The mill company having put in a spur and built a dump for logs, arrangements have been made by A. G. Beals to receive logs in future by rail. He has bought some fine timber and the first lot of logs will be here next week. Mr. Beals expects to be shipping lumber from this city soon, as the market is good in the Willamette Valley, which will help to keep the sawmill in operation this winter.

As a result of the recent "Get Together" meeting of the Commercial Clubs of the county, the committee which had been appointed by the presidents met on Wednesday in this city, when the Tillamook, Bay City and Nehalem clubs were represented. It was decided to adopt the by-laws of the Oregon Development League and to call a meeting for September 10th for the purpose of forming a permanent organization, to be known as the Tillamook County Development League.

Mrs. E. N. Whitlaw, of Newberg, with her brother, J. Nelson and family of Dayton, have been "coasting" the past three weeks. They have been at Woods, Barview and Netarts, and have had a most enjoyable time. Mr. Nelson's family recently came from Oklahoma. He was very favorably impressed with Tillamook during his visit with Dr. Bowers, last Sunday, who the past seven years has accomplished what other doctors have said was impossible in the Whitlaw family. He has treated all but one in the family of ten including the infant grandchildren.

FLEAS, FLEAS, FLEAS!

Not Blight, Which Destroys Potato Vines.
 It is fleas which destroy the potato vines in Tillamook County, not blight. This fact was fully demonstrated to the editor on Wednesday when M. B. Moulton walked into the office with a bottle of fleas. Mr. Moulton is an horticulturist and practical orchard man of Forest Grove, and he informed us that it was fleas, not blight, which destroyed the potato vines, when he produced a bottle containing a number of fleas he had just swept off of infested potato vines. The fleas have the same agility in hopping as the ordinary flea, and by the aid of a microscope somewhat resembles it. For a number of years the common impression has prevailed that there was an early and late, blight, which destroyed the potato vine. Mr. Moulton informs us that the only way to destroy the fleas is to spray the vines and for that purpose he suggested either black juice, known as black leaf; Paris green or arsenic of lead.

NEW PARTY TO MEET.

Will Pow Wow in Tillamook City August 31.

To the Citizens of Tillamook County: A mass meeting of the citizens of Tillamook County, Oregon, irrespective of former party affiliations, will be held at the Court House of Tillamook County, in Tillamook City, Saturday, August 31st, 1912, at 1:30 p.m. of said day for the purpose of organizing the PROGRESSIVE PARTY in said county, and which party has for its candidates for President and Vice-President respectively, at the next general Election, the two great "DREADNAUGHTS," Roosevelt and Johnson. If you are in sympathy with this movement for a National Uplift, and wish to align yourself on the side of Human Rights and the Progressive Party, come to this meeting, and put your shoulder to the Wheel of Progress. This means YOU. Progressive Clubs will be organized in every Town, Precinct and Community of this noble county, and if we work together in this state and elsewhere, we can and will carry Oregon and the Country at large for "Teddy" and Johnson.

This Call is made at the request of the Oregon Progressive Club, L. M. Lepper, Secretary, Headquarters at Portland, Oregon.
 JOHN LELAND HENDERSON,
 For the New Party.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS ON A VISIT TO CITY.

Pleased with Improvements Going On and the Business on P. R. & N.

A special train arrived in this city on Tuesday, with Southern Pacific railroad officials from San Francisco and Portland, who were out on an official inspection of the P. R. & N. and for a visit to Tillamook County's metropolis. The party included W. R. Scott, general manager; Geo. W. Luce, freight traffic manager; J. S. Barlow, chief engineer, who were from San Francisco; and L. R. Fields, superintendent; F. H. Burkhalter, division engineer; J. M. Scott, general passenger agent; F. Henshaw, general freight agent, of Portland. The party made an inspection of the city and were greatly pleased with the large amount of permanent improvements which were going on. In the evening they spent about two hours at the Tillamook Commercial Club, discussing the local situation, and from what the official said they are anxious to do everything possible for the up-building of the entire county. They appeared greatly pleased with the amount of business the P. R. & N. had done and they do not think that it will be long before the travel will demand two daily trains between this city and Portland. Although the local train service between Mohler and Tillamook was only commenced on Sunday there is considerable travel, which seemed to please the officials, and as a result early next spring, a motor engine will be used. As to the new depot, this is now in the hands of those whose duty it is to look after these matters, and it will not be long before this is built.
 The railroad officials from San Francisco were surprised to find such comfortable up-to-date club rooms, and the future growth and prosperity of Tillamook City looked good to them from a railroad point of view.

