

Fathers:

Teach your boys and girls the value of money. Let each child have its own savings account, and cultivate an interest in seeing it grow.

There is no better way to lay the foundation for lives of thrift. A good start and an early one will have a great influence on the child's future.

This bank has a Savings Department.

CLATSOP COUNTY OFFICIALS VISIT TILLAMOOK. Advises Contract Labor on Bayocean Road—Pleased With Tillamook Roads.

County Judge E. C. Judd and Commissioners John Frye and Fred Moore, of Clatsop County, with B. S. Worsley, state fruit inspector, and F. L. Parker, of the Custom House at Astoria, paid Tillamook City a visit on Wednesday, and spent the evening at the Commercial Club.

The object of the visit of the Clatsop County officials to Tillamook County was in connection with the proposed Columbia Highway, which is to be built from Portland, through Multnomah, Columbia and Clatsop Counties to Seaside. Although the Clatsop County Court makes an annual visit to the south end of their county every year, they are advocating the building of the Columbia Highway at the same time, for they think it will be a great thing for this section of the state. While doing so the court was anxious to know whether Tillamook County was desirous of being connected with the Columbia Highway. Judge Judd pointed out that if Tillamook County did so, most all the automobile travel out of Portland over the Columbia Highway would also come through Tillamook County, which would be the most scenic route in the northwest. He is wanting Tillamook County to open up the Necarney mountain road and the Columbia Highway to come into this county by that road, as it will be one of the most beautiful spots on the entire route.

County Judge Judd informs us that Clatsop County expended $110,000 on road work last year, and that they are making a success of convict labor. They have a camp of twelve convicts at work at a rock crushing plant, and all that it costs them to crush rock is 37c. a yard. The convicts work ten hours a day and do good work. The engineer is a convict, and the men keep themselves clean, being shaved twice a week. The court employs a superintendent to look after the work at the crusher, and he sees that the convicts comply with the rules they have to abide by. The judge said that when they first employed the convicts the court went to them and told them that ten hours hard labor was expected of them, and if they would do that the court would pay them 50c. a day, instead of 25c. a day as paid in other counties where they employ convict labor. The men have taken an interest in the work and are making good, doing far more work, and at far less cost, than at the other rock crushing plants where convicts are not employed. The judge says this is a good way to handle convicts, for they are kept in working trim, and when they are discharged in the fall they will be in good shape to take work with a little money in their pockets as well. They are not paid until the end of the time they are engaged for, but the court often allows them a little out of their wages when they want to buy anything for themselves. Judge Judd strongly advised the County Court of Tillamook County to employ a gang of convicts and put them to work on the proposed Bayocean road, and he said it would be a surprise what a large amount of money it would save the taxpayers and would greatly reduce the cost of building that road. He said as the Bayocean people were now amongst the heaviest taxpayers of the county they were justly entitled to a way out and should have a road.

By putting in a convict camp on that road he felt sure that results would be a great surprise and once the county court established convict camps it would soon demonstrate that it meant a large saving to the taxpayers and better roads.

Clatsop County has done some experimenting in regard to hauling gravel. They tried an auto truck, but found it did not come up to their expectations. After Commissioner Moore made an investigation the county purchased a traction engine and a train of trucks, which is operated by only two men, with the result that they are now hauling crushed rock six miles at a cost of 50c. a yard. The outfit cost $2,500 and the judge said that Tillamook County would find it a great saving of money in road building if it had a similar outfit.

On Thursday County Judge Mason and Sheriff Crenshaw took the Clatsop County officials out on a tour of inspection of the roads in Tillamook County. They went as far

The Directors of this bank beg to announce that it is under entirely new management.

Mr. Wm. G. Tait, a capable and experienced banker, who has purchased a controlling interest, has been elected President, and assisted by the Board of Directors, will have the entire management of the bank.

Mr. Chester Holden has been elected Vice-President.

The Board of Directors is as follows: C. W. Talmage, B. C. Lamb, Wm. G. Tait, Paul Schrader and Chester Holden.

In future the bank will be conducted on a conservative basis and business entrusted to it will have efficient and prompt attention.

south as Commissioner Farmer's, and on their way back took in the Long Prairie and Wilson river roads. They were not only agreeably surprised at the good roads but the large amount of meadow lands. Judge Judd made the remark that there were no better roads in the state, with the exception of a few good roads in Multnomah county. The matter of connecting Tillamook county with the Columbia highway was a small matter, for all that was necessary to do was to complete the road around Necarney mountain. In the afternoon Judge Mason and Commissioner Farmer left with the Clatsop officials in their auto for Nehalem and tomorrow morning, with Commissioner Alley, the whole party will hike it over the Necarney mountain so as to come to some understanding between the two counties so that this county can get in on the Columbia Highway, which, it is predicted, will be one of the best out of the city of Portland.

County Judge Judd is a booster for the Columbia Highway, and he is anxious that Tillamook County should be included in it, for it is going to be one of the best highways in the State of Oregon.

The Hadley Case Settled.

On Saturday of last week litigation in connection with the estate of the late C. B. Hadley was settled out of court, the widow relinquishing all claims for the sum of $7000. This was the most important case of its kind ever instituted in Tillamook county, involving over $100,000.

Following is the agreement as filed with the County Clerk:

Know all men by these presents, that I, Otelia Hadley, of the County of Tillamook, State of Oregon, the widow of the late C. B. Hadley, deceased, for and in consideration of the sum of Seven Thousand ($7000.00) Dollars to be paid me by Clark Hadley, of the County of Multnomah, State of Oregon, receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, do hereby release and relinquish unto the said Clark Hadley all my right, title and interest in and to any and all real and personal property at this time standing and being in the name of the said C. E. Hadley, particularly any and all property of any and every character and nature which is involved directly or indirectly in that certain suit now pending in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Tillamook County, wherein I am plaintiff and said C. E. Hadley, D. J. Hadley, Maude Sharpe and C. W. Talmage, administrator of the estate of C. B. Hadley, deceased, in consideration of the foregoing, and of the sum of money paid as aforesaid, I hereby undertake to dismiss, nonsuit and discontinue the said suit, and acknowledge to have received the foregoing consideration in full settlement and satisfaction of all claims made and alleged in the said suit.

To have and to hold, unto the said C. E. Hadley, together with the appurtenances, his heirs and assigns forever.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on this 7th day of September, 1912.

For Sale.

On account of leaving for the East, I will sell my team, wagon, harness and gravel bed, at a bargain. Inquire at J. W. Maddux's office or to Wm. Essom, Tillamook.
