WHY ROOSEVELT IS LOSING GROUND.

Lifelong and loyal Republicans will not follow him out of the Republican party. The American people will not gratify the disappointed ambition of a man who, in a spirit of revenge, would wreck the Republican party because it refused him a presidential nomination.

CANVASS OF INDIANA

It Shows That the Roosevelt Movement is Now on the Decline.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—A careful canvass has been made of the Roosevelt sentiment in every county in this state. The inquiry was started by a prominent business man of this city, who was anxious to learn for himself the true condition of affairs.

KANSAS IS REPUBLICAN

Roosevelt Strength Among Voters is Decreasing Perceptibly Throughout State.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 23.—Notwithstanding the enthusiasm which has always existed in Kansas for Theodore Roosevelt, it is undeniable that his strength as a presidential candidate is decidedly waning throughout the state.

If he were the candidate of the Republican party, and if there were a chance of his election, he would, of course, sweep the state without any serious opposition. But neither of those conditions exists.

LOSING IN NEBRASKA

Progressive Party Will Die Before Election Day Comes Around.

Reports from Nebraska show that the Roosevelt sentiment is decreasing. "The Third Term party," says one letter to Director Mulvane of the western bureau of the Taft campaign, "is dwindling down to Pops."

SLIDING BACK IN NEVADA

Roosevelt Has Reached His Limit and is Rapidly Receding.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 28.—The decline of the Roosevelt movement, noticeable throughout the country, is very apparent in Nevada.

"The interest in the Bull Moose movement is crystallized in Roosevelt," says the Evening Gazette, "and that interest is waning." The Gazette further states that Roosevelt's disappointing speech in this state, the fact that he is receiving funds from George W. Perkins and is being supported only by cast-off politicians, are drag-stones about his neck.

VARIEGATED SPELLING.

Mark Twain Liked It Because it Was So Refreshing.

Writing in the Hartford Courant on "Mark Twain," Dr. Edwin F. Parker of Hartford said:

"In 1876, according to my memorandum, a notable spelling match took place at the Asylum Hill Congregational church, in which some thirty persons, under their respective captains, took part. Among these contestants were Dr. Burton, Judge Carpenter, Charles E. Perkins, Mr. Clemens, Mr. Twelchell, Charles H. Clark, General Hawley, Miss Trumbull, Miss Rytche, Miss Burbank and Miss Stone. At last there were left standing only Dr. Burton and Miss Stone, and the gallant doctor took the first opportunity to make an error and so to leave Miss Stone the winner.

"But this notable contest was preceded by a preliminary speech in which Mr. Clemens wittily criticized the supposed necessity of having any uniform and arbitrary way of spelling words. Among several amusing illustrations of his argument was one as follows: 'I have a correspondent whose letters are always a refreshment to me, there is such a breezy, unfettered originality about his orthography. He always spells Kow with a large K. Now, that is just as good as to spell it in the conventional way with a small one! It is better, for it suggests to the mind a new, grand and impressive creature.'

"Nevertheless, in the contest that ensued Mr. Clemens produced no 'superb effects of variegated spelling,' but stood up among the last five, if my record is right, only Mr. Clark, Miss Keep, Dr. Burton and Miss Stone outlasting him."

MOTION OF THE EARTH.

It May Easily Be Demonstrated by a Simple Method.

It is quite possible to prove that the earth revolves on its axis by a simple experiment and without having recourse to mathematics. Take a good sized bowl, fill it nearly full of water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street.

Sprinkle over the surface of the water a coating ofycopodium powder, a white substance which can be bought at almost any drug store. Then upon the surface of this coating of powder make with powdered charcoal a straight black line, say, an inch or two inches in length and lying north and south.

Having made this little black mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay down upon the floor a stick or some other straight object, so that it shall be exactly parallel with the mark.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours and then notice the position of the black mark with reference to the object that it was parallel with. It will be found to have shifted its direction and to have moved from east to west—that is to say, in a direction opposite to that of the movement of the earth on its axis.

The earth in simply revolving has carried the water and everything else in the bowl around with it, but the powder on the surface has been left behind a little. The line will always be found to have moved from east to west, which is good proof that everything else has moved the other way.

No More Smiling.

The new vicar was paying a visit among the patients in the local hospital. When he entered ward No. 2 he came across a pale looking young man lying in a cot, heavily swathed in bandages. There he stopped, and, after administering a few words of comfort to the unfortunate sufferer, he remarked in cheering tones:

"Never mind, my man, you'll soon be all right. Keep on smiling; that's the way of the world."

