Editorial Snap Shots.

Honors are even. The Presbyterian, Christian and Methodist churches are each represented on the school board.

Some years ago there was a large school meeting with indications of a big school fight, but when it was over everybody went home feeling happy. We think that was the case with a large proportion of those who attended the meeting on Monday.

The snap shot man felt hot in the collar when about four of our citizens kept the school meeting waiting while they put their heads together to see who they would run for director. That was the reason, ladies and gentlemen, you were kept waiting. In Washington that kind of thing is called "insidious" lobbying.

What a blessing it would be if the few individuals who have a personal animosity one with the other would practice some of the tenets of Christianity and show a charitable disposition, or follow the practice of those who believe in Christian Science by speaking kindly and not speak ill of one another. It would then be easy for the pugnacious citizens to bury the hatchet.

In choosing Tillamook City for the annual encampment of the Oregon National Guard, the choice was between Nehalem and this city. Had the north end of the county been successful we would have gladly taken off our hat to Nehalem. It is now up to this city to make the encampment a success, so much so that the National Guard will want to come to Tillamook County next year.

Talk about uniting some of the churches, here is a little incident to show how some of our church people are antagonistic one with the other. The "insidious" lobbying, as President Wilson would have called it, which kept the school meeting waiting, showed again most conclusively that religious prejudices and church jealousies are exceedingly strong in this city, for after the little caucus was over, one of the parties came in and whispered to some of his close friends: "You know you can't elect a Presbyterian; vote for Mr. ———." But the women were there, and they elected a Presbyterian. Suppose it had been the saloon people who kept the school meeting waiting while a few held a conflagration in the hall, what would the church people have thought and said about it?

The American Lumberman has some timely advice on the boosting spirit and the booster that is as applicable in our city as anywhere else. It says that if you want to see a city grow you should remember that you are a part of it and that its growth depends as much on you as on your neighbors. Don't get the idea that the future prosperity of a city rests with a few, for it is the business of the many. Above all, don't criticize those who are building up the community and do nothing yourself. They at least have the proper spirit, and just as long as you deny them your support, just that much harder their work will be. Be a booster for your city and lend your cooperation to those who had the nerve to start first. It is never too early to start and it is never too late to begin boosting for Tillamook County and City.

We want to add our token of respect to the memory of Joseph Effenberger, who died at Nehalem on Saturday. As one of the early settlers of the north part of the county he was a factor in its development, and it is to these sturdy pioneers of Tillamook County that we owe a debt of gratitude for their grit, industry and perseverance in their efforts to open up this section, which was bottled-up for so many years. Most everybody in the county who knew him had a kindly word and a warm spot in their heart for Joseph Effenberger, and it is fitting, as we see, one after the other, these pioneers pass away, that we should express the sentiment of the citizens and speak a word of praise for the departed pioneer, whose name we hold in reverent respect and deplore his departure at a time when the Nehalem country is on the eve of a great development. To the bereaved family we add our heartfelt sympathy.

The "shake up" in this city on Monday for more competent teachers in the district school, brought about by the women of this city, was a good thing. We hope the women in other school districts will also wake up and see to it that only experienced teachers are employed, for it is just as important to have experienced teachers in the country as in the city schools. One instance was related to us where a school board employed a teacher who had not even county papers. If the women of that district had turned out on Monday and "swatted" those who were responsible for employing incompetent teachers it would have been the right and proper procedure. A little "shaking up" of school directors in country districts for more efficient teachers won't do any harm. The taxpayers are taxed heavily for education and pay big salaries to teachers. But why waste public money on poor teachers and who retard the education of children where they are employed when there are many efficient teachers to be obtained? We hope the women of every school district in the county will follow the example of the women of Tillamook City who turned out on Monday to bring about, if possible, the employment of more competent, experienced teachers.

The snap shot man believe the school meeting made a wise choice in electing Mrs. A. C. Everson school director, who is well qualified by experience and education to fill the position. Not only so, but able to go into the school and see for herself whether teachers are doing good work or not, which is a qualification rarely possessed by directors of district schools, but nevertheless essential. Another thing, Mrs. Everson is opposed to employing teachers who have not had normal training, which cannot be said of all the teachers the board recently employed. As the taxpayers have been most considerate in building new schools and allowed the directors ample funds, we take the position that to obtain the best result for so large expenditure that only experienced teachers be employed. And if we are able to judge the sentiment of those who attended, they went to the meeting to bring about a change on the board so that the schools would eventually have better and more experienced teachers. And the taxpayers have a right to demand this. We are not going to offer one word of criticism on account of some defects and lack of harmony amongst those who had to do with the school last year, what we want and will have is a better school and more experienced teachers. It was Mrs. Whitehouse who expressed this sentiment in a most pleasing manner, which insured the election of Mrs. Everson over all others and those who endeavored to defeat a competent, well qualified, good woman to fill the responsible position. Summing it all up it was a women's victory for a better school and a much higher grade of teacher.