Engineer is Suspended.

The Board of Inquiry convened to ascertain the cause and fix the responsibility for the derailment of Extra westbound train 2187 two and one-half miles west of Idaville, on August 4, when Engineer K. Guler and Fireman R. M. Jordan were slightly injured, has found that the derailment was due to the fact that the engineer exceeded the prescribed speed limit, and that the accident was further aggravated that the engineer was not in the proper position in the engine cab.

Owing to the fact that the engineer, K. Guler, possessed an absolutely clean record, he has not been discharged but has been suspended 60 days on the record. The board of inquiry comprised: Superintendent L. R. Fields, Master Mechanic D. M. McLaughlin, Assistant Superintendent G. C. Morris, C. I. Clough and M. F. Leach.

A SENSATIONAL AFFAIR.

G. H. Root Threatens the Life of P. J. Sharp.

A sensational affair occurred at Bay City on Monday afternoon, in which G. H. Root of Bay City, and Dr. P. J. Sharp, of this city, were the star performers. The trouble grew out of a statement made by Root's daughter that Sharp had given her whiskey at Barview on Saturday night, which Sharp alleges is not true.
 Monday morning Root came to the city and had a conversation with Deputy District Attorney G. Willett in regard to the matter and made threats against Sharp. The deputy district attorney advised Root to allow the law to take its course, and he left the city with the intention of bringing his daughter here for the purpose of being interrogated by the public prosecutor. It seems that Dr. Sharp was advised of this fact and he made preparations at once to go to Bay City for the purpose of having the girl make a statement that he had not given her whiskey on Saturday. Before doing so, he went to McNair's store and bought a revolver, and telephoned to the girl that he was coming to Bay City, and taking his legal advisor, S. S. Johnson, with him, they started about one o'clock for Bay City in an auto. On their way there Sharp gave Johnson the revolver, which was loaded with shells. Arriving there they were met on the railroad track by Root, who was carrying a shot gun, but it was not loaded, neither did he have any ammunition.
 Root accused Johnson of having a gun in his pocket and told him not to use it but to hold up his hands, which he did, and Root took it from him from his pocket. It seems that it was the intention of Root to take Sharp to his home for the purpose of hearing his daughter testify in the presence of witnesses, that he had given her whiskey, and while on their way Root threatened the life of Sharp several times, saying at one time "You're a dead man already." Fearing his life was in imminent danger, Sharp made a break and jumped into the brush, and as he did so Root called to him to stop three times, and every time he did so he fired a shot from the revolver. Root said on the witness stand that he fired in the air, but Sharp testified that one bullet struck a tree close to his head. He said he did not know if there were one or seven shots fired in his hasty retreat through the brush. Coming out somewhere near Kodak's he telephoned to the sheriff, who brought him to this city, greatly scared by the experience he had gone through. Sharp swore out a complaint against Root and the sheriff went to Bay City and arrested him, bringing him to this city, and when it was known by Sharp that Root was in the city, he again became greatly excited.

Justice Stanley set the hearing for Tuesday afternoon, when Root decided to conduct his own case. The witnesses for the prosecution were Dr. Sharp and Attorney Johnson and for the defense Alex McNair and the defendant. With few exceptions the evidence of both sides was about the same, but when Root attempted to offer evidence in the form of a statement from his daughter that Sharp had given her whiskey the prosecution objected, as Root had not placed his daughter on the stand, which the Justice sustained. During the cross-examination, Root asked Sharp whether he had given his daughter whiskey after he had extracted her teeth. He admitted doing so, as it was a practice he had followed for years when patients became faint. When asked whether he had given his daughter whiskey Saturday night, Sharp emphatically denied doing so.

As the evidence was so conclusive, even from the defendant's own statement on the stand that he had threatened the life of Dr. Sharp, there was nothing for the Justice to do but bind Root over to the grand jury, which he did.
