Rah, rah, rah. Trains are running again.

It used to be that outsiders balked at bar bound butter. It is Tillamookers who are doing so now.

This is the year when political office seekers have to groom themselves for the primary election.

It's now up to those who espoused the Bull Moose cause to stay with the dead carcass or fall back into line with the Republican party, now acclaimed to be the most progressive of all political parties.

The change of postmasters does not mean the change of location, for the lease on the present quarters does not expire for 16 months. Then, no doubt, someone will be kind enough to offer to rent Uncle Sam a building much less than they would rent to anyone else.

Some real estate agents and sharks have grown rich and sassy "watering" dairy farms in this county. But what about the poor individuals and wives who have to slave from early morn till night to pay the unearned increment? It may be called business speculation, but to our notion it is drawing blood money from them.

The first bright, sunny day and Tillamookers forget about the abundance of rainfall that is a blessing to this county. Let her rain, is our sentiment, for that is not half as bad as 50 below zero with a strong wind or a blinding blizzard. Tillamook is all right, even if the gentle patter of a warm rain in winter time is heard quite frequently on the window pane.

Have you decided what you are going to exhibit at the next county fair? Do so at once and help make the fair a hummer. Everybody get busy and give the members of the Fair Board the time of their life hustling space for exhibit. So everybody get interested and enthusiastic, for this is to be the best and most enjoyable fair ever held in this county.

The committee of the City Council having in hand the matter of the application of a light and power franchise appears to be using good judgment in insisting upon the applicants putting up a bond that they intend to construct a plant. In these days when there are so many promoters, whose aim is to soak those foolish enough to buy stock, some precautions are necessary. The snap shot man is well aware that it will take hundreds of thousands of dollars to harness the Trask river, and those who attempt to do so will soon go broke with $40,000.

There are more ways than one in getting tied up than on a railroad. One of our citizens who was tied up with a "watered" farm and a large amount of mortgage, said the other day that it was the interest that was eating him up and he was slaving from morning till night to meet, and on top of that came heavy taxation on high priced, "watered" land. Real estate agents and sharks who are to the extent responsible for this are dot worrying about the other fellows troubles after they succeeded in getting them tied up.

The tie-up on the railroad is to be deplored, especially as it is a detriment to the business and commercial interests of the county. There is one way for the Southern Pacific to avoid this annual annoyance, and that is to extend its line from Willamina to this city. The easiest, cheapest, most practical route for a railroad into Tillamook county was ignored, and the citizens who predicted trouble when the Salmonberry survey was decided on, knew what they were talking about. There is another easy route from McMinnville by way of Blaine into this county, both of which, we predict, will, in the near future, have an electric or steam railroad.

It seems to us that an immense amount of literature is sent us from Portland and other places to advertise the Rose Carnival, automobile show and other events, as well as to boost those who are seeking public office, to be published gratis. It is time that the county newspapers balked at being made a free advertising agency of, and whenever a request to "please publish" is sent out it should be accompanied by some of the filthy lucre, for editors have to chew and pay for things they want. A large, wealthy city like Portland ought to show a more magnanimous spirit to the county newspapers when it comes to advertising shows and other events in that city, and not expect them to do so gratis.

Freddie's mouth organ said last week that the snap shot man should become a booster. Wouldn't that jar you. Who, Bro. Trombley, has written more, and advertised and boosted the county more, than the snap shot man? Years before our respected brother ever thought of coming to this county the snap shot man kept plugging away week after week boosting the county and singing its praises when it was bottled up and looked uninviting to home seekers to settle here, and with other editors getting tired and clearing out one after the other for lack of grit and staying qualities, the snap shot man grit his teeth and keep on boosting with persistent regularity. And Bro. Trombley is enjoying today some of the benefits that we with others helped to bring about.

The action of Governor West in declaring martial law at Copperfield is causing considerable discussion, and it is right that it should when a governor assumes the role of a dictator, for that is what he has done. We are inclined to think there is not a city in the State but what some trivial, paltry excuse could be found by the governor for declaring martial law, and to do so when conditions does not justify then is the act of a dictator. We have lived long enough in the world to know that spasmodic outbursts of reform rarely ever amount to anything. For the benefit of our readers we are publishing a letter on this subject by Judge T. O'Day that is interesting, and which we indorse, for the governor, to our way of thinking, is trampling on the rights of the people in a rough shod manner.

Those who have been expecting to get a whack at the mole and gopher bounty will be disappointed. The bounty tax to be paid this and next year will go to refunding the money paid out last year. As the County Court had no funds on hand to pay the bounty when the law went into effect, and being confined to 1-10th of a mill, the large number killed was a surprise, for it would have taken about $20,000 a year to pay the bounty had not the court made an order stopping payment. It appears to us, however, that in an effort to exterminate these pests, the best results are not attained by spasmodic methods, and to allow two years to intervene before a bounty is again offered. To our way of thinking, the proper way to exterminate the gophers and moles is to kill them off as quickly as possible and keep them killed off, and to accomplish that end we would suggest to the Grangers, who fathered the bill, that it be amended at the next State legislature, making the bounty 10c. instead of 25c., and give the court authority to expend $5000 annually for that purpose.

