

LIVE TILLAMOOK BOOSTERS.

Executive Board of Commercial Club Appoints Committees.

A city is known by its commercial club, progressive, growing cities have active, up-to-date clubs. A merchant that does not advertise can not sell goods and increase his business, neither can a city and county that does not advertise its commercial club, hope to grow in wealth and population. Do YOU belong to our club? Are you encouraging it by your name and efforts? It needs YOUR assistance. You say it costs too much! Only $1.50 a month. It's a roll of honor. The live ones belong or should belong, the drones, the camp followers, don't belong. Our local club has elegant quarters, its tone is moral, its officers are all working, spending time and their own money to boost and build up our city and county without a cent of salary or pay.

Our club is now taking on new life and activity. It is reaching out in every direction for more people with money to invest, advertising our bay, fisheries, beaches, farming lands, cheese, dairy, summer resorts, wonderful timber. All our varied resources, hunting factories and mills to bring us bigger payrolls. Our secretary is preparing mailing lists of farmers, dairymen, truck and vegetable raisers, berry raisers, mailing circulars, papers, personal letters throughout older states, telling the people who want to change, of our wonderful resources; 50,000 extra newspapers with our cheese records therein are being printed for this purpose. Inquiries from men with money to invest, practical farmers, are coming to our secretary by the hundreds. A stenographer has been employed and our secretary is spending his time freely to boost and send facts to all these people. Our other officers and committees are all at work. They want your moral and financial support, by joining the club. Every dollar paid in it being spent for the above purpose. The dancers pay the fiddler out of their own pockets. Come on in, help boost. Don't pull back and knock. Don't say let someone else go ahead and do the work. We will get our share anyway. Every little helps. Your name, your dollar, your kind word, will encourage and help. The club is going to do something. A series of open meetings for business are being arranged. Eminent speakers on various farm, dairy, berry, cheese, and other subjects are being arranged for. Watch us grow. Put YOUR shoulder to the wheel. Get down out of the wagon and help pull. Now, altogether, and let's put new money into circulation, new people on our thousands of fertile acres. Come up and see what's going on. A financial statement of money paid in and spent will be published once a month, so that all will know.

A BOOSTER.

VOTE FOR W. C. HAWLEY.

To the voters in the Republican district primaries on May 15, 1914, of the First Congressional District of Oregon:

My Dear Friends: I am respectfully submitting to you my candidacy for renomination as Representative in Congress. In serving you in the past, I have always remembered that the position is one of high honor and great responsibility. For the kindness of the people and their confidence in me, I am profoundly grateful. By reason of standing and experience gained here, I will, if returned diligently endeavor to serve you even more usefully and effectively. Your interests, both public and individual, will be my constant care. In this connection, I invite your attention to the statement elsewhere on this communication. They are a brief summary of a portion of my work and purposes, compiled by others. I will leave it to your judgment whether the record is creditable, and I know of no issue that can be raised to my disadvantage in the campaign. I will be glad to hear from you at any time, as I have derived much help from the wisdom of the people, to whom the government belongs and in whose interest and for whose welfare it should be conducted. They love justice and right and through the direct system can express their will. I believe, and have so voted for many years, that all citizens of mature age should have a voice in the expression of the public will. All are lovers of country and desire the welfare and prosperity of the people, and women are especially interested in social legislation affecting the home.

My public duties will keep me in Washington, I think, until after the primaries. I would enjoy going over the district again and would like to confer with you on matters of public, local, or individual concern and importance. Our mutual friendship, confidence and esteem, I highly prize. But I feel that I should remain in Washington, attending to that work here as your public servant. This may be to my disadvantage in the campaign, but I have every confidence in your sense of fairness and appreciation of devotion to duty, and I leave my interests in Oregon in your care, while I serve yours here. I sincerely appreciate the steadfast support of my friends, and all they say and do in my behalf.

With best wishes and a desire to serve you at any time, I am, Truly yours, W. C. HAWLEY.

Editorial Snap Shots.

Say, Bro. Trombley, get out of that dark, back alley, cob-web quarters of yours and get some light and sunshine into your soul.

The New York cheese market, according to the Dairy Market Reporter last week, was quoted at 13 1/4c per pound. And, thanks to Democratic free trade that prices have stumped.

Tillamook is to have a "clean up day." Why wouldn't it be a good idea also to condemn some of the old shacks and in that way get rid of them? The dirty, old, disease breeding shacks are a disgrace to a live, progressive city like Tillamook.

When the real Round Up commenced at Pendleton, it must have been when Dr. Smith, now an aspirant on the Democratic ticket for Governor was mayor of that city when it was "wide open." It must have been at that time that they first "Let 'er Buck."

The Snap Shot man has taken no part in the primary campaign, for the reason that it is the privilege of anyone to run for office. It is for the voters to say who they want for candidates on the different tickets. We shall, as usual, boost for the Republican party and the candidates on that ticket.

Local holdings of storage butter and eggs at San Francisco at this date exceed those of many years. Of butter, the amount placed in the freezers is five times what it was last year at the same time. Having gone in at a comparatively low price, this heavy supply ought to serve to shut imported butter out of the local market next fall and winter.

A stranger dropped into the office with an advertising scheme this week. Simmered down, the business men were to pay for it, the stranger to receive $40 or $50 for about a day's work and the editor was to do the work for half and what it was worth. Strange, however, it was a scheme to patronize home industry, or in other words to patronize a transit.

There never was such rejoicing in Bay City. Sam Cotton has shaken the dust from off his feet and migrated to the north end of the county, where there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth before long on account of the advent of a bag of wind into that region. The Snap Shot man extends its congratulations to Bay City on a happy deliverance of a big nuisance.

The State Highway Commission has blundered, and badly so, in deciding to apportion the State Highway funds only amongst the counties which have voted to bond, whereas counties like Tillamook, which have raised large sums of money by taxation for several years for the purpose of obtaining good roads, are to be deprived of any of the benefits of the state money. The State Highway Commission should have taken into consideration the amount of money spent on road improvements in each county per capita, and in that case Tillamook would have been assured of some of the State funds. Anyway, it is radically wrong, unjust and unwise to appropriate that money amongst the counties which have bonded. That looks like awarding counties which run into debt and depriving counties of assistance which have the good business judgment of keeping out of debt.

John F. Jelke and others associated with him in Chicago in underhand methods of dealing in oleomargarine received their sentences on the convictions recently obtained against them in the federal courts. Jelke's sentence amounted to a fine of $10,000 and a two year prison sentence. The others, who were salesmen and otherwise employed by Jelke, were fined $2,500. Jelke is an immensely wealthy man and on account of his prominence the cases have attracted unusual attention. The charge against the convicted parties was conspiracy to defraud the government. The method used was the rather familiar one of coloring oleo to customers and presenting them with a capsule containing coloring matter, explaining to the customers that by their use they could color the oleo themselves. In this way the Jelke concern escaped paying the ten-cent tax on colored oleo, but the process has been held to be a conspiracy to defraud the government out of revenue.
