

Pointed Paragraphs.

A New York miss declares that the modern young lady requires an income of at least $10,000 to maintain a suitable establishment, and no $5000 pickers need apply for a wife. It is possible this pert miss will know more when she is older.

The "apple king" of Colorado is in search of a wife 30 years old and possessing blond hair. A man who knows so well as he that the apple's skin is no indication of its quality and flavor, ought to know better than to select a wife from mere surface tinting.

Russia has abolished the last of serfdom, a remnant of which lingered in the Caucasus. It is just fifty years since the Emancipation Proclamation took effect in the United States. The Republican party was then beginning its work, and it is a youngster still.

If the parcel post should raise the cost of living to the rural population by educating them to "buy in dribs," it would show us what is at least one of the causes of the high cost in cities, for the city housekeeper buys in dribs so small they might better be called dribbles.

Senator Knox reduces the dispute with England regarding the managment of the Panama Canal to its lowest terms. In his reply to the British protest against the exemption of American coasting vessels from canal tolls the secretary removes British fears on two essential points. Our coasting vessels will not be allowed to carry their operations into foreign competitive fields, and foreign shipping will not be called on to make up, in the shape of increased rates, the tolls remitted to United States vessels. If these disclaimers fail to meet England's objections, a special commission is proposed to deal with the matters at issue. Thus the way is opened for a speedy and amicable settlement of all the points in dispute between the two countries.

Secretary Wilson is desirous of causing a division of markets established in the Department of Agriculture. This is for the purpose of aiding farmers in marketing their crops to better advantage. The record of what the department has accomplished in the matter of improving the crops and the methods of cultivation during the past three administrations in which Mr. Wilson has been at the head of the department reads almost like a fairy tale. The world has been searched for new cereals, vegetables, animals and fruits. Extensive experiments have been carried on in all the features of farming, orcharding and stock raising. Education has been the watchword. Due to the work of the department, supplemented by the various state departments and agricultural colleges, the value of farm products has more than doubled in that time, this year reaching the enormous total of $10,000,000,000.

Democratic senators at Washington have succeeded in making it plain that the appointment of Col. Goethals as governor general of the Panama Canal zone could not be confirmed. In all probability, on a square voting test in the Senate, they would be unable to muster a majority against confirmation. Public opinion would like to see confirmation in the event of such a ballot. But under the rules of the Senate and the courtesy of the Senate, it is evident that Democratic opposition to confirmation could defer action until the 4th of March. Very properly Col. Goethals announces that, having never made an effort to secure the appointment from the president, he will do nothing to influence senatorial action or become party to any effort to force action in that body. And very wisely the president says that, if there is to be partisan opposition, or opposition of any kind, to the confirmation of Col. Goethals, his name will not be sent in.

Edison is too seasoned in practical invention to encourage false expectations. The public believes that if he has not yet perfected moving pictures associated with corresponding speech, music and other sounds he has mastered the main problem, and that only some of the details are yet to be put into practical shape. The records of the phonograph and the cinematograph reel have been accomplished facts for years. It has remained to bring them together subject to some sort of clockwork that would preserve the unity of speech and motion. The popularity of moving pictures has rested largely with the public's quick understanding of pantomime. This insight on the part of mixed audiences has been striking, and accounts for the rapid rise of film shows. A good reel keeps the minds of spectators as busy as the interest is sustained, in spite of the fact that each person who watches the shadows must fill in the story by suggestion. It is by a kindred play of a reader's fancy that the mind creates pictures from the printed pages of fiction.

A young, vigorously growing state, the one honored with the name of Washington, has planned to establish this year a matrimonial bureau through which the surplus of women in the East can become better acquainted with the surplus of men in the Northwestern corner of the country, with serious intentions on both sides. It is said that substantial public sentiment there is urging the Legislature to pass the necessary law, and that many members are pledged to it. Woman suffrage has just been adopted in the state and the movement will have the authoritative backing of both sexes, as it should to be wisely proportioned. In one of the large counties an official has already brought about numerous marriages, and he has lately received from another county the names of 100 bachelor homesteaders who ask to be put on the active list. He replies that he has the address of 1500 Eastern women, chiefly factory girls, who desire to go West, marry and grow up with the country. It was among the Rockies that the first woman suffrage states were founded, and if they are also to be the pioneers in state-promoted marriage they will be responsible for another novelty in the science of government and sociology.—EX.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Some Facts About Pumpelly, Yale Football Star.

