Advantages of a Checking Account

III. Acquaintance at Bank.

Not the least of the advantages of having a checking account at this bank is the acquaintance which it promotes between the depositor and our officers.

This acquaintance enables our officers to get in touch with the interests of the depositor, and to lend all the co-operation consistent with conservative banking.

Our officers gladly welcome the opportunity to extend the facilities of the bank to new depositors.

CAPITAL AND SURPLUS, $80,500.

To show the increase in the parcel post business at the Tillamook post office this year, Saturday 16 sacks of parcels were sent out, Sunday 18 sacks, Tuesday 23 sacks and Wednesday 18 sacks. Last year six and seven sacks of parcels were the highest number sent out, which was before the parcel post went into effect.

The A. F. Coats Lumber Company bought Pat Smith's ten acre tract north of town and paid $3,000 for it. This property is bought for mill site purposes, and as the company already own eight acres of land on the north side of the slough, the additional acreage will give the company plenty of room to develop its business.

Henry McKinley returned to the city on Monday, bringing with him his bride, who was Miss Flora Phillips, who resided in this city for awhile, but recently returned to Cottage Grove. She graduated from the Tillamook High School last June. They were married at Cottage Grove. We wish the young couple a prosperous and happy married life.

Why be bothered with two pair of glasses. Call at Hotel Tillamook, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 29th, 30th and 31st, and let Drs. Lowe & Turner show you the new invisible bifocal with which you can see both far and near. No unsightly lines or seams to catch dirt or strain the eyes, or blister and come apart. Free demonstration. Don't fail to see them.

At a meeting of the city council on Monday night, the applications for electric light and power franchises were laid over until the next meeting of the council. Five saloon licenses were granted to W. J. Stephens, B. J. Stephens, C. F. Kuster, G. W. Coffman and E. F. Laughlin, the license fees of $4,000 being paid in city warrants. The Warren Construction Company presented a bill for $46,791.24 for the sewer system, which was continued until the next meeting of the council.

You and your children are safe if you wear Drs. Lowe & Turner's superior glasses. Eyes safe and price safe. They cost you no more than the ordinary kind usually sold, and you have the benefit of their skill, professional guidance and many years' experience as exclusive eye specialists. They do not go from house to house. Consult them at Hotel Tillamook, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 29th, 30th and 31st. They will be in Tillamook every three months. Our charge covers entire cost of examination, frames and lenses. Satisfaction guaranteed. Don't forget the day and date. Scores of references.

OCEAN WAVE TEARS A MILE OF TRACT.

Passenger Train Halts Just in Time—Elmore Park Wreck Strewn.

A mighty wall of water, greatly resembling a tidal wave, came up from the stormy Pacific Monday morning and swept the beach for more than a mile at Elmore Park, in Tillamook County, tearing rail road tracts from their beds, undermining the foundations of dwellings and leaving wreckage and ruin in its path.
 Southern Pacific train No. 20, which left Tillamook at 7 o'clock Monday morning for Portland, narrowly escaped the giant wave. It arrived on the stretch of open beach just as the angry waters reached their height. The engineer saw the track a few hundred feet ahead of him go out. He was running slowly and applied the brakes. The train came to a standstill on the edge of a shallow channel that had been cut under the tract by the tide.

Tract Hangs Suspended.
 The rails, twisted and bent out of shape, spanned the channel, the ties hanging suspended below them. A wrecking crew and section hands repaired the tracts, while passengers ambled about to take an inventory of the damage wrought on other parts of the beach.

Many small dwellings and two or three larger houses suffered severely. The water tore the sand away from under the foundations, many of which are of wood. Most of the houses on this part of the beach are used by Portland people as summer cottages. They are not intended for permanent occupancy, and are not constructed of heavy material.

Elmore Hotel Damaged.
 The Elmore Hotel, which is one of the largest buildings along the beach, was damaged considerably. This building recently has been raised about eight feet. The water tore away the steps leading from the sidewalk to the front porch and undermined the wooden foundation.

The floors of some of the houses that are built nearer to the ground were flooded.

Train No. 20 arrived in Portland about 10 o'clock Monday night, after being held about eight hours back of the damaged section of tract. By making repairs here and building temporary tracts there a way was opened for trains to pass. Traffic in both directions then was restored. A large force of men now is at work making permanent repairs.

W. D. Torrey, of Bailey & Turrey, linotype operators, was a passenger on the train.

Saved by One Minute.
 He describes the wreckage caused by tide as picturesque. The monetary loss, excepting to the railroad will not be great. Some people will be inconvenienced for a while, until they get their building foundations repaired.

"It was lucky for us," said Torrey, "that the train was not a minute earlier, or that the wave did not come up a minute later. A minute's difference and we would have been right in the path of the deluge."
 "Maybe the weight of the train would have held the tract in place, but I should have hated to have been on board."

Tides along the Tillamook coast have been abnormally high for more than a week, said Mr. Torrey. Some slight damage has been done, but nothing serious.

The railroad at Elmore Park runs near the beach, but nearly half a mile from the edge of the water at ordinary tide.

On this occasion, however, the watery wall seemed to be three or four feet higher than ordinary.

None of the passengers saw the destructive wave. The engineer and others members of the train crew saw it.

The tide was running in at the time. No repairs could be made until it started to recede.

It was Up to W. G. Dwight.

W. G. Dwight was one of those who was so much interested in keeping the tax levy down and reducing the amount of road work for next year. He acted as Man Friday for the timber men in the agitation. Now if Mr. Dwight was so concerned about the poor, over-worked tax payer, we would like to know why he didn't cut out the two mills for the Water Commission, of which he is a member. Notwithstanding that the poor tax payers are paying twice the amount for water in this city where water is so plentiful to what is paid in other cities, the poor tax payers are taxed 2 mills every year besides, and if he will take the trouble to ascertain, he will soon find that by previous city councils appropriating large amounts every year and two mills levy the amount of money the poor tax payers have had to pay besides their water rent, must come to nearly $20,000. Why not give the poor tax payers of this city a rest, Mr. Dwight, for you were very solicitous in helping the timber men save $70,808 in taxation and in curtailing road work in the county.

And another thing—we do not wish to insinuate that there is anything wrong or crooked in it—but haven't the Water Commissioners loaned money to themselves and haven't Mr. Dwight been fortunate, as a Water Commissioner, in getting some of it? Of course he has, and the poor tax payers and over taxed water users have had to put up the money for it.

With the revival of the discussion of uniform divorce laws, federal supervision of life insurance, an interstate trade commission, the granting of federal charters, federal appropriation for highways, federal primary laws, federal suffrage amendments and federal investigation of cold storage plants in the various cities, the past week's news illustrates how great is the tendency toward elimination of state lines that were once guarded with such jealousy. Without regard to traditional party policies, all sorts of bills are being introduced in Congress which would give to the Federal Government powers hitherto exercised by the states alone. The thousand and one organizations throughout the country direct their guns on Washington. The creation of new departments or bureaus under the present departments, to make investigations and devise regulations for a multitude of subjects with which the National Government has never dealt heretofore, is being persistently agitated. Every session Congress makes appropriations that a generation ago would have been resisted from one end of the country to the other as in conflict with the organic law and the whole dual system of government. That the United States is becoming a nation, "with a big N," can no longer be denied.