Free milk, cream and fish, free wool and free lumber, hits the principal industries and undeveloped resources of Tillamook county pretty hard. This is what our Democratic friends have done to this county. And we want Tillamookers to remember who it was that voted for and against placing Tillamook products on the Democratic free trade list. Congressman W.C. Hawley, Republican, who represents this district and Tillamook in congress, voted against placing the products of this county on the free list. Senator Geo. Chamberlain, a Democrat, non-partisan, Roosevelt Democrat, and Senator H. Lane, Democrat, both of whom represent Tillamook in the United States Senate, voted to place Tillamook's products on the free list, after attending a caucus, similar to that which the people of the county revolted against in recent elections. We want Tillamookers to remember this now that another election is at hand, for it shows most conclusively which party is the best friend of the people of this county.

The effort to make Oregon a great agricultural State is worth consideration, because there is too much idle land that should not only produce valuable crops, but would add wealth and population to the State. As Oregon have had a string of politicians for governor, men who look after their own political fences, we do not know anything that would help to make this a great agricultural State than to elect a man for governor who could give some practical advice in all parts of Oregon to bring this about. What a great incentive it would be to the agricultural interests if Oregon had a governor who could boost and advertise that industry from a practical, scientific point of view. The fame of Oregon as a great agricultural State would soon spread all over the United States, but, alas, the State is receiving bad notoriety because the governor is abusing his power in proclaiming martial law when there was no need whatever of doing so. If other parts of the State would endeavor to obtain the same notoriety for their products as Tillamook has for its cheese and Hood River for its apples, this would help, too, in making this a great agricultural State. In looking over the names of probable candidates for governor, Dr. Withycombe is mentioned, and we do not know anyone better qualified to fill the position and help make this a great agricultural state than that gentleman. He is a traveling encyclopedia when it comes to know how to make this a great agricultural state. With that kind of a slogan the Dr. should receive the support of those who are endeavoring to boost the agricultural development of Oregon.

An Illinois contractor has the delusion that he is Jack Johnson, but so long as he stays out of the ring and observes the Mann act his friends will not be alarmed.

The people who contribute only money to missions should think of the sacrifices of the parents of the 300 students who volunteered at the Kansas City convention to become missionaries.

Let us hope that the two great advocates of peace, Mr. Bryan and Mr. Bartholdt, will not injure the cause by having a row over grape juice.

Dr. Elliott would abandon the use of the word God. It would be better to cultivate more of the old Hebrew reverence for the name of the Deity.

Coin Harvey is so busy building good roads that he cannot entertain the suggestion that he become a member of the Federal Reserve Board.

Senator Bristow makes it clear that he has returned to the Republican party, and generously withholds the old excuse that the party has returned to him.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller being asked if rich men should regard their wealth as trust funds for mankind, he answered: "How else can he regard it? Heaven pity the rich man who does not regard it. For that man and his children there is no peace." That answer is, in a sense, a challenge to the contention, often levelled at the Rockefellers and Carnegies of multimilliondom, that legislation should make impossible the unequal divisions which can make a very few men benefactors of millions of almoners. It runs directly counter to Benard Shaw's recent silly pronouncement that absolute equality of income is the only solution for social unrest.

Why You Need a New Range

Some housewives who display a remarkable amount of broad, sound, common sense along other lines, persist in the delusion—and it is a delusion—that they are really practicing economy by trying to get along—to get results—out of an old, worn-out range merely to save the price of a new one.

Your old range or stove was put together with putty and stove bolts and probably you can stick a pen-knife in the seams and joints anywhere on it where the stove putty has crumbled away. When a range gets in that condition, it takes fuel enough to warm all outdoors in order to get your oven hot enough for baking—and then you run the risk of burning whatever is in the oven. You can soon burn up the price of the best range ever made in a useless waste of fuel in an old, worn-out stove or range—and that's neither practical economy nor good management.

If you would practice real economy in your household management, it will pay you, the next time you are in town, to call at our store and inquire closely into the perfect baking and remarkable fuel saving qualities of the

Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range

Outwears Three Ordinary Ranges

It is the only range made entirely of malleable iron and charcoal iron. Charcoal iron won't rust like steel—malleable iron can't break, and while the first cost of a Great Majestic may be more than some other ranges, it outwears 3 ordinary ranges.

Half The Fuel

The Majestic is put together with rivets (not bolts and stove putty) making it absolutely air tight, like an engine boiler. The joints and seams will remain air tight forever as neither expansion nor contraction can affect or open them.

Pure Asbestos Lining

In addition, it is lined with pure asbestos board, covered with an asbestos board, covered with an asbestos board, covered with an asbestos board, covered with an asbestos board.

Other Exclusive Features

It's the best range at any price, and should be in your kitchen.