Here are few facts about Harold Pumpelly, Yale halfback, who saved his team from defeat against Princeton recently by kicking a goal from the field in the last few minutes of play. He is a New York state boy hailing from Oswego, is twenty-two years old, five feet ten inches and weighs 183 pounds. He prepared for the New Haven university at Hotchkiss school. Last year he played brilliantly on the freshman team. His kicking of field goals won many hard fought games for the "freshies." Next season he is sure of a place as halfback on the Yale eleven.

Burns May Be Made a Regular. In all probability Burns will be a regular in the Giant outfield next season. He loomed up strongly in the games he was in this year, and it was a matter of speculation why he was not used oftener. George is not twenty-two years old. He has been picking up rapidly, and another course of spring training should about fit him for a regular berth in the Giant outfield.

This was Burns' first season in fast company. Following his usual policy, McGraw gave the Utica boy plenty of time to absorb baseball knowledge. Every youngster, no matter how talented, is in need of polish which only can be attained by actual experience. This is the reason why the "Little Napoleon" puts all his rookies through a bench course in preparation for the big show, and the fans know how well it has worked.

Callahan Has Real Slugger For First. Jimmy Callahan of the Chicago White Sox seems to have picked up a prize in Boston, the young first baseman who finished the season with Chicago last fall. Borton not only handled himself well around the bag, but he was fourth among the league hitters, having an average of .371 in thirty-one games.

This record may be but a flash in the pan, though good judges of ball players see in Borton a coming star. Borton is scarcely twenty-one, well built and fast on his feet. He appears to be by far the best youngster Chicago has picked up in some years.

Change Penn Coaching System. Disatisfied with the coaching methods in vogue at the University of Pennsylvania, a number of wealthy graduates have banded together to raise a large amount of money with which to engage George Brooke to take charge of the Red and Blue football team next year. Brooke is at present coaching the Swarthmore eleven, which was one of the three minor colleges coached by Penn graduates to take the measure of Penn this season. The offer will be put up to the advisory council for action.

French Bantam Quilt Like Langford. Charles Ladoux, the French bantam who recently came over to America, can fight just as well with his left or his right leg extended. During a fight he occasionally adopts the K. O. Brown attitude.

He is called the "Little Sam Langford." He is short and has a tremendous torso, with small legs. His reach is six inches longer than his height, which is five feet one inch. He is a freak in this respect, as an ordinary man's reach is the same as his height.

Germans Rush Olympic Stadium. Work will be pushed on the new Olympic stadium at Berlin, where the Olympic games will be held in 1916. It will probably be finished in time to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the kaiser's accession, which will occur next year.

The stadium is to lie in the middle of the large Grunewald race course on the west side of Berlin. It will be about half an hour's ride by train from the center of the city.

Frenchmen Want Yankee Trainer. American coaches will be asked to help prepare the French athletes for the next Olympic games. This is the outcome of the poor performance of French athletes at Stockholm and the brilliant showing made there by the Americans. France has taken the lesson of the games to heart and is forming an organization already to get ready a representative and properly trained team for the Berlin games.

Don't Buy Any Range "Unseen, Unseen"

If anyone should ask you to buy a team of horses "unseen, unseen," you would think he intended to "sting" you. Now there is no more sense in buying a range "unseen, unseen" than there is in buying a team of horses—nor is it necessary. The Great Majestic is in use in almost every township in the United States west of the New England States—and it will pay you to drive an extra mile, if need be, to see and carefully examine the Great Majestic—the range with a reputation—built on honor—of the best materials—before investing your money in a range of any kind. You don't buy a range every day, or indeed, every year, and when you do, you want the best your money can procure—that's the

Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range

Outwears Three Ordinary Ranges. It is the only range made entirely of malleable iron and charcoal iron. Charcoal iron won't rust like steel—malleable iron can't break, and while the first cost of a Great Majestic may be more than some other ranges, it outwears three ordinary ranges. Economical—Saves Half Your Fuel. The Majestic is put together with rivets (not bolts and stove putty). The joints and seams will remain air tight forever. The oven is lined with guaranteed pure asbestos board, covered with an iron grate—your can see it. No heat escapes or cold air gets in. Takes but half the fuel used in other ranges for perfect baking. All Copper Reservoir—Against Fire Box. The reservoir is all copper and heats like a tea kettle through a copper pocket, stamped from one piece of copper, setting against left hand lining of fire box. It boils 15 gallons of water in a very few moments and is instantly moved away from the fire.
