

Complaint About Assessment.

We have received a letter from Ernest Beelitz, probably written by another person, which he requested the editor to publish. As the letter indulges in personalities, threats and insinuations, we decline to publish it for the reason that it is not a fair way to discuss assessment of farm lands. The burden of Mr. Beelitz's letter is that the assessor increased the assessment on his farm $1250, which he was not aware of until he went to the tax collector to pay his taxes. He thought he was previously imposed upon and went to the county court and asked that the assessment be reduced, which it refused to do. For the information of Mr. Beelitz, the law does not require the assessor to notify taxpayers of any changes in valuation except through the Board of Equalization.

We have made an investigation to ascertain the facts in this particular instance. We find that Mr. Beelitz owns 162 acres on the Miami river. On the assessment roll of 1912 his land was assessed at $13.00 per acre, while six of his neighbors were assessed at from $18.00 to $68.00 per acre. On the 1913 assessment roll Mr. Beelitz was assessed at $20.00 per acre, while his six neighbors were assessed: One at $21, two at $31, one at $34, one at $45 and the highest at $78 per acre. Mr. Beelitz made a statement before the county court that he had refused an offer of $10,000 for his place. This he also told the editor. He also states that he has $5,000 worth of timber, and a neighbor, desirous of buying 10 acres of the bottom land for pasture, Mr. Beelitz asked $300 per acre. He informs us, notwithstanding the above facts, that the place should not be assessed for more than $3,000. His taxes last year on land were $64.13 and this year on land they are $103.26, but he fails to take into consideration that the State and County and special levies are higher than last year. As the assessor will have to assess property at its full value this year, and as Mr. Beelitz was offered $10,000 for the farm, the assessor will have to assess it at that figure, and with the same levy as this year, Mr. Beelitz's taxes will be increased to $280.00. Mr. Beelitz is in the same predicament as a large number of persons who own farms, for having listed or bought their property at high valuations, they will have to give the assessor those figures or commit perjury when they say their farms are only worth half what they have been offered for them. It seems to us that Mr. Beelitz furnished the county officials with the best kind of evidence to assess his farm for $10,000, for the only way to ascertain the value of farms is what persons are willing to pay for them and those being sold at inflated figures with notes and mortgages.

Another Crying Evil.

A crusade is being waged by Dr. T. H. McClintock of the New York Hospital against another evil that is said to be sapping the vitality of the republic. In the Medical Times the doctor, with a formidable array of statistics and scientific argument, attacks the insidious habit of chewing gum. He does not assail it on the ground that it brings an abnormal development of the muscles of the jaw or that it injures the eyes of the chewers. Such charges have been made in the past without effect. The chewing of gum has persisted until the market value of chewing gum sold each year in the United States reaches the stupendous sum of $34,000,000. This is $9,000,000 more than the federal appropriation for highways which Gov. Major insists that every representative and senator who would retain their tenure of office must support. It would build a battleship, several submarines and some tenders. But Dr. McClintock does not stress the financial aspect of the subject. He takes issue with the claim that chewing gum aids digestion. He admits that it stimulates the secretion of saliva, but argues that the saliva is not needed in digestion at the exact time when the gum is usually chewed. But chewing gum is not merely useless, in his opinion, but positively baneful, since the gum itself is purified of all impurities, which impurities are swallowed by the chewers. As soon as the gum is thoroughly purified it is thrown away, so no good has been accomplished. That there are impurities Dr. McClintock offers simple proof. He says that one may take a piece of gum, wash off the sugar and hold the piece to the sunlight and invariably see particles of dirt. He accounts for the fact by stating that the basis is chicle gum, collected in Mexico and other tropical countries. He says that the native gatherers are not overclean or extremely careful and that the sweet, sticky nature of the sap attracts and holds countless insects. While there are fairly robust people who have chewed gum from childhood their sturdy health may have been in spite of the habit. Dr. McClintock does not recommend stringent legislation to stamp out the evil, but does favor a campaign of pitiless publicity. He calls on the medical fraternity to aid in educating the masses. The fact that the chewing gum manufacturers are filing periodicals with advertising advertisements has incited his activity. The cause is one that should appeal to some enterprising New York weekly and we may soon see the country thoroughly aroused by a campaign to swat the chewing gum menace.

Re-Electing a Partisan.

(Oregonian). Say Brother Dairymen, will Senator Chamberlain have the gall to ask you to vote for him since he voted for free cattle, free milk, free cream, free fish, free lumber, etc. Get your knife ready, boys, for he slapped Tillamook County in the face when he voted to place the industries of this county on the free list, and Senator Lane did the same. It is well to mention that every Republican Senator and Congressman from Oregon has voted to protect dairymen and other agricultural industries.—Tillamook Headlight.

Lincoln Given Honor.

The Lincoln memorial celebration held in the Christian church last Thursday evening by the Woman's Relief Corps offered a pleasing program to the large number of people in attendance.

The meeting opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience. After this a number of vocal and instrumental pieces were furnished by Mrs. A. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Koch and Miss De Bar, Leland Erwin and a male quartet.

Recitations were given by Misses Alice Perry, Dollie Wingrove, Vera Rogers, Mrs. Stanley and Billie Stillwell, Mrs. Hart read "Lincoln's Gettysburg address" in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Jope delivered a very interesting address on the nations and their great heroes, landing Lincoln as one of the great heroes of our own nation. The feature of the evening were a short personal were a reminiscence given by Mr. Frank Severance, who had often seen and heard Mr. Lincoln, and the booster cards with printed program designed by Rev. Old Age.

Old age as it comes in the orderly process of nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom. That is old age as it should be, but old as it often is means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This in almost every instance is wholly unnecessary. One of Chamberlain's Tablets taken immediately after supper will improve the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels. The feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. For sale by all dealers.

Packers Rule in Meat

"Packers have so firm a grasp on retail meat dealers that the retailers fear to buy beef raised by farmers," declared Ezra Tuttle, an East-port farmer, before the New York State Agricultural Society.

His remark was occasioned by an urgent appeal from James H. Wadsworth, Jr., former speaker of the Legislature, to the small farmer to raise beef for the market.

"It requires 152 pounds of beef per capita to feed the people of this country," Wadsworth said. "The Western ranges are passing and we must find a new source of supply. The small farmer, and especially the dairyman, is the man to take up this work."

"I favor the plan," Mr. Tuttle said, "but the question will be how the small raiser can market his stock at a fair price. Dealers will not buy home-grown beef through fear that packers will later refuse them a supply."

Made My Life Worth Living

"I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me," writes Mrs. L. Dunlap, of Oak Grove, Mich. "I have suffered with pains in my back and under my shoulder blade for a number of years, also with a poor appetite and constipation. I tried all of the remedies that I heard of, and a number of doctors, but got no relief. Finally a friend told me to try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I got a bottle of them and they soon helped my stomach; by their gentle action my bowels became more regular. Today I feel like praising them to all who suffer as I did, for they have cured me and made my life worth living."