"I'll never smile again," replied the youth sadly.

"Rubbish!" ejaculated the vicar. "There ain't no rubbish about it!" exclaimed the other heatedly. "It's through smiling at another fellow's girl that I'm here now."—Pearson's Weekly.

His Eloquence.

The curate of a country parish lately preached a charity sermon, and the collection which followed amounted to £20 7s 4½d. In the vestry after the service the churchwardens counted it out and mentioned the result. "Well," said the reverend preacher, "I must have preached pretty well to get all that." "No doubt you did, sir," replied one of the churchwardens who had been collecting, "but the squirrel in a £20 note, and he's deaf."—London Mail.

Unreluctantly.

"Ralph Darnley called again last night, Bessie, didn't he? You know he's rather well off, so I hope you didn't treat him distantly," said mamma.

"Indeed I didn't, mamma. I was very much drawn to him—very much," she answered, with a blush.

A Hardship.

"They talk of hardships," said an Irish soldier as he lay down to sleep on the deck of a transport, "but, dad, this is the hardest ship I was ever in in my life!"

Health and an Umbrella.

A man's health is something like an umbrella. When once lost it is hard to get back, but when worn a little it may be recovered.

Majority Rule Amendment.

Among the thirty eight measures, which will appear on the official ballot to be voted on by the electorate of Oregon at the coming election on November 5th, will be the Majority Rule Amendment. This is an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Oregon so as to require a majority of all electors voting at any election to adopt constitutional amendment and pass initiative measures.

It scarcely admits of argument that the Initiative Law as originally intended by its sponsors, is a most worthy measure. But we find it today "working overtime" in Oregon. We find it being grossly abused and perverted—turned from the purpose for which it was originally intended, namely, to be a powerful weapon in the hands of the people with which to get important and necessary legislation after the same has been neglected or refused by the State Legislature.

After its eight years of use and abuse we find it is fast pushing the Legislature into a subordinate and secondary place. Beginning with few measures and a comparatively small official pamphlet, it has grown until today there are 38 measures to be voted upon, and an official pamphlet containing over 250 pages for the voter of Oregon to grope through in order to arrive at anything like an intelligent conclusion in regard to the proposed measures.

The Majority Rule amendment will do this by driving all ordinary measures of legislation into the Legislature where they belong and by driving the selfish and pernicious measures into oblivion where they also belong.

The Majority Rule amendment, if passed, will reduce the number of measures on the ballot to a sane basis by giving notice to all that a measure in order to stand a chance of passing must have real merit and that there must be an actual demand for the same, in which case there will be no difficulty at all in getting a majority to vote in favor of it.

Take the time and pains to look into the Majority Rule amendment and if you do, you will vote for it and preserve the initiative law for the people of Oregon.

What is there to prevent special interests from initiating measures containing jokers which if let pass, may work untold injustice to the people of Oregon? Will the electorate of Oregon take the time and the trouble to study this official pamphlet sufficiently to select the good ones and reject the bad ones? We say no, and to substantiate our claim we need only call attention to the fact that you may go forth today—less than a month before election, and consult 10 business and professional men whose business and professional training has taught them to look carefully into important matters before rendering a decision thereon, and ask them if they have looked carefully into the 38 measures proposed and if they have read the 250 pages of the official pamphlet. We make the statement without fear of successful contradiction, that at least seven out of ten will admit they have not read the pamphlet at all, and if so, have only given it a perfunctory glance. If such be the case with the man who is supposed to give these matters close attention, what can be expected of the busy mechanic and laboring man whose attention is centered in their directions and whose environment is along other lines?

Don't Buy Any Range "Unseen, Unseen"

If anyone should ask you to buy a team of horses "unsight, unseen," from a mere printed description you would think he intended to "sting" you. Now there is no more sense in buying a range "unsight, unseen" than there is in buying a team of horses—nor is it necessary. The Great Majestic is in use in almost every township in the United States west of the New England States—and it will pay you to drive an extra ten miles, if need be, to see and carefully examine the Great Majestic before investing your money in a range of any kind.

Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range

Outwears Three Ordinary Ranges. It is the only range made entirely of malleable iron and charcoal iron. Copper fire box is all copper and built like a tra table through a copper pocket stamped from one piece of copper, setting up to lift, head of water in a very few moments and is instantly moved away from the fire.