Bro. Trombley, Democratic free trade booster, is rejoicing that cheese is selling for 15c. per pound, and then starts in to lambaste the snap shot man.

Our esteemed Bro., evidently, had another free trade duck fit in his endeavor to deceive the teat pullers of this county, who have the good horse sense to know that Tillamook cheese is still protected by the protective policy of the Republican party, and that is the reason the price remains high and will do so until the free trade policy of the Democratic party comes into force. Then, and not before, will the dairymen of this county know what free trade, with free milk and free cream, is going to do with the price of cheese. We are glad to say that Tillamook cheese is selling at a big price, and we have to thank the Republican party for it. The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it. When the free trade policy of the Democratic party supercedes the protective policy of the Republican party, will prove what effect free milk and free cream will have upon the price of cheese. We hope not, but there is every reason to believe that the price of everything raised on the farm will fall in values.

The United States has two living ex-presidents. Looking into the immediate future it is easy enough to predict the exact date when there will be three.

In the last Democratic tariff over 600 amendments were forced by the Senate. But unless the Senate hurries up President Wilson individually will break this record.

The first discovery made by democratic congressman on a currency bill is that they are unable to agree. Throughout the history of the party this situation has been the regular thing.

Statistics are sometimes considered dull, but they may have a meaning quite their own. In Germany the births exceed the deaths by 800,000, while the excess in France is only 40,000.

The Balkan allies should import some of the American "movies" which show what happens to successful bank robbers and hold-up men when they quarrel with each other about a division of the spoils.

Japan's latest note to the State Department invites further discussion of the California alien land problem. This will give the United States a temporary advantage, as Secretary Bryan is always at his best in a discussion.

It will be a surprise to Chairman Underwood if the president should agree with him on any of the most material features of the new tariff. There is a point where mercury freezes and the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee may be pushed too far.

Senator Hughes of New Jersey testified that he found a lobbyist sitting on the side of his bed when he awoke one morning recently. By the way, have any of the senators thought to look under the bed? With woman in our public life, this hiding place for lobbyists could not escape, but before her advent, under the bed is a place of darkness well worth looking into while the Washington tariff lobby hunt is on.

The invitation extended by the War Department for students of colleges and universities to attend summer military schools of the regular army has been accepted by quite a number of them, some of them from the largest universities. This shows that the military spirit is not dead among our young men, and that it would be possible to get plenty of them to educate for officers if we had a practicable system.

The resolution of the National Women's Trades Union League, that "women who belong to the leisure class through accident of birth"—and of marriage might be added—oppose woman suffrage through ignorance of the conditions of life of their less fortunate sisters, has enough of truth in it to warrant those opponents to make more of a study of industrial and social conditions surrounding women not so favored by fortune.

The army is short of engineers and can not get them from civil life, because men qualified to pass the examination can get higher pay elsewhere. In this emergency the head of the service asks for a larger detail from West Point to the Engineer Corps. In view of the tremendous engineering problems likely soon to confront the Engineer Corps in the matter of flood control, and the faint prospect of war, this seems to be a reasonable request.

Obituary Notice.

A very large funeral gathering took place at Beaver Church, Sunday, June 15th., when the friends and acquaintances paid their last earthly tribute of respect to their deceased neighbor, Elmira Wilkinson Jackson.

Elmira Wilkinson was born in Ohio in 1857, she was united in marriage to J. Freeman Jackson of Illinois in 1875, to this union were born four children, Arthur; Lillian, wife of Isaac Hiner; Mary, wife of Robert Huston; John when only five years old had passed to the Glory World. Mrs. Jackson has been a sufferer for a few years with cancer of the stomach and died at the Sanatorium at Tillamook. She told her loved ones that her peace was made with God and that love filled her heart for all mankind. Certainly no parent could leave a richer legacy than that she had gone to be with Jesus, and mother's hands beckon at the gateway for those left behind.

Rev. Dora Young, an intimate friend, officiated and preached from Job 38: 17, "Have the gates of death been opened unto thee, or hast thou seen the doors of the shadow of death?" Although quite rainy that day, the beautiful sun shone while the grave was being covered with choice flowers.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

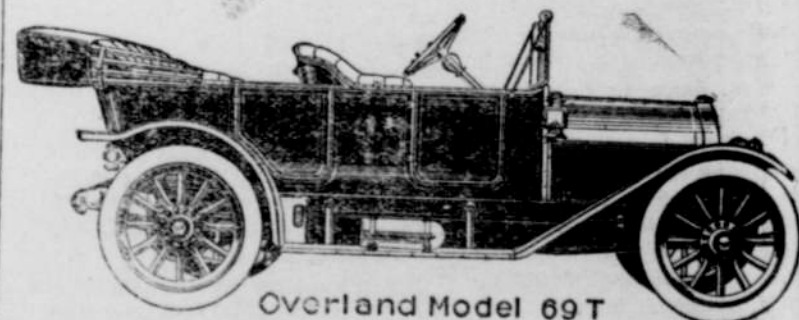

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a tea-spoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.
