The Tillamook Headlight.

Editorial Snap Shots.

The sheriff and his staff of tax collectors are putting in a lot of overtime.

Guess who it was, in a round-about way, that made an effort to have Carl Knudson's statement omitted from the Headlight, and who "inspired" it?

It was a little "kiddies" trick when Governor West attempted play a hide and seek game with the State legislature, which is small enough to make a monkey grin.

Everybody can help boost. If you cannot find anything else to boost tell everybody you meet that Old Bossy helped to boost the county by producing over 36,500,000 pounds of milk last year.

"Cough up!" That appears to be the slang phrase in this city just now. But the investigators don't appear to have been very successful in making anyone "cough up" anything but disgust and bitter feeling.

The steam ship line is shipping out the cheese and the railroad company is shipping in butter. This looks strange for the best dairying section of Oregon to be doing, and those who are not conversant with local conditions cannot understand it.

In a recent issue of our contemporary, Bro. Trombley says the Press is to blame because it did not oppose so much street improvements. Rats. It is for the most part real estate agents who are holding city property for speculation who objected to these improvements.

As the improvement of Tillamook bar is assured, it will not be many years before lumbering will far surpass all other industries in the county, for milling will be on a large scale as soon as the bar is improved. Then the population of this city and county will double itself in a short time.

How kind and awfully considerate. Those who started the investigation propose to exonerate the city officials if they cannot find anything against them. Wouldn't that jar you. That won't recompense respectable citizens for having their characters and business reputations besmirched.

Some of those who have been accusing city officials of graft say they would have held their whist had they been in Carl Knudson's place. Of course, as the dirty methods used are a reflection upon those who have trumped up a lot of false accusations. Carl did the proper thing when he "coughed up" what took place when he was in the sweat box, and should have "coughed up" more.

Our theory of settling the revolutions and troubles with the South American republics may not coincide with some people's ideas, but, nevertheless, we believe it is a right solution to the troubles. It is this. Whenever one of the republics get into a revolution, similar to which is now going on in Mexico, for the United States to step in and annex the country. That would be a sure cure for the revolutions and be the best thing for the people who live there.

We are informed that one of the reasons why the whey sugar factory proposition fell through was on account of the tie up on the railroad, the parties in the East, not understanding local conditions, were scared for fear that the county might become bottled up. Something like $3000 was expended in the effort to procure sufficient whey, but where the greatest mistake was made was in the report that 10c. would be paid for 100 lbs. of whey, but when it came down to making contracts a lower figure was offered. Who was responsible for circulating the report that 10c. would be paid we do not know, but it caused the dairymen to hold back. It is safe to say that the failure to start a whey sugar factory here not without some good results. This is too desirable a field to be left vacant, and will help to interest others who are in that business to come here and start a factory.

It is expected that the summer travel into Tillamook county will assume large proportions this year, which will give the beach resorts another boost and many new cottages and bungalows will be erected. The Southern Pacific was surprised at the amount of travel last summer, although it was considered a bad year on account of the cool and wet weather, which kept thousands of persons from going to the Coast. With more accommodations, the railroad will be running more excursions, so that from present outlooks there will be more people scattered over all parts of the county than in any previous year. This will all help to boost the county, with many new industries and home seekers locating here. Prospects, certainly, look bright for a busy season in Tillamook the coming summer.

One of the prominent figures in a newspaper fight, and city and county politics, in this city, have passed away. We refer to L. J. Johnson, or better known at that time as "Watchtower Johnson." The Watchtower had its little day as a newspaper in causing strife and factional feeling, but it was short lived. The Headlight survived those troubled times and now chronicles the demise of one of the moving spirits of those factional storms which are spasmodic in this city, but, fortunately, are becoming less frequent. With all due respect to our departed Bro., we would have liked to have attended the funeral, for the deceased gave the snap shot man several descriptive account when the fight was over and the husky little Headlight, the pioneer newspaper, won out in the fight. Other newspapers since then were started because of factional strife, but they fell by the wayside and soon petered out.

Having failed to comply with the government's stipulation as to local organizations putting up $100,000 for the improvement of Tillamook bar, when the present rivers and harbors bill was before the house, the matter of providing the additional $300,000 by the government was cut out. Since then the Port of Bay City has made satisfactory arrangements for $407,000 and it is now at the disposal of the government. So as to reinstate the government's appropriation an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Bourne, which was agreed to on Thursday and becomes part of the rivers and harbors bill. The amendment is as follows:

Improving Tillamook Bay and Bar, Oregon, in accordance with the report submitted in House Document Numbered Three hundred and forty-nine, Sixty-second Congress, second session, and subject to the conditions set forth in said document, $100,000; and the Secretary of War may enter into a contract or contracts for such materials and work as may be necessary to prosecute the said project, to be paid for as appropriations may from time to time be made by law, not to exceed in the aggregate $314,000, inclusive of the amounts herein and heretofore appropriated: Provided, That the sum of $407,000, being one-half of the amounts appropriated, shall be furnished for the work by local interests and no part of the appropriation herein made shall be available for expenditure into under the foregoing authorization, until the Secretary of War shall be satisfied that said local interests have made provision for furnishing the whole of said sum of $407,000 and have placed the same to his credit and subject to his order in a bank to be designated by him.

