"WETS" WIN OUT. Carry the City by Overwhelming Majority.

Tillamook City for about a week was stirred up over the special election which was called by the temperance people to decide whether the city should remain "wet" or go "dry." The fight was forced by the temperance people, who thought that the last city election was a criterion to go by as to the sentiment of the people as to the liquor question, thinking also that this was the most favorable time to call an election. What appears to have created most excitement was a special edition of the Headlight favoring well regulated saloons in preference to the bootleg system which prevailed under local option, as well as discussing the question from a business point of view.

Some friction and criticism arose as to the action of some of the teachers in the district school inducing the smaller pupils to take part in the city election. On Monday a number of small pupils appeared on Main Street and yelled for a "dry" town, but soon as some one asked them to yell for "Tillamook wet" they did so when money was thrown on the street. The youngsters scrambled for the "wet" money on a wet street, one young American hustler scooping up $3.50. There was no more "dry" sentiment in the youngsters, for they yelled "Tillamook wet," much to the pleasure of one side and annoyance of the other.

What the "wets" figured on most was the women vote, which proved disappointing to them, for the women voted "wet" in large numbers, and this only can be accounted for because they were more heavy drinking amongst the young people under local option than under the saloon system.

Both sides made an effort to get out a full vote and 684 persons went to the polls. When the votes were counted it showed that the "wets" had an overwhelming majority, being two to one in favor of saloons. The vote stood as follows:
 Wet ..... 430
 Dry ..... 248
 Spoiled ..... 18

BAR IMPROVEMENTS. Additional Appropriations Eliminated from Bill.

We have received the following telegram from Congressman Hawley which states that all additional appropriations for the improvement of Tillamook bar have been cut out of the Rivers and Harbors bill because the conditions of the first appropriation have not been complied with. There is some prospect of getting this reinserted in the bill by the senate, provided that the Port of Bay City case is decided by the Supreme Court in time. Following is the telegram:
 Washington, D.C.,
 Jan 15th, 1913.

Hon. H. T. Botts,
 F. C. Baker, Tillamook, Ore.
 River and Harbor Committee did not include additional appropriation for Tillamook on ground that conditions prescribed in last river and harbor act have not yet been complied with and that another act will be prepared and passed next year which will take care of Tillamook. If conditions had been complied with amount would have been appropriated. I submitted all evidence of compliance sent me, but it was not sufficient. Supreme Court may pass on question relative to Bay City Port in time to get item put in Senate. House committee favorable to Tillamook and only question was about compliance with terms of act. W. C. HAWLEY.

 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Motor Trucks Are Actually Displacing Horses.

Statistics to the contrary, power-driven trucks are actually displacing thousands of horses annually. True it is that horses are still scarce and high priced for all the hundreds of thousands of automobiles and power wagons now in use, but this is owing to the fact that horses are not being raised as extensively as formerly and not because of any increased demand for horseflesh to haul wagons and carriages.
 In the city of New York there are today more than five thousand motor trucks and Chicago has more than two thousand. There is hardly a city of any size in the country where there are not huge power-driven trucks running up and down hauling loads of coal, ice, wood, newspapers, ice-cream, pianos, crushed stone, freight, beer barrels, and for delivering furniture, groceries and merchandise of all kinds.
 It costs money to keep truck horses in the city where the feed is very high and the work unusually heavy. Such horses rarely last but a few years and the wages paid to stablemen and drivers are far in advance of what they were a few years ago. Even if the power-driven trucks could not make better time and carry greater loads it is quite possible that they would show a profit over the horse-hauled vehicle.
 The reason for the displacement of the team-drawn wagon by the motor truck is that it decreases the cost of a delivery and the time required. One high grade motor truck will do the work of three or four team-hauled wagons of the same size. The motor truck is faster and surer than the team wagon. It is independent of weather extremes, indefatigable, demands no set horse for rest or feed, is free from bad temper, occupies less space on the streets, at the dock or terminal and in the stable. It does cleaner work. These facts have been demonstrated by actual comparative accounts kept for team wagon and motor trucks doing the same work.
 The fact that power trucks can handle greater burdens and travel faster is argument enough in their favor, but there is also an added feature that means much in the city. Vehicles for industrial work can be made so as to facilitate the handling of any particular kind of merchandise. For instance, some of the heavy coal trucks are so constructed that no shoveling or carrying of the fuel is required. The wagon is easily and quickly backed up to the coal hole and the throwing of a lever tilts the wagon body until the coal is all dumped into the cellar below. This is an enormous saving of labor and does away entirely with the old coal

"passers," making it possible for the driver to do the work also without leaving his seat. This new form of unloading has been adapted to many other forms of delivery wagons and a wagon load of five tons can be unloaded in less than a minute. The truck bodies are also constructed so they can be loaded from the side as well as delivering the consignment.
 Wherever battery charging service is available electric trucks have shown their superiority over the gasoline engine, because the former is free from engine troubles and ignition difficulties. The electric power is stored in batteries and while the "charge" is there anyone can drive the truck without difficulty. With the wonderful increased efficiency of the storage batteries during the past few years the biggest trucks will run for good many miles before recharging is necessary.
