastern states to assist in making laws for Oregon? "The people have a splendid opportunity to elect a man who will represent Oregon and the Oregon system, for Ben Selling aided materially in outlining and passing every law that gives the power of government directly to the people in this state."

"OUTLOOK" FOR SELLING

Editor H. L. St. Clair Comes Out Strong and Predicts Success. The Gresham Outlook, edited by H. L. St. Clair, one of the strong county papers of the state, has endorsed the candidacy of Ben Selling for United States senator in no unmistakable language. Here is what the Outlook editorially has to say:

"The candidacy of Ben Selling for the nomination as United States senator, to take the place occupied by Jonathan Bourne, Jr., is formally announced. Mr. Selling has been getting ready for this announcement for some time and he has been encouraged by thousands of friends. Mr. Selling is a man of practical affairs, not theories. He is a good clean Republican, not a politician. He is a thorough Oregonian and stands for the best in the Oregon system. We look for him to make a sweeping campaign and not only secure the nomination on April 19, but the election in the fall.

"Mr. Selling tells in his declaration what he will stand for and try to accomplish if elected: "If I am nominated and elected, I will, during my term of office, uphold the Oregon system; support tariff revision with justice to labor, producer and consumer; larger appropriations under continuing contracts for Oregon's rivers and harbors; local Federal land courts for speedily determining settlers' rights; administration of forest reserves in the interest of our people; return of Oregon's reclamation fund; immediate development of Alaska's resources under government control; pensions for deserving veterans; federal regulation of corporations; an elastic monetary system free from Wall street influence; graduated income tax; presidential primaries; direct election president, vice president and United States senators; free canal for American ships; parcels post; oppose special interests; ship subsidies."