The dairy industry in Tillamook County last year showed a marked increase over the previous year, not only as to the amount of cheese manufactured but in the high price paid for the product. This was a splendid showing and was the banner year, with a record of 36,500,000 pounds of milk, 4,000,000 pounds of cheese, which sold for $650,000. It may be a number of years before the average price of butter fat will reach the high water mark of 41.3c. per pound, but every year will see an increase in the amount of cheese manufactured, for the industry has always been of the progressive order, with a marked advance over previous years. What must be relied upon in future is the quality to sustain high prices, and here is where this county took an advance step in its efforts to turn out a superior, high grade cheese. It not only establishes the reputation of Tillamook cheese, but when placed in competition with other cheese it will have a decided advantage. One of principle aims should be to increase the grade and the proper place to start this is on the dairy farms, for no matter how experienced the cheese maker may be, or precautions taken to keep the factory in a sanitary condition, it requires clean, wholesome, fresh milk to make superior cheese. A little investigation of the sanitary conditions of the dairy farms by the directors of each factory would help some. The aim of the dairymen is to deliver wholesome milk to the factories, but one careless dairymen can contaminate this with dirty, unwholesome milk. Far better cut him out altogether. However, these little matters need attending to and the proper place to make a start is in improving the sanitary condition of the farm and in the care of milk.

There must be something in Eastern men not found in those of the West and South. Else why do the Eastern women who want votes feel compelled to demonstrate a marching prowess as a means of getting them? Woman have won the right to vote in Western States without making pathetic efforts to show that they might, in a pinch, become Amazons to rise up and protect a land which, without them, would be open to the enemies. Is there a fear beyond the Alleghenies that if women are given the right to vote they will use it to force wars for men to fight, and it is the corollary of that postulate the one that women must prove her ability to fight her own wars before she can be safe with the power of provoking them?

It is plainly the fact that but for the attitude of the United States, backed by military preparedness, European warships would now be in Mexican ports, and the forces engaged in civil war would find themselves under pressure from a European concert of some kind. Action of that sort differs materially from the course pursued under the policies of this country. The nations of Europe have been territorially aggressive, and the principle of compensation is enforced in their dealings with each other and with foreign states. There are great undeveloped resources in Mexico, and Europe has been aware of it ever since the discovery of the Western world. The configuration of Mexico, its climate, productiveness, and long ocean frontage were noted early by the races foremost in commerce, and Mexico would be a European possession today, a monarchical dependency, if it were not for the powerful republic next to it on the map.

Babylon is fallen! The Nevada Senate on Tuesday, following the earlier action of the House, voted to make one year's residence in that state a prerequisite to getting a divorce there, and the governor has announced his intention to sign the bill. Reno that city of magnificent distances and alluring enchantments for all of the mismatched and incompatible souls of earth, feels now that its career is ended. That town alone made an organized opposition to the passage of the bill. A large body of its citizens, claiming that to break up the divorce colony in Reno would be to ruin the town, have lobbied in both branches of the Legislature and have importuned the governor for a veto. Last week they threatened that if the women, who are responsible for the measure, should succeed in getting it passed, they would retaliate by organizing a campaign against woman suffrage which would make its success impossible.

Mrs. S. S. S., Van Buren St., Kingston, N. Y., (full name furnished on application) had such decided benefit from using Foley's Honey & Tar Compound that she shares her good fortune with others. She writes: "Foley's Honey & Tar Compound brought my voice back to me during a severe case of bronchitis and laryngitis. Oh, how many people I have recommended it to."

Conductor S. L. Miller, Norfolk, Nebr., on Honesteel Division of C. & N. W. Ry. Co., recommends Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I have used Foley Kidney Pills with very satisfactory results and endorse their use for any one afflicted with kidney trouble. They are all right."

When Burton Holmes recently gave his celebrated travelogue on "Panama" at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, he was seriously interrupted by continual coughing of the audience. No one annoys willingly and if people with coughs, colds, hoarseness and tickling in throat would use Foley's Honey & Tar Compound, they could quickly cure their coughs and colds and avoid this annoyance.
