Accounting For It.

On a vote that, according to the official returns so far, is smaller than that given Mr. Bryan in any of his three campaigns, the Democrats gained nearly all the states by plurality. The Republican party, with 3,000,000 votes, divided them into two parts nearly equal, cast them for separate electors, and by the easiest of arithmetical rules lost almost everything to a party of perhaps 6,200,000. Why did the Republican party split in this necessarily disastrous manner? Aside from the Democrats it sustained a factional assault from two directions. One was from a so-called progressive element that proposed to push its ideas inside the party. The other was a sudden third-term raid that shouldered the original insurgents aside, and after failing to get the nomination, bolted, putting up a third ticket throughout the country, in each state and locally. The Republican party, for the second time, rejected a third term movement in convention. It will be applauded in political history for fidelity, at any cost, to a vital national safeguard.

At the same time every one of the time honored principles remain unchanged. Protection was a leading issue. Both the Republican party and the third party indorsed it in their platforms. More than two-thirds of the voters of the United States are for it. It will eventually be established and stand unchallenged. Back of these facts is a condition of unrest not yet satisfactorily explained. One writer on the election says the American people are subject to periodical waves of hysteria. A former example is the free silver crusade, which no Democrat cares to mention now. Mr. Wilson himself voted for the gold standard in 1896. Muckraking magazines and other publications raved about the high cost of living and charged it on tariff duties. It is remarked that for several years it has been the fashion to "cuss everything that was a year old or a foot high." The hysterics may have calmed down some now that the Democratic party, a minority of voters, has been put into control of all departments of the government for the next two years. Is the best yet to come? It depends on what follows hysterics and develops in minority rule.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

Advertising Methods Adopted by an Enterprising House.

That Tillamook is fast becoming metropolitan in the method of advertising used by our merchants to call the buying public's attention to the many splendid values which they are offering, also that the wide-awake firm of Mason, Pennington & Company are keeping up with and just a little ahead of the times in an advertising respect is again practically demonstrated by what is perhaps the most elaborate system of advertising ever attempted by any business house in this section, namely; the giving away of the beautiful Claxton Parlor Grand Piano which is now on exhibition at their store.

The piano retails at $400.00 each, guaranteed for ten years. The principle points of superiority of this celebrated Claxton piano over any other of this class of instruments lie in the three strings in unison with overstrung bass, the splendidly pitched scale and true sounding board which gave the Claxton that rich, deep, even tone so much admired.

In a recent interview with Mr. Stillwell regarding this decided innovation in advertising, Mr. Stillwell stated: "We have been enjoying the patronage and confidence of the buyers of this community for some time now and by always trying to keep our stocks complete the saying that 'You can get it at Mason, Pennington & Co.'s' has become a household expression. In giving away this piano we are actuated by a double purpose, to show our appreciation of the patronage of our friends during the past, also to encourage new trade and to bring the many splendid values we are now offering in all lines to the attention of every buyer in this territory. The plans we are using in giving away this piano is equitable and fair to all, simply this, every person buying one dollar's worth of any thing in our store will receive a coupon good for 100 votes. The person returning to us on May 1, 1913, the largest number of votes will be given the piano absolutely free of all cost. No favors will be shown. Our reputation for 'square dealing' assures our customers of that fact."

This four hundred dollar Claxton Parlor Grand Piano is surely a present worth having and we predict a very "merry race" for votes during the next few months. Mason, Pennington & Co are surely to be congratulated upon their broad minded methods and "Trade Getter" advertising system.

The Independent Church.

There are but two to worship The one who exhaults himself and the one who humbles himself. The one who expects a reward and the one who accepts the free gift. The righteous or just, and the sinner that comes to repentance. Because I choose to go with the wind and tide, does not prevent you from mazing a desperate struggle in rowing against them, I choose to follow the line of least resistance, does not prohibit you from trying to overcome every obstacle, and going hard against the grain. "Faith without works is dead," Christ wrought for me, he paid the debt I owe. "By his stripes we are healed," I am justified by his righteousness. I am free from the law of sin and death, through his atoning blood, his fulfillment of the law, and saving grace.

A Berlin paper quotes the price of dog meat at 10 cents a pound. The American tariff is not blamed for this new article on the menu.

The Kansas women have lighted bonfires in celebration of the suffrage victory, and thrown their hats and bonnets in the flames. The milliners should join the movement en masse.

The Supreme Court decision in the bathtub trust case practically is that the tariff is not responsible for the high prices the trust has been charging. The combination was held to be in violation of the Sherman law, a statute having no connection with schedule K or any duty, specific or ad valorem.
